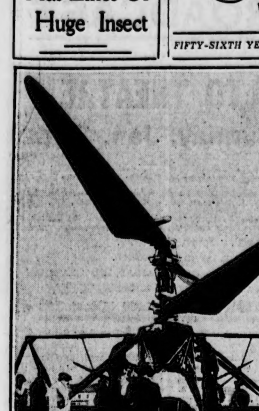
Airplane Has Lines Of Huge Insect



Built along lines more like those of a huge insect than a bird, this revolutionary type of airplane, somewhat resembling an autogiro, is shown after its first successful test flight in Paris, its backers inspecting it. It is known as the Breguet-Dorand gyroplane, operating with the aid of two enormous propeller-like wings. It already has won the closed circuit record for helicopter-type planes, thus qualifying for the prize of 1,000,000 francs, offered by the French minister of air.

She's Up For Sale For $50 Weekly Wage

Under the fictitious name of June Marshall, this attractive Brooklyn girl, 18, offers herself in marriage to any presentable man, not more than 35, who earns enough to lift her, a mother, and their grandmother, out of straitened circumstances. June is an orphan, and out of work. Her only stipulations are that the prospective groom earn at least $50 a week and, above all, must not have red hair.

Haile and Mussolini Dispute

ADDIS ABABA, Jan. 25.—The Ethiopian government late today issued a communique declaring the biggest battle of the war, northwest of Makale, had "finally ended in victory for Ethiopia with two important Italian frontz taken."

The Ethiopian communique is in direct contradiction to one issued on the same battle by the Italian government which claimed the biggest battle of the war had resulted in a complete Italian victory.

By GEORGE JORDAN
Associated Press Foreign Staff

ROME, Jan. 25.—Marshal Pietro Badoglio, commander of the Italian forces in Ethiopia, reported to his government today the recent offensive had cost him 763 soldiers dead and wounded while the Ethiopian casualties had totalled 5,000.

The army commander listed his casualties as 43 Italians and 231 natives serving in the Italian army. Just previous to the publication by the government of Badoglio's communication, authoritative sources had estimated the Italian casualties at 1,000.

4,000 PRISONERS

Four thousand native defenders were reported in the dispatches from Asmara, Eritrea, to have been taken prisoners.

The press reports supplemented official claims that the three-day battle in the mountainous Tembien sector, just west of the main northern lines at Makale, had ended in

TUESDAY MOURNING DAY

HUNGRY VILLAGE IS GIVEN BREAD

FOOD IS TAKEN TO SNOWBOUND ONTARIO VILLA

Intrepid Motorist Finally Reaches Stricken Town With Foodstuff

PORT FRANKS, Ont., Jan. 25.—Crawling the last 10 miles of the journey behind a snowplow which struggled through piles of hard-frozen snow, an automobile driven by Thomas Wilson of Avlona reached this snowbound settlement last night with 200 loaves of bread.

Although it was the first supply of bread received in the hamlet, 45 miles northeast of Sarnia on Lake Huron, since Monday, inhabitants were preparing for an even longer period of isolation.

Several of the older women of Port Franks, which has a population of 60, had started baking bread while the men folk were content, as one said, to "eat more potatoes."

It was admitted, however, that if the snowplow had not cleared the way for the supply car, which will be followed by more Saturday, the food situation might have become acute. At times the plow pushed its way through piles of hard snow eight feet deep.

The snowplow from Sarnia, followed by Wilson's car, got through to Port Franks first. Half an hour later, the plow from London came through. Just 100 men had been shovelling since Thursday on the Thedford-Port Franks road, in the vicinity of Thedford, 10 miles away.

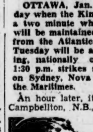
Public Holiday Will be Observed by Dominion as Funeral of Former King George is Held—Silence to Prevail

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The funeral service for the late King George V in St. George's Chapel, Windsor, Tuesday afternoon will be brief and simple. The stately cortege will reach the little chapel about 1:15 and at 1:30 two minutes' silence will be observed. This silent tribute to the late King will be made throughout the nation and in many parts of the Empire.

By THOMAS WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, Jan. 25—On the day when the King is laid to rest, a two minute whisper of silence will be maintained across Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Tuesday will be a day of mourning, nationally observed but at 1:30 p.m. strikes silence will fall on Sydney, Nova Scotia, and on the Mainland.

An hour later, it will be 1:30 at Campbellton, N.B., and westward, and the silence will descend for two minutes over Quebec, over Ontario westward to Port William.



Premier King

As another hour passes far western Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan will be hushed in memoriam, and so to western Saskatchewan, Alberta and into the mountains.

Finally as 1:30 strikes in British Columbia and up in the Yukon, the last solemn quiet will fall.

In England, in the heart of the Empire, the two minutes silence will fall at 1:30 p.m. This will be very early in the morning in British Columbia. So in Canada instead of a simultaneous hush at 1:30 Greenwich time, the silence will be observed at 1:30 p.m. local time; just as the Armistice silence is 11 o'clock local time on Remembrance Day.

PROCLAMATION STANDS

The original proclamation declaring the funeral day to be a national holiday, a day of mourning, still stands.

The cabinet Friday considered

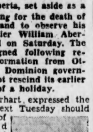
Order-in-council has been signed proclaiming Tuesday next a holiday in Alberta, set aside as a day of mourning in the death of King George and to observe his funeral. Premier William Aberhart announced on Saturday. The order was signed following receipt of information from Ottawa that the Dominion government would not rescind its earlier proclamation of a holiday.

Premier Aberhart, expressed the opinion that next Tuesday should be a day of mourning and he readily accepted a suggestion that it should, as he felt residents as a whole desired to pay homage to the late monarch.



Premier Aberhart

The holiday is proclaimed under terms of the Interpretation Act, which places it in the same category as Dominion day, Christmas, New Year's day and other national holidays.

This will mean a general closing-up of business and other establishments. It is expected that a more general enforcement of provisions of the act will be carried out in view of the sad occasion bringing about the holiday.

SIGNS APPEAR

Already city merchants are preparing for the observance and on Friday night signs appeared in the windows of some paper avenue stores notifying the public of Tuesday's closing.

The main observance here will be the memorial service at the Prince of Wales armory at 11 a.m. on Tuesday with representative clerical and municipal dignitaries in attendance.

All city churches are devoting a large part of their Sunday services

Six U. S. Fliers Die As Bombers Crash In Mid-Air At Honolulu

6 JUDGES ARE TOLD TO KEEP EYES PEELED

Newton W. Rowell Argues Laws Before Supreme Court Friday

HONOLULU, Jan. 25—Six United States army fliers were killed last night when two big bombing planes collided 1,000 feet over Luke Field and plunged to the ground in flames. The victims of one of Hawaii's worst aviation disasters comprised one officer and five enlisted men. Army authorities named them as:

LIEUT. WILLIAM G. BEARD, San Francisco.

STAFF SERGT. BERNARD F. JABLONOWSKY.

PRIVATES JOHN B. HARTMAN, Chicago; BRUCE TAYLOR; GARDNER, and GORDON M. PARKHURST.

Further identification or home addresses of the victims was not immediately available.

TWO OTHERS ESCAPE

Two others aboard the planes escaped the shattering crash by bailing out in parachutes. They are Air Reserve Lieut. Charles E. Fisher of Asheville, N.C., and Private Lanigan.

Lieutenant Fisher twice escaped death. He barely managed to leap clear when the planes crashed. Then his parachute did not open. He plummeted toward earth, his fall unchecked. Scarcely 100 feet above the ground his chute caught on a rope extending from an oil tank to the ground and left him dangling a few yards above the field. He was unhurt except for a bruised leg and a few cuts but was suffering from shock.

Private Lanigan suffered lacerations and bruises. He and Lieutenant Fisher were the only ones able to bail out.

The planes came together with a roar heard virtually all over Honolulu, several miles away, and the glare of the burning ships was visible along famous Waikiki beach which is 10 miles from Luke field on Ford Island.

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—Loans to provinces under the Relief Act orders in council, published last night in the Canada Gazette, follow:

MANCHUS GET RUSS WARNING

MOSCOW, Jan. 25.—A warning Manchukuo would be held fully responsible for eventual consequences unless border forays into outer Mongolia were stopped has been dispatched to the Hsinking government, Tass, the official Soviet News Agency, announced here.

The warning was contained in a note of protest against a reported attack on Mongolian border guards by Manchukuoan troops on Mongol near Lake Kraranur last Wednesday, the news agency said.

Two were killed in the skirmish, it was said.

WHOLE FAMILY DIES IN CRASH

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Jan. 25.—Four-year-old Phyllis McBride died today of injuries received yesterday in the train-automobile crash in which 10 other members of the McBride family were killed.

The accident killed the entire family of Marion McBride, 43-year-old farmer and relief worker, as they returned to their little one-room home near Grabill after attending the funeral here of Mrs. McBride's brother, William Conner.

One hundred and fifty feet from Mrs. McBride's mangled form was found the body of a still-born baby.

PARLIAMENT TO OPEN ON FEB. 6

By THOMAS WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, Jan. 25. — Parliament will open on the morning of February 6 Prime Minister King announced Friday, the hour being noon. The only business transacted will be the election of the speaker. Then when the both houses meet on February 7, resolutions will be passed respecting the loss of the King, of sympathy with King Edward VIII and with Queen Mary, his moiher. On the following Monday the address in reply to the throne speech will be debated.

RAILMAN, 98, KEEPS SON 66 FROM RELIEF

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 25—"Soda Ash Johnny" Horan, 98, vowed as long as he could work "no boy of mine is going on the county," and his son's name was removed from the list of county pension applicants today.

Horan, who celebrated his 98th birthday Thursday on the job at the Milwaukee railroad shops, is the oldest active rail worker in the United States.

His boy, William H., who is 66, had applied for an old age pension, but the plea was dismissed in court when the older Horan and a nephew arranged to contribute toward his support.

The father was nicknamed "Soda Ash" after he introduced that chemical in the washing of locomotive boilers.

YARD PROBES GANG MURDER

ST. ALBANS, Hertfordshire, England, Jan. 25—Scotland Yard was called in to investigate last night what police said they believed was Britain's first murder along gangster lines, in which the victim was apparently "taken for a ride" in an automobile and his body dumped on a roadside.

The bullet-riddled body of an unknown elderly man was discovered by a hedge on the outskirts of this town, with no weapon nearby.

All clues to his identity were stripped from the body, and police said the face was distorted with fear. They declared they were working on the theory that the crime was the work of a racecourse gang.

Bulletin Will Not Publish on Tuesday

No regular editions of The Bulletin will be published on Tuesday, January 28, the day of the funeral of the late King George V., and a day of national mourning.

With federal, provincial and civic authorities proclaiming that day a public holiday, The Bulletin will bow its head in mourning with other businesses throughout the dominion out of respect for the beloved British monarch.

Advertisers are kindly requested to have their copy in The Bulletin office as early as possible for Wednesday's edition.

FIRE TESTS SUCCESSFUL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—Fires set in a stateroom on the S.S. Nantasket as tests of safety were reported by the commerce department Friday to have made no headway against the blaze-resistant materials with which the room was equipped.

The Nantasket, lying off Fort Eustis, Va., has been especially prepared by the commerce department to demonstrate how ships can be built and equipped to reduce the dangers of fire at sea.

Fires in one stateroom were set from a cigarette on a mattress, from kerosene-soaked clothing and bunkings, and finally from piles of kindling. None of them penetrated outside the room, the department said.

LIE DETECTOR TO TEST BRUNO

TRENTON, N.J., Jan. 25—Gov. Harold G. Hoffman has invited Bruno Richard Hauptmann's prosecutors and defence counsel today to agree on a lie detector test.

Such a test of the condemned kidnap slayer of the Lindbergh baby, the governor said, might bring answers to some of the puzzling phases of the case.

C. Lloyd Fisher, chief defense counsel, said he would not consent to the test unless it was conducted by the "best authority."

NAPLES, Jan. 25.—The S. S. Principessa Giovanna sailed for Africa Friday with 1,425 troops. Among them was Gennario Mochi, a nephew of Premier Mussolini.

ATTEMPT MADE MUZZLE PRESS AT CITY HALL

Ald. Chas. Gould, Social Credit, Would Restrict Newspapermen

Making an effort so "muzzle the press," Ald. Charles Gould, Social Credit councillor, submitted a notice of motion at city council's special meeting Friday night to the effect that departmental superintendents and civic employees be forbidden to supply newspapermen with news of public business, and that information of this nature be released by the commission board alone.

The alderman also proposed that failure to obey such an order be regarded as a reason for dismissal in the case of those violating instructions.

NOT DISCUSSED

As the proposal was placed before council in the form of a notice of motion, it was not discussed Friday night but will be considered by the aldermanic board in the near future. The suggestion naturally has a direct effect until action is taken by council.

WOULD INTERFERE

If a regulation of this kind were put into effect it would interfere seriously with news gathering at the Civic block. Under the prevailing system at city hall, the majority of the news is received from Mayor Jos. A. Clarke, K.C., who is officially in charge of publicity. Routine reports are also received from Commissioner David Mitchell and Commissioner Robert J. Gibb, the other two commissioners.

In the past, departmental superintendents have been allowed to give out information in connection with the ordinary business of their respective branches, but employees have never been given the privilege of supplying news to the press.

Lawyers Fight Duel: Honor Is Satisfied: Quit

PARIS, Jan. 25. — Two Parisian lawyers turned their backs on the law courts today to settle a difference of opinion—details undisclosed.

At dawn, hours before they would have had to go to their law offices, they met in the "field of honor" in a duel.

The elderly attorney Marcel Mouraud, experienced swordsman, fenced with his youthful opponent, Attorney Yvon Lebras, a full minute, then wounded Lebris slightly in the right arm.

The red-haired Lebris retreated constantly before the attack of the older lawyer. As he received the thrust that wounded him, his glasses fell off.

They left the dueling ground unreconciled.

Boy, 10 Years Old, Frozen To Death

HAMILTON, Ont. Jan. 25.—The 10-year-old son of Herman Lester of Woodburn, a mile and a half south-east of here, was found frozen to death in a snowdrift last night, according to word reaching here.

Strike Ordered

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—A city wide strike, February 1 of building service employees was ordered Friday by union leaders as elevators remained idle and rooms unheated in a third day in buildings in mid-Manhattan, the Bronx and Harlem.

NEGRO IS SHOT AFTER BATTLE WITH OFFICERS

Defendant in Scottsboro Case Slashes Deputy Sheriff With Knife

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 25.—One of nine negroes fighting to escape death sentences in the five-year-old Scottsboro attack case was shot in an encounter with officers late Friday.

The shooting followed an alleged attack by the negro, Ozie Powell, upon one of the officers returning the nine defendants here from the scene of their reopened trials at Decatur.

SLASHED ACROSS NECK

Deputy Sheriff Edgar Bialock was slashed across the neck with a knife, allegedly by Powell. The officer later was released from a hospital after the wound had been closed.

Powell was shot in the head but his condition was regarded as not critical.

Governor Bibb Graves immediately ordered authorities here to take all steps necessary to protect the negroes and said he was sending state highway patrolmen to augment the sheriff's forces.

PRISONERS TRANSFERRED

The incident occurred near Cullman, Ala., as the prisoners were being transferred to the Jefferson county jail in Birmingham following postponement of the trial of Clarence Norris, second of the negroes to face re-trial under a Supreme court order.

The first to be tried, Heywood Patterson, was convicted and sentenced to 75 years imprisonment Thursday. Previously he had been sentenced to death three times, but won reversals.

The negroes had been taken to Decatur for retrial on charges of attacking two white women, Mrs. Victoria Price and Ruby Bates, aboard a freight train near Scottsboro, Ala., in March, 1931. They were ordered returned here after the trial of Norris was postponed because of the illness of a witness.

HE BEATS A MURDER RAP

In custody of police for nearly two years, Alwynn Thompson of Toronto is here seen leaving police court a free man after being acquitted on the charge of having murdered his wife. Thompson first served six months for perjury arising out of the case. He was later arrested on murder charge in Toronto's "lilac bush" murder. First jury disagreed.

Vaughan Elected Amps' President

C. H. Vaughan, active in the councils of the organization for many years, was elected 1936 president of the Amputation Association of the Great War at a meeting held in Memorial Hall.

Other officers elected were: first vice-president, E. J. Scammell; second vice-president, H. E. Pauls; secretary-treasurer, T. G. Myles; executive committee, L. B. Griffith, L. S. Hitchcock, H. Bishop, W. E. Davies, W. Howard and W. S. Ross, who is past president of the association.

Out of respect for His late Majesty, King George V., members observed silence at the opening of the general meeting.

Tiny Puck-Chasers Honor King George

The little fellows who scurry about on the neighborhood hockey rinks, filled with dreams of careers in the "big-time", will pay their tribute to His late Majesty, King George V.

Officials in charge of the Sand Lot League announced Saturday that the young puck-chasers have called off all sand-lot games scheduled for Tuesday, date set for the royal funeral.

Attack Aged Man

INSTANTLY YOU CATCH COLD
DO THESE 2 THINGS

1. Take two "Aspirin" Tablets. Make sure you get "Aspirin."
2. Drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 3 hours.

Instead of using fancy priced "cold remedies" try the nowadays cold treatment pictured here. Your own doctor will approve it. It will start easing the average cold or sore throat almost as fast as you caught it.

The "Aspirin" you take will start combating your cold internally at once; if throat is sore, crush and stir 3 "Aspirin" Tablets in a third of a glass of water; gargle twice. Do not rinse mouth.

"Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

the King's wish for the United Kingdom, but after deep consideration it was decided that Canada would continue her original plan.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King pointed out that many establishments in Britain closed the day the King's body was borne to London and many would close voluntarily on Tuesday.

In Canada the reservation of one day as a day of mourning would be regarded as an expression of deep sympathy on the part of the people of Canada, and the government felt that Canadians generally would wish this to be done.

PURPLE DRAPINGS

As the British people had decided definitely not to drape their public buildings, such draping would only be carried out in Canada with respect to the government buildings on Parliament Hill. This would not affect the desire of any firm or individual to drape their buildings or homes.

The arches of the Tower of Peace and Victory have been draped with purple, as well as the Governor-General's portico at the east block, and the entrance to the west block.

ALLOW ENTRY RACING FORM

VANCOUVER, Jan. 23.—Alfred E. Hardy was granted an injunction by Justice Denis Murphy in supreme court Friday against A. J. Hopgood, Vancouver customs officer, enjoining the latter from interfering with the importation by the plaintiff of Pacific daily racing form, published in San Francisco.

G. L. Fraser, counsel for Hardy, told the court the publication was of assistance to owners and breeders of horses and, in support of his contention, read an affidavit from Austin C. Taylor, whose stud farm is located at Langley Prairie.

The affidavit stated the racing form supplied Taylor with information regarding pedigrees and past performances of horses, and without it importation of expensive brood mares and stallions would be retarded if not ceased entirely.

ITALY CLAIMS MAJOR VICTORY IN NORTH AREA

an absolute Italian triumph over strong Ethiopian forces under Ras Kasa.

FRESH DETAILS

Fresh details of the southern drive indicated the Fascists had occupied all vital points of the southern Ethiopian Ganu Doreana sector as far as 250 miles northwest of Dolo, starting point of the attack.

Premier Mussolini, openly manifesting an intention to press on with the campaign of conquest, left 1,423 Fascist Blackshirts from several divisions to Africa aboard the Principessa Giovanna.

Selassie Forces Claim Key Points

By ALBERT W. WILSON
Associated Press Foreign Staff

ADDIS ABABA, Jan. 25.—The Ethiopian government reported today Makale, key point of the Italian lines on the northern front, was encircled by Ethiopians and that two Fascist columns trying to rescue the garrison, were wiped out.

Government officials said fighting continued with the Italian garrison at Makale, forward point of the front established by the Fascists early in the 3½ months campaign, cut off from its base in Eritrea.

The government said Italian reinforcements coming in from the north after the Ethiopians succeeded in surrounding Makale, were met by two armies sent by Ras Kassa and Ras Seyoum, just northwest of the city.

It was stated the Italians were wiped out after a long battle.

Those that escaped were pursued by the Ethiopian forces which, according to the announcement, prevented the fleeing Italians from reaching their barbed wire enclosures to the northward.

A second bloody fight occurred at the barbed wire.

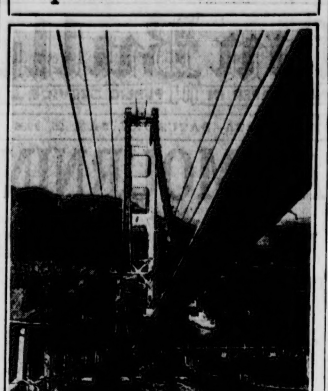
Military Orders

Regimental orders by Major M. P. H. Browne, M.M., second in command of 13th Divisional Signals, Edmonton:—

Civic Memorial Service: Nos. 2 and 3 companies will participate in the Civic Memorial service to be held in the Prince of Wales armouries, Tuesday, Jan. 28, at 11.00 a.m.

Parades: Signals companies will parade at 18.00 hours on their respective parade grounds. Dress: Divine service order with medals. Officers will wear swords.—Lieut. E. M. Rymer, Asst. Adjt.

Spans Golden Gate



A picture of striking beauty, as well as one of great public utility, is this, of the bridge and the cables supporting it across the Golden Gate, San Francisco's famed waterway, as the job of spinning more than 80,000 miles of wire goes steadily on. This view from the San Francisco tower looks across to the Marin county shore.

SCHOOL CHILDREN WILL DO HONOR TO DEAD KING

School children and students throughout the city in the public and high schools will pay tribute to His Late Majesty King George V in a memorial service to be held in every school at 3:30 p.m. Monday. Tuesday will be a public holiday and no classes will be held.

Services will be uniform throughout the city and will be conducted by the principals in each school. Two hymns, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," and Kipling's "Children's Hymn," will be sung, principals will give addresses of eulogy of the king and a general message by C. A. McKee, superintendent of schools, will be read.

In giving notice of Tuesday's holiday, Supt. McKee says: "The girls and boys should be asked to keep in mind the reason for the holiday and conduct themselves accordingly."

HIS PIG FARM SUCCESS TAKES PLEDGED BRIDE

LOWELL, Mass., Jan. 25.—The pig business back in Alberta has improved, and J. Leo Jabinville kept his word.

A native of Lowell he went to Alberta as a boy. Other Lowellites went there from Lowell, too, but not all stayed.

Antoinette Clermont, for instance, returned to Lowell five years ago. When she left Jabinville told her he would come to marry her when his pig farm was sufficiently profitable to permit of the trip and matrimony.

He came today—and the ceremony was performed in St. Louis' church.

Theatre Fire

SHEFFIELD, Eng., Jan. 25.—The Theatre Royal, occupying a large frontage in three streets in a congested area of the city, was practically destroyed by fire recently. The galleries collapsed into the pit of the theatre.

FAIL TO FIND FISHERMEN ON DRIFTING ICE

GURIEV, Kazan Republic, U.S.S.R., Jan. 25.—Efforts to locate an ice field on which 1,825 fishermen-castaways are being set by the Caspian sea remained fruitless last night. The fishermen continued to maintain contact with the shore by wireless, but were unable to give the position of the field.

When the field split from the shore eight days ago, five wagons loaded with fish and several horses fell into the water and were lost. No lives are known reported, but there were no human casualties. The fishermen said they had sufficient food and fodder for 40 days, but there was constant danger of the ice field breaking up.

NIAGARA FALLS IS BIG ICE JAM

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Jan. 25.—Niagara Falls did not look like itself today because of the ice.

The American falls was just a trickle because of ice jams in the channel above the cataract while the river just below the falls was covered by the biggest "ice bridge" in years. In places masses of ice were pushed up 50 feet or more.

Hon. V. Massey To Represent Canada At King's Funeral

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—Hon. Vincent Massey, with Canadian naval, military and air aides, will represent Canada at the funeral of the late King next Tuesday. Hon. Mr. Massey has been requested by Prime Minister Mackenzie King to lay a wreath for the people of Canada.

Sir John Maffey Ill With Fever

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Jan. 25.—Stricken by fever aboard ship, Sir John Maffey, permanent undersecretary of state for colonies, may be forced to cancel his unofficial tour of the British West Indies.

A wireless message received here last night said he would come direct to Trinidad, probably arriving on Monday.

Sir John had planned to disembark at Antigua and begin a leisurely tour of the islands on Canadian National steamships.

Goes To Trial

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—Justice Maclean ruled in the Exchequer court today the suit of Dominion Distillery Products, Limited, of Montreal, for refund of $1,417,958 sales and excise tax paid the government would proceed to trial and his decision on the crown's motion for dismissal would be postponed.

Bounties From Jam

LIVERPOOL, Eng., Jan. 25.—Employes of a jam manufacturer in Liverpool shared $25,000 at the 50th annual distribution of the firm's profit-sharing scheme, more than $1,250,000 being the grand total.

OXFORD, England, Jan. 25.—A former well known actress, Mrs. Grace Riley, was found dead in bed in a gas-filled room with the body of a favorite dog by her side. It is believed the dog had turned on a gas tap.

Mayor Appeals For Closing

Making a strong appeal to citizens and business men particularly to observe Tuesday, January 28, as a holiday and a day of mourning on the occasion of the funeral of His Majesty the late King George V, Mayor Joseph A. Clarke, K.C., declared Friday night that he would co-operate with the provincial and federal governments in the observance of the date.

CLOSE FOR DAY

The mayor expressed the opinion that places of business which are usually open on statutory holidays and Sundays should also close for the day, the event being of peculiar significance insofar as it was a time of mourning for the deceased monarch.

"I am definitely declaring Tuesday a public holiday for Edmonton, and observance of this day will be enforced as far as the powers of federal, provincial and municipal laws are concerned," Mayor Clarke stated.

Legion To Hold Memorial Service Sunday At 2 P.M.

A memorial service under the auspices of the Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. in commemoration of his late Majesty King George V of blessed and glorious memory will be held Sunday, January 26, at 2 p.m. in the Memorial Hall.

The band of the First Fusiliers, with kind permission of Colonel E. Brown, will play the prelude to be followed by hymns, "O God Our Help in Ages Past" and "The Lord is My Shepherd."

Scripture reading and prayers will be conducted by Rev. Captain G. G. Reynolds. The main address of the service will be given by Premier William Aberhart.

The band will play "Dead March in Saul (Handel) and a final tribute will be the singing of God Save the King.

His Worship Mayor Joseph A. Clarke will be chairman at the service and Miss Beatrice Crawford, pianist.

Invitations have been sent to Hon. W. L. Walsh and to Senator Major General W. A. Griesbach, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., and other officers of Edmonton. Written invitations have been sent to all ex-servicemen's associations of the city including women's association

It is expected that a large crowd will attend and for that reason citizens are requested to be on hand early. Doors open at 1:45 p.m.

Red Chevron Club members are expected to attend.

Banff Cougars Breathe Easier As Hunter Exits

BANFF, Alta., Jan. 25.—Cougars breathed easier in the national park here Friday with the knowledge that the most persistent hunter their family has ever known was enroute back to his home ranges. E. R. "Cougar" Lee, transferred hero with his dogs from Vancouver Island, found he could not make a living around Banff.

A bounty of $10 was paid Lee for each of the nine cougars he killed in the three months around Banff, in addition he received a monthly salary of $50.

During this winter Banff residents reported few deer and sheep came down from the mountains to sleep in their back yards at night as they had in former years. This was blamed on the cougars and after representations were made Lee and his dogs were brought in.

Duties Defined For Chancellor Hitler's Political Soldiers

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—The duties of Adolf Hitler's brownshirted "political soldiers" were defined last night by Victor Lutze, chief of the Storm Troops, to the diplomatic corps and the press.

There can be no rivalry between the Nazi troopers and the army, he said, because they operate in different fields but their object is the same, the Fatherland.

"Should Germany be attacked, every political soldier will see to it that the homeland shall not crumble like an easily-infected body, but shall remain strong, a backbone immune from political disease.

"Had Germany possessed such a political army before the Great War, that war would have been decided at the front and not at home," Lutze added.

FIVE EUROPE KINGS ATTEND FUNERAL RITES

To Represent Belgium, Bulgaria, Norway, Rumania, Denmark

LONDON, Jan. 25—Five of continental Europe's 15 reigning kings will attend the funeral of King George V next Tuesday in the most impressive assemblage of royalty in post-war history.

Leopold of the Belgians, Boris of Bulgaria, Haakon of Norway, Carol of Rumania and Christian of Denmark will march behind King Edward VIII, in Great Britain's most impacking funeral in more than 25 years.

UNABLE TO ATTEND

Gustav of Sweden, Victor Emmanuel of Italy, George of Greece, Zog of Albania and little King Peter of Yugoslavia are the only male sovereigns in Europe who will not be here.

King Haakon, accompanied by Queen Maud, sister of the late King, arrived in London yesterday. They are guests at Buckingham Palace.

SEND REPRESENTATIVES

The former reigning houses of Hohenzollern, Romanoff and the Spanish Bourbons also will be represented. Prince Friedrich of Prussia, grandson of the former Kaiser and a godson of King George, will represent Wilhelm of Doorn. Grand Duke Dmitri, son of Grand Duke Cyril, head of the House of Romanoff, will represent the former Russian Czarist family. Don Alfonso of Spain, nephew of former King Alfonso, will represent the exiled Spanish royal family.

Prince Paul, senior regent of Yugoslavia, will represent King Peter. The boy king of Siam will be represented by Prince Chakradongse. Prince Consort Felix of Luxembourg will attend in the name of the Grand Duchess, and the Emir Zaid will represent Iraq.

GLASS CAN BE TURNED INTO HAT OR RUG

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 25.—In a bright, sunny 20-room building without a window, research showed Friday how the glass that goes into milk bottles can be turned into a smart hat or a soft rug.

The material of the building itself is the same as the milk bottle. Its builders call it "the first all-glass, windowless structure."

The result of earlier experiments in glass houses, it was put to use officially yesterday as the headquarters of the packaging research division of the Owens-Illinois Glass Company.

Mae's Manager Is Found Not Guilty

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25—Jim Timony, Mae West's business manager, and 14 players were found not guilty Friday by a municipal court jury of charges that they presented an indecent show.

Four hours were required by the 11 housewives and one man to reach a verdict on the play, "Ladies By Request," of which Timony was author-producer.

FORMER HEAD ROTARY CLUBS DIES IN EAST

McLean's magazine, and frequently wrote for other publications, both in Canada and the United States.

Was Native Of Paisley, Ontario

A native of Paisley, Ont., aged 61, Mr. Nelson had a diversified career, indicative of his versatility. Completing his education in Ontario public and high schools, he went West as a young man in 1898 to enter newspaper work. He became city editor of the Victoria Times, a post he held for many years before his promotion as managing-editor of that paper.

He resigned from his executive position with the Times in 1910 and for the next five years was manager of the Vancouver News-Advertiser. From 1915 to 1921 he was publisher and editor of the Vancouver World.

SMEARED WITH INK

"I've been smeared with printer's ink all my life," Mr. Nelson reflected when he sold out his interests in the Vancouver Daily World in 1921.

In the intervening four years before he joined the Sun Life, Mr. Nelson was one of the most prolific magazine writers in Canada.

Mr. Nelson, as director of the Western Associated Press, took a foremost part in the co-operative movement of Western Canadian daily newspapers for collection and distribution of news.

The W.A.P. as it was familiarly known among western newspapermen, was founded in 1907 by Winnipeg newspaper publishers, including E. H. Macklin, John W. Dafoe of the Manitoba Free Press, M. E. Nichols of the Winnipeg Telegram and the late R. L. Richardson of the Winnipeg Tribune.

The movement rapidly spread across the prairies, gathering to itself daily newspapers springing up in the new provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta. Mr. Nichols, who was president of the Western Associated Press, made a pilgrimage to the coast and it was largely through the aid of John Nelson he was able to bring British Columbia daily newspaper publishers into the W.A.P. fold.

Mr. Nelson was therefore rightly regarded as one of the pioneers in co-operative news gathering in Canada and it was a distinct loss to the movement when he later abandoned newspaper work in favor of a business career in Montreal.

Italy Sanctions Not Extended To Printed Matter

OTTAWA, Jan. 25. — Sanctions against Italy, invoked by resolution of the League of Nations, do not extend to printed matter, according to an order-in-council made public here last night. Italian publications may still be imported into Canada.

The order-in-council sets forth that the prohibition on Italian imports does not apply to "newspapers, periodicals, printed books and printed music, nor to maps and hydrographic charts."

CONSTABLE IS SHOT DURING HOLD-UP TRY

Condition of Winnipeg Policeman is Considered Serious

WINNIPEG, Jan. 25.—Constable Charles Gillis of the Winnipeg city police force was shot in the groin last night allegedly by Ian Bryson, 22, during an attempted holdup of a gasoline service station in downtown Winnipeg.

Lawrence Christie, service station attendant, was shot at by Bryson; police said, but the revolver Bryson carried failed to discharge.

Bryson was taken into custody by Constable George Blow who grappled with him after Constable Gillis had been shot. Gillis' condition was considered serious.

Christie, along with his assistant, Willys Doran, refused to turn over any money to the lone gunman and Christie grappled with him. He broke free and fled.

As he ran to the street, the police car came to a stop. Gillis jumped out, and grappled with the gunman who shot him in the groin. Blow tripped the gunman and grappled with him. The revolver fell and Gillis, lying on the ground wounded, reached out and seized it.

Blow overpowered the gunman and he was removed to jail while Gillis was rushed to hospital. At police headquarters the gunman was identified as Bryson.

Eldest Of Mills Brothers Is Dead

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Jan. 25.—John Mills, whose notes through cupped hands led the Mills Brothers from street-singing in a small Ohio town to fame on the air and screen, died Friday at the age of 25.

The eldest of the negro quartet, he had been ill with a lung ailment he contracted last April during a London engagement.

PORTRAIT OF KING DRAPED WITH PURPLE

By THOMAS WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, Jan. 25—The magnificent portrait of King George V, in the entrance hall of the senate has been draped in Royal Purple. In the hall are portraits of two other British kings and three British queens, and of them all only Queen Mary remains alive. Two of the portraits are of King George IV, and Queen Charlotte; two of King Edward VII, and Queen Alexandra.

Of the six original paintings four were destroyed in the fire which razed the parliament buildings in 1917, only those of King George IV and Queen Charlotte being saved.

In later years His Majesty King George V, having heard of the loss, had full length copies made of the royal portraits of himself and the Queen and of his father and mother. In 1927 when the Prince of Wales came to Canada he announced the royal gift and the new portraits graced the Senate Hall.

The picture of the royal donor was almost forgotten until Senator Cairine Wilson drew attention to it, and suggested that it bear the signs of the nation's mourning and this was done.

Best Xmas Trade In States Since Depression Hit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Secretary of Labor Perkins reported Friday that the best Christmas business since before the depression helped bring a 323,000 reduction in United States unemployment rolls last month.

Payrolls throughout the industry were greater by $13,300,000 a week than they were in November, she added.

Robert Hoffman, Columbia, S.C., cured his stammering by memorizing the entire United States Constitution of 7,500 words.

110,042 MOURN AT KING'S BIER

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Official figures disclosed that 110,042 persons mourned at the bier of King George Friday, passing in an endless procession which was interrupted only once.

This was when Westminster Hall was closed for a few minutes as the royal family escorted Queen Maud of Norway, only surviving sister of the late King, to the hall for her first view of the coffin.

Doors of Westminster Hall were closed at 10 p.m. after being open for 14 hours to the public. People passed, four abreast, at the rate of nearly 9,000 an hour.

Londoners patiently took up positions in the cold winter rain last night to await the reopening at eight a.m.

Four hundred plants have been found that eat insects.

PLENTY TO DO

The sea, battle-ground of the warring elements, still has its uses in preserving peace among the humans.

Russia's spokesman at Geneva denounced Uruguay as guilty of a "most hostile international act" in chasing Soviet representatives out of its borders without proving they had been spreading subversive propaganda.

These are "fighting words" when parsed between two countries capable of getting at each other. Since the broad Atlantic rolls between neither country is a great naval power, and the Monroe doctrine still holds, nothing worse may follow than volleyed arguments and explosive rhetoric.

There is no danger of the League of Nations running out of a job. With China being dismembered, a war in Africa, Europe in a ferment, and this blow-up in South America, four of the six contents are now supplying it with things to think about.

GO RIGHT AHEAD

Premier Aberhart is needlessly troubled because the U.F.A. decided to stay in politics, or try to get back into politics, according to the point of view. That, he thinks, will be a "brake on the wheels of progress"—meaning a hindrance to the inception of the Social Credit program.

There is no need to worry about that. The Premier does not need the help of the U.F.A. or any other critics to put his policy in motion. He has the backing of 56 out of the 63 members of the legislature. That is quite all the co-operation required to put any sort of a policy into effect.

And once he does that, and shows his plan will work as per specifications, nobody will try to put any "brakes" on the wheels. Twenty-five dollars a month extra income for everybody will not raise objections in any quarter. Members of the U.F.A., as of all other doubting parties, may be a bit dubious if they cannot understand the theory of it, but they will understand the increase in pay without any trouble, when it comes, and taxes and public debt abolished under Mr. Aberhart's plan of Social Credit.

THE MOUNTIES

By a vote "almost unanimous" the delegates at the U.F.A. convention repented the action of the late U.F.A. Government in abolishing the provincial police force and bargaining with the Dominion for the services of the Mounted Police as the law-enforcement body in this province.

Loudest among the penitents was the late member for Stony Plain, who told the legislature a year ago what he thought of the Police, and why, but failed to convince the members they should "fire" the Mounties on his account.

What the delegates were more concerned about was the affair at Regina last July, when the federal and provincial authorities were both trying to tell the Mounties what to do, and telling them to do things exactly contrary. The delegates did not want such a situation to arise in Alberta. Neither, it may be supposed, does anybody else, the Police included.

However, since the Dominion and the provinces are now engaged, with the help of the Supreme Court, in locating the boundary line between federal and provincial jurisdiction, it may be supposed the danger of another clash of authorities will be largely removed.

Once it is known where the boundary is, the Police will know who they are to take instructions from concerning any matter referred to them.

For which they, as all others, will have cause to be profoundly thankful.

NOW'S THE TIME

Mayor Clarke of Edmonton and Mayor Davison of Calgary would like the Provincial Government to:

1. Pay 80 per cent of the cost of unemployment relief;

2. Continue to pay these cities the $30,000 per year they have been getting to reconcile them to the loss of the service tax which the former Government took away from them;

3. Help meet the cost of taking care of indigent persons, now borne entirely by the cities.

While they have not "got it on their list," not having time to waste, it may be assumed the Mayors would also be obliged if the Government would hand over a share of the "disputed taxes" which its predecessor took from the cities and appropriated to provincial use and benefit.

No plebiscite is required to show that the Mayors have the full, free and hearty consent of the taxpayers, together with all good wishes for one hundred per cent success, in presenting these righteous if none too welcome requests. Nor that any substantial concession along the lines asked for will be gratefully received.

The Calgary Albertan, now the official organ of the party in power, announces "There is a vast difference between the way the public's business is being conducted today and the way it was conducted a year ago." If the Government is looking for a chance to display this difference in a marked, useful and appreciated way, here is the opportunity.

The late Government "hogged" every source of revenue it could lay hands on, while it loaded the cities with the cost of social services they did not ask for, were not responsible for, and should not be made to pay for.

If the present Government is minded to show that it is different in that respect, the Mayors have presented it with a wide open opportunity.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Every person who has spoken to me about it, agrees that the reproof administered to Premier Aberhart a few nights ago by ex-Premier R. G. Reid was excellently done, and in the public interest. No doubt Mr. Aberhart will profit by it and either bring forth proofs of graft and corruption or cease his lamentations.

J. S. Cowper

I was among those who were persuaded to offer themselves for public service in the last election, and therefore among those listed as "political gangsters" by the Premier. I see no reason to doubt that a majority of those who offered themselves did so from similar motives of public spirit and at similar cost of time, money and energy. I know that Mr. Aberhart's special bete noir, the Liberal leader in the Legislature, has made continuous sacrifices of time, money and health.

No man or woman offering themselves for public service should be exposed to groundless attacks upon their motives—especially under the cloak of religion.

Nor should office-holders be charged with wrong-doing without serious proof. The late government had been in too long. It had grown lethargic. Its 1935 legislation was restrictive. Its administration had become partisan. But no one on the Opposition side of the House charged the Farmer ministers with graft and corruption.

It is permissible for an irresponsible evangelist wafting jeremiads over the air, to denounce all, save his own little body, as servants of evil. But a premier has a position of responsibility, and should act accordingly.

It isn't only his predecessors in office who have cause for complaint. The other night at Calgary, defending himself for having dismissed tried officials without seeming cause, he hinted, "Sometime I'll maybe tell the real reasons."

If civil servants have misconducted themselves in such fashion as to merit dismissal, the public is entitled to know. The dismissed men are entitled to know the meaning of the suggestion that there are concealed reasons for their dismissals, which the Premier is holding over them as a lash.

In view of the pledge given by Mr. Aberhart that he will give each of us $25 a month (and maybe $75) we have an interest in seeing him make a success of his administration. He should be told by one of his deputies that every incoming government faces the inherited debt of its predecessors, and that the debt structure of the province was there before he made his promises. He should not lightly charge corruption against former incumbents of office or to hint at sinister reasons when he fires civil servants. A visiting American magazine editor took these things seriously and has pictured Alberta to the people of the continent as a place of dark mystery and despair, brought about by the corruption and graft of Mr. Aberhart's predecessors in office.

Gaetano Salvemini, commenting on George Seldes "Sawdust Caesar"—which he says "is the best comprehensive work on Fascist Italy" thus far published in the English language—tells of how Mussolini after muzzling the Italian press, formed in 1928 a "Committee for Propaganda Abroad."

In addition to getting Fascist journalists onto the staffs of foreign papers as "experts" on Italian affairs, and disseminating book propaganda, Salvemini says that the Committee would pay the expenses of visiting writers on tours of Italy to "get the atmosphere." If the book that followed proved satisfactory, the Committee would arrange for a translation into several languages and buy thousands of copies for distribution among its "experts." A slick way of handling the supposed "unbiased" author.

More "instructions" to Italian editors on the handling of news during the Italo-Ethiopian clash have come to light.

One of interest to Canadian readers refers to the retraction by the Canadian delegate Dr. Walter Riddell, before the League of Nations, of his motion for an oil embargo. Instructs the Facist authority to the editors:

"Speak no more of retraction, but of the "reservation" made by the Canadian government at Geneva."

Of the Laval-Hoare-Laval peace plan which raised such a rumpus in England and among the smaller nations attached to the League, instruction is given:

"The Franco-British conversations must not be subjects of messages from abroad. Ignore them completely."

A subsequent instruction stated:

"As to the Hoare-Laval propcsals, more ample and specific criticism may be made, without attacking the two governments, and without violence. Do not say, as certain newspapers have done, that a rapid peace in East Africa would restore the peace and calm of Europe. Attack the French and Communist Front."

"The greatest reserve" was instructed to be followed in referring to Sir Samuel Hoare's resignation, and also with regard to the appointment of Anthony Eden as British Foreign Minister. "The greatest reserve" was also ordered on the subject of the Mediterranean agreement whereby certain powers led by France agreed to go to the aid of Britain in the event of an attack by Italy on the British Mediterranean fleet.

Three items of human interest order prohibition of any mention of steps taken by the government to reduce the consumption of newsprint: the sudden illness of Senator Marconi in a dining car on the Paris-Rome express, and of the trial before the Military Tribunal at Rome of five soldiers accused of mutiny.

The first step in tyranny is to stifle a free press.

"I think the attitude of Western civilization illustrates not a decadence in conduct or in morals but rather a lifting of standards of conduct, conformity to which we insensibly demand."—Elihu T. Root.

Pneumonia

By DOCTOR FRANK McCOY

During the winter months, pneumonia takes its annual toll in thousands of lives. Very often those who prove most susceptible to this disease are the very ones who least suspect themselves of being in any danger of an attack. It appears that the thin patient recovers more readily than the patient who is overweight.

Dr. F. McCoy

The best way to avoid pneumonia is to keep the resistance as high as possible through eating correctly, obtaining out-door exercise, breathing fresh air, and avoiding fatigue. The germ of pneumonia is often present in the mouths and throats of most city-dwellers during the winter months, and does no harm as long as the resistance is good.

The prevalence of pneumonia at this particular time of year can only be explained by the way that the average person lives—he is cooped up in the overheated rooms, eats too many rich foods and too few vital vegetables, neglects to insure a regular intestinal elimination, gets very little sunsnine, smothers the pores of the skin with heavy clothing, and omits regular exercise. This means that a toxic condition of the body is built up, and once this toxic condition is present, a sudden chilling of the body or exposure to wet, may result in an attack of pneumonia.

Pneumonia begins suddenly with a severe chill and the intense chill is followed by fever, with headache. A sharp pain develops in the chest on the affected side and much distress is caused by a quick, painful cough. Within 48 hours, the cough brings up a "rusty" blood-stained sputum which is characteristic. Within 7 to 9 days, crisis occurs and the temperature returns to normal. Lobar pneumonia is the type most feared and is the disease where occurs an inflammation of one of the lobes of the lung. Broncho-pneumonia refers to an inflammation of the bronchi and lungs, the disease beginning in the bronchial tubes and then spreading to the lungs.

The treatment used during an attack of lobar pneumonia is directed toward aiding the forces fighting for recovery and toward making the patient as comfortable as possible during the attack. In every case where the patient has developed pneumonia, I advise that he be given the advantage of diathermy treatment.

This is an electrical treatment which can be given in the home by a doctor using a portable apparatus. Pads are placed on the front and back of the affected area and an electric current then turned on up to a certain strength, the tissues deep inside the lung thereby being heated several degrees higher than normal. By using this particular kind of treatment, the heat can be directed to exactly the right spot inside the lungs. This internal heating treatment is often effective in promoting recovery and the results from this treatment have been very successful.

During the first few days of an attack of pneumonia, no food of any kind should be taken, but if a slight fever still persists after five days of the fasting regimen, it is a good plan to start giving a few carefully limited quantities of cooked non-starchy vegetables. No highly starchy foods or proteins should be given while the fever is at its height. The patient is given all of the water that he wants but is not permitted ordinary meals. It is very important that the large intestine be kept clean with two or more daily enemas, and warm sponge baths carefully given every two hours during the day and night will make the patient more comfortable. Fresh air should be allowed by opening the windows but the air is to be warmed by electric heaters.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: V. J. writes: "Is there any similarity between oysters and oyster plant?"

ANSWER: Oyster plant is a wholesome vegetable which should be used as soon as possible before the starch has had time to develop. Used in this way it may be taken freely and will be found to have an agreeable flavor. I suggest that you do not scrape the oyster plant, simply washing it in clean water and scrubbing with a vegetable brush. Cut into thin slices and cook in plain water, to which a little lemon juice has been added. Oysters are a protein food and the oyster plant is a non-starchy vegetable. The food values are entirely different and the similarity lies in the flavor.

Poems That Live

OLD IRONSIDES

(September 14, 1830)

Aye, tear her tattered ensign down!
Long has it waved on high,
And many an eye has danced to see
That banner in the sky;
Beneath it rung the battle shout,
And burst the cannon's roar;—
The meteor of the ocean air
Shall sweep the clouds no more.

Her deck, once red with hero's blood,
Where knelt the vanquished foe,
When winds were hurrying o'er the flood
And waves were white below,
No more shall feel the victor's tread,
Or know the conquered knee;—
The harpies of the shore shall pluck
The eagle of the sea!

Oh, better that her shattered hulk
Should sink beneath the wave;
Her thunders shook the mighty deep,
And there should be her grave;
Nail to the mast her holy flag,
Set every threadbare sail,
And give her to the god of storms,
The lightning and the gale!

Oliver Wendell Holmes.

SIDE GLANCES—By George Clark

"Now, tell daddy we had a long talk and you have promised to be a good boy."

On This Date

A Day in Canadian History —o— By FRED WILLIAMS

On this date in 1915 Rev. L. W. Williams was consecrated as Anglican Bishop of Quebec, and presided over the diocese until last year when he resigned. Commenting upon this Mr. O. R. Rowley, the historian of the Church of England, points out that the Williams family has contributed 38 bishops to the episcopate ill over the world. The diocese of Lincoln in 1621 and of Chicester in 1696 each had a John Williams. The diocese of York had an archbishop, John Williams. On this side of the Atlantic the diocese of Connecticut had a John Williams, who for 12 years was Primus of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States. Quebec's fourth bishop was J. W. Williams; his son was the sixth bishop of Quebec. The diocese of Waiapu in New Zealand is a unique instance of what has never before happened in any Anglican diocese in the world. Its first bishop, W. Williams, was appointed in 1859. His son, W. L. Williams, became the third bishop in 1895 and the latter's son, A. W. Williams, became the sixth and present bishop in 1930. Thus father, son and grandson have occupied the see of Waiapu for 36 years.

In 1911 the Bishop of Honolulu (William) had as his guest the Rt. Rev. G. Mott Williams, then Bishop of Marquette, Mich., and he one day indited the following letter of congratulation to the latter on his elevation to the episcopate:

"Dear Bishop Mott Williams:

"I am sending you a thousand kisses." he wrote to his fair young wife who was spending her first month away from him.

Two days later he received the following telegram:

"Kisses received. Ice man refused to accept any of them on account."

Then he woke up and forwarded a cheque.—Chicago Record-Herald.

dedicated to the Michigan prelate:

When anything was doing we have not been backward much. (The family pride was shattered by the king they called "The Red").

For his death, though accidental, was unanimous, 'tis said)

Imperial Germany as well the family holds in fee

Since Kaiser Williams there can tell what royalty should be.

There are Williamses in Congress; they have led at bench and bar.

They've been merchants, sailors, governors—Oh, it's everywhere they are.

Since he of Kors was famous they've been redoubtable fighters

And now their present aim is to acquire all the mitres.

There is Williams of New Zealand, Bishop Williams who is Welsh

Quebec's apostle and his son, elect of northern see.

Old John, our noble Primus, and he in far Japan.

While the diocese of Huron puts a William in the van.

I really couldn't name them all there's too much else to do.

But ere we let this matter fall we'll mention Me and You.

The Williams of Huron was, of course, Dr. David Williams who died as archbishop and metropolitan in 1931.

WHY PROTECTION?

Editor Bulletin: The writer has been very interested in your fearless stand on matters pertaining to the public good, but has to date failed to note any editorial comment on the subject of the Dominion Government's investigation as to why the motor car industry should be protected by a tariff.

There is a question I should like to ask the motor car industry and that is: Why, if they are losing money at present prices, can they sell cars and repairs at a 40 per cent. discount to any large corporation that will promise to buy all their motor car requirements from one manufacturer. It does not seem possible that they can be selling all their cars at more than a forty per cent. loss.

PETITION AGAINST SUNDAY SPORT

Editor Bulletin: I should like to ask why so much attention is given by the clergy against clean, healthy sport such as we have in this city.

I regularly attend the hockey games at the arena during the winter, and baseball in summer, enjoying the fresh air and getting a chance of seeing the players enjoy themselves in pitting their collective strength against one another.

If it pleases me to help financially I do so and "not" because it is a "charge," just as I "would" do "if" I went to church. This is no more commercialism than what the churches have always done and are doing. Perhaps they look on the collections with a selfish motive and want a share, which I feel sure would solace their consciences if they got it.

The great majority of those who attend a Sunday hockey game are young people and most certainly the look and sound of things enjoy it. I would ask those who want to abolish this sport to ask themselves how they would like others to interfere with their freedom and innocent pleasures.

One of their fads, prohibition, did more harm to this country and to the U.S. than we have yet fully appreciated. What will happen to the younger generation if they cannot Social Creditors now? There is plenty of mischief to get into and this keeps them out of it. If we had less of this puritanical mindedness amongst us the world would be a better place to live in. I don't go to church because of it.

A. T. THOMAS.

11425 72nd street.

IS EVERYTHING TOLD?

Editor Bulletin: The "New Age" a London Social Credit Weekly, had an interesting article on the position of affairs in Alberta.

It is very clear the appointment of Mr. Magor had had a devastating effect upon Social Creditors in England as well as in Alberta. Mr. Aberhart last Friday night presented the delegation from the Social Credit Study Groups to Mr. Magor. My impression was that the words Major Douglas told the House of Commons committee that he could make proposals that would enable the debts of Canada to be cleared off including the C.N.R. obligations. It was assumed that this also applied to the debts of Alberta. Doubtless the Major considers Mr. Magor may make such arrangements on sound and orthodox lines that will be an estoppel to his ideas.

Mr. Aberhart was definite and emphatic that Alberta had full constitutional powers to put his ideas into operation. The writer of the "New Age" article says: The balance of evidence so far received since the election in August points to the conclusion

"Say, boy," a colored convict inquired of his new cell-partner, "when does you-all go out?"

U.F.A. RALLIES TO SUPPORT OF RETURNED VETS

Request Loans to Soldier-Settlers be Non-Interest Bearing

Rallying to the suport of returned soldiers, many of whom were present as delegates, the 28th annual United Farmers of Alberta convention adopted a resolution asking the Dominion government to insure that all loans to soldier-settlers be non-interest bearing. Delegates also urged that, in the event of the death of a soldier-settler, he be given his widow and dependents.

EXTEND POLICY

It was also urged that the dollar-for-dollar repayment policy, due to expire on March 31, 1936, be considerably extended.

In another resolution, the provincial government is asked to amend the Tax Consolidation act so as to include current as well as any extension of consolidated arrears.

A tax by assessment on all securities bearing interest rates was advocated. A resolution endorsed read:

"Resolved that the government of Alberta place a tax by assessment upon all securities such as bonds, mortgages or other registered securities which bear an interest rate; the tax to be not less than 50 per cent of the interest increment. Securities bearing rates of interest in excess of six per cent. should be taxed at a progressively higher rate."

SEEK SYSTEM CHANGE

A change in the system of high school education for rural districts will be sought. The resolution endorsing this stand declared: "The present system of High School education as it applies to those rural children who must attend high school in towns is very unsatisfactory."

The government will be asked to establish a system of residential high schools and remove the control of high schools from town school boards."

City Now Able Borrow On Bank For Financing

Authorization for a line of bank credit totalling $3,500,000 for civic financing this year was given unanimously by city council Friday night when a bylaw providing for this borrowing was passed.

In taking this action council followed the practice of former years, which gives the city power to borrow necessary funds from the bank pending collection of taxes.

Ald. J. W. Fry, who blocked this bylaw at the last meeting, did not protest the action taken Friday.

After Jesus had been teaching a year in Judea He returned to His home town Nazareth, and went into the synagogue. He read to the people from Isaiah and claimed that the words referred to him.

This angered the people who refused to regard Jesus as any more than the village carpenter, so they drove Him out of town and even tried to kill him by throwing him down from a high rock.

After this Jesus made Capernium His home. Here one Sabbath day he healed a man in the synagogue by casting out an evil spirit. Later that day he healed a woman of fever in her own home.

At sunset of the same Sabbath He healed a great number of sick folk who had been carried to His door. Next morning they found Him out in a desert place praying for strength for another such day's work.

YOUNG PEOPLE LEAD SERVICE

On Sunday evening the Young People's Society of Metropolitan church will take charge of the service at the church. Miss Winnie McElroy and Cliff Elson will be the speakers.

The society met in the basement of the church last Sunday when they listened to a debate on "Resolved, that the depression has been a blessing."

The debate was won by the affirmative.

Those taking part were: affirmative, Don Young, Miss L. Young; negative, Fred Bowden and Arnold Hiett.

The judges were: Dr. W. S. Grant, Rev. Berry and R. J. Gillis.

Holy Trinity Plans Memorial Service

All British-Israelites are requested to attend divine service at Holy Trinity church, as a body, on Sunday morning, 11:00 a.m., to take part in the memorial service for His Late Majesty, King George V., and the headquarters committee request that all who are able will be present.

PLAN TO HONOR DEPARTED KING

His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor, His Worship the Mayor, and distinguished citizens from various callings have expressed their intention of being present at a Solemn Service in memory of the late King George V., to be held in St. Joseph's Cathedral on Sunday at 7:45 p.m. This ceremony, which will be the official tribute of the Archdiocese of Edmonton, will be presided over by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Nelligan, V.G., the administrator of the Archdiocese. It will include prayers for deceased sovereigns, taken from the Catholic ritual, a sermon by Rt. Rev. Monsignor W. J. Lyons, of Daysland, hymns by the combined choirs of the Cathedral and St. Joachim's Parishes, "The Last Post", and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The whole ceremony will be so arranged as not to extend over an hour.

A most cordial invitation is extended to the people of the city to assist at this impressive service and to join in the tribute to the memory of the deceased sovereign.

MEMORIAL IS NOW ARRANGED

Rev. Andrew R. Osborn will occupy the pulpit at First Presbyterian church at both services on Sunday. The morning service will be a memorial to King George.

At the morning service he will preach on "Powers of God", while in the evening he will continue his series on "Man, the Unknown." The theme of the children's address at the morning service will be "The Story of John Williams."

Special music will be rendered by the church choir under the direction of the organist and choirmaster, Harold E. Milligan.

The service will open with the funeral march from Beethoven's Sonata in A flat.

The service will conclude with Handel's "Dead March" from the cantata "Saul". The anthem "Let Us Now Praise Famous Men" will be sung by the choir, and hymns to be sung will include "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," "My Help Cometh from the Lord" and others.

It is announced that the annual congregational meeting will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 5.

On account of King George's death, several church gatherings for the week have been cancelled.

SCONA BAPTIST MINISTER SPEAKS

Rev. T. B. McDormand of Strathcona Baptist church is to be the main speaker at the annual rally of children's leaders in religious education, held under the auspices of the Edmonton Children's Work Board. He is to discuss "Temperance Education" in relation to children, of beginners, primary and junior ages. In addition to this address, the program includes a devotional service by Canon Pierce-Goulding of All Saints Cathedral, a solo by the boys' choir, and a skit called "The Clinic", in which is offered a solution for many common Sunday School problems. Reports will also be heard and officers for 1936 board elected. The rally will be held in All Saints Parish Hall, Tuesday, Jan. 28, at 8:15 p.m.

TIMELY THEME IS SELECTED

On Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the City Temple of Spiritualism, the subject for the address will be, "Is there any proof that Conan Doyle has spoken since his death?"

Evidence of interest in Spiritualists and also to skeptics, will be presented.

It is felt that this subject should be dealt with at this time, owing to the many questions that have been raised since he passed into the other side of life. To prove that continued existence after death was a scientific fact, well proven, occupied many years of his life, and many claim that if return was at all possible, surely he, of all men, would be the first to prove it.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

At all Christian Sciences churches next Sunday, the subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Truth". The following is one of the Scriptural quotations contained in the Lesson-Sermon: "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (II Timothy 2: 15).

St. Paul's Church In New Location

The congregation of St. Paul's church is congratulating itself on the moving of the church building from Summit avenue, 142 street, south of Stony Plain road to 151 street, north of Stony Plain road. The former location was considered more or less isolated, while the new location is in the centre of a large population.

CENTRAL CHURCH ANNUAL REPORT

Central United church, at its annual congregational meeting Monday night under the chairmanship of John Howey, reported a host of activity in all departments of its work.

The session report, as given by Robert Fraith, clerk, showed a net membership of 681.

For all purposes the congregation raised slightly in excess of $10,000, of which $2,294 was for the missionary and maintenance work of the church at large. Three of the women's organizations raised additional amounts for missions in excess of their allocations.

Highlights in the report of the women's auxiliaries were over 500 hospital and social calls during the year and a total budget of $1,800.

Four boys' groups and six girls' groups were reported in the organized youth work, with active programs in regular service.

Appreciation of the work and leadership of the minister, Rev. A. E. Black, was expressed in a vote of the meeting.

Additional elders were elected to the session as follows: Charles S. Barnes, J. A. Gillis, A. Cruickshank, and F. J. Earl.

To the board of stewards, the meeting elected Ray Byrne, John Howey, J. P. Hughes, Crawford Gray, and William Anderson.

One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is as follows (Preface viii): "The question, What is Christian healing? is a demonstration,—by healing both disease and sin; and this demonstration shows that Christian healing confers the most health and makes the best men."

that Mr. Aberhart can do nothing unless he can effectively challenge the constitutional limits placed on his powers, also, that he has no power to challenge them effectively." Is there any other interpretation that can be placed on this than that recent communications to Major Douglas from the Alberta Government have been to the effect that the Provincial Legislature constitutional powers are so limited that no real Social Credit legislation can be instituted? The question arises, are the electors of Alberta being justly dealt with? If there is any basis of truth in the quotation I have made the citizens should be informed.

THE PRIVILEGES OF THE PEOPLE

Editor Bulletin: The article in Tuesday's paper reviewing the life of His Most Gracious Majesty King George contains the following pregnant sentence: "George V will go down in history as the democratic king." It is not my purpose here to comment, as the writer of the article does, on those personal qualities of King George V which endeared him to his subjects, but to make some remarks on a subtle but most significant transformation which has taken place in the constitutional position of the British Monarchy, to which no other country in the world can show a parallel.

Three hundred years ago a struggle had commenced between the Crown and Parliament for supremacy. In the early days of English history supreme power rested with the King, limited only by certain fundamental liberties of the subject. During the succeeding centuries the powers of parliament were widened. But there still remained a sphere which by common consent was left to the Crown under the name of the King's prerogatives, such as the sole right to summon and dissolve parliament, the supreme command over the armed forces of the state, the treaty-making power and many others. And the struggle of the seventeenth century was due to the attempts of the Stuart kings to extend the powers of the prerogative beyond the limits assigned by long usage, that is the common law. The revolution resulted in the transfer of the chief power in the state to the House of Commons and the establishment of the sovereignty of Parliament, consisting of the King, the House of Lords and the House of Commons, acting in unison, coupled with the unwritten law or convention that the King can only act upon the advice of his Ministers responsible to the House of Commons. But it left the Royal prerogatives untouched.

In this trinity of power the British House of Commons is no more supreme than is our own House of Commons. The will of either may be thwarted by the House of Lords in the one case and by the Senate in the other. And it is here that the curious history of the Royal prerogative is of singular interest.

In Tudor times the King's acts, by virtue of the prerogative, were the expressions of his personal will. That is no longer so. He now acts on the advice of his responsible Ministers. And the consequence of that change has been momentous. A. V. Dicey cites a striking illustration. In 1872 the House of Commons passed a bill abolishing the system of purchase in the army. The House of Lords rejected the bill. Then it was discovered that the end could be achieved not by statute but by a Royal warrant and the thing was done there and then by a stroke of the pen. Dicey remarks that had the alternation required statutory authority, the system of purchase might have continued to the present day. The existence of the prerogative enabled the Ministry in this case to give immediate effect to the will of the people, without reference to the Peers, zealous guardians of privilege. Thus, he says, "the prerogatives of the Crown have become the privileges of the people." And he goes on to point out that if government by Parliament is ever transformed into government by the House of Commons, it may be conjectured that the transformation will be effected by use of the prerogatives of the Crown.

SAYS PARTY SPITE

Editor Bulletin: May I be allowed space to protest against an incident which took place in the Empire theatre on Sunday evening. Mr. White, the announcer at that occasion took advantage of his position to make disparaging remarks about, and generally berate, the good name of His Worship Mayor Joseph Clarke.

Citizens of Edmonton will remember that recently His late Majesty's representative saw fit to bestow upon our Chief Magistrate the honour of King's Counsellor.

The point here is that many persons went to the theatre to be entertained by the musical offerings and not to listen to a personal tirade against the Mayor.

In spite of Mr. White, there must have been many people present on that occasion who supported the victim of this cheap abuse, both last November and the previous to it, and in addition will continue to support him on future occasions.

It is about the cheapest and most simple thing in the world to abuse a public man, especially when one knows that the person so abused would find it beneath the dignity of his office to do anything but ignore such an ignominious attack.

ON RADIO

Editor Bulletin: It was with profound regret we learnt of the King's death and we his subjects so far away have used our latest means for gathering any news from London, the radio.

We were given a short talk by the CRC last night, but heard nothing of this a.m. from CRC regarding any news from London.

However, our good friends and neighbors to the south of us, through KOA, Denver at 8 a.m. gave us the privilege of hearing direct from London a speaker expressing the solutions and sadness of all England.

It would appear to me that our CRC should be furnishing all subjects of this fair Dominion with latest talks given by speakers from London, without it being necessary for us to tune our controls across the 49th where we do not pay a license to receive news from the Motherland.

pretty Queen of the Scandals 75 chorines will say a fond farewell to Gridley White, dealer of dazzling dames, and go west to step on the dotted line of a juicy movie contract when the show closes in New York. Miss Ruth is following in the footsteps of many other "Scandalizers" including Ruby Keeler who was launched on the path to film fame and fortune by White.

RIALTO HAS SCREEN AND STAGE FARE

Two Films Billed With Fast Paced "Hillbilly" Revuical

An all-mirth, double-fare potpourri of stage and screen entertainment opens at the Rialto theatre for a three-day run, Monday to Wednesday. By a happy combination Manager W. J. Long is presenting one of the film world's greatest farce comedies, "The Private Secretary," upon the screen in conjunction with a second feature, "Against the Law,"—while on the stage a mirthquake of merriment and melody will be presented by Chet. Lambertson and his orchestra, the Jordanette dancers, Thexton & Macdonald, the Bruce Sisters, and other artists in a genuine old "Hillbilly Revue."

HORTON STARS

Edward Everett Horton, undoubtedly the most popular character comedian on the screen today is seen at his positive funniest as Rev. Spauling, inoffensive cleric who becomes victim of mistaken identity and suffers a series of mishaps and entanglements providing hearty laughs at every turn. Horton is supported by a distinguished cast which includes Barry Mckay, Judy Gunn, Oscar Asche and a new comedian, Alistair Sim.

GANGLAND DRAMA

The second feature, "Against the Law" is a highly exciting, suspenseful and tensely dramatic thriller of an ambulance driver unwittingly involved in underworld gangdom feuds provides the theme. John Mack Brown, "ally Blane, Arthur Hohl and others are featured.

MOUNTAIN MUSIC

The "Hillbilly" stage show is built for fun and music, with plenty of novelty and comedy. Chet. Lambertson's orchestra and the Jordanette Dancing Chorus are achieving real popularity. Their forces will be augmented by a novelty acrobat-tumbling turn and Edmonton's own version of "The Cabin Kids," known to the screen. This city's kiddies however are not colored, except that they are all redheaded, and answer to the name of Bruce.

In addition to this three-feature show, lovely "Breath O'Spring" dinnerware will be presented to lady patrons on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The stage show is presented twice daily, at 3 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

Gail Patrick, featured in "Two in the Dark," is an ardent student of aviation, and hopes to attain her pilot's license in the near future.

Making Movies Move

June and Cherry Preisser, who at present are "swinging it" to the satisfaction of all in the new Ziegfeld Follies, will swing out to Hollywood when the curtain rings down on the stage show, to put the poetry of motion in a few of moviedom's revuisicals. Hollywood with "Colleen," "King of Burlesque" and three other song and dance films under production, is short on skilled exponents of Swing, only Dixie Dunbar and Ruby Keeler having the necessary savvy. The Preisser girls will do their stuff in the 1936 version of the Fox Follies.

Bravo! Harpo, Chico and Groucho Are 'Socko' In Laugh Panic Of Year

Mad Marx-Men Hitting Top Form in New Film

MERRY MADCAPS

Heralded as the funniest picture to come out of Hollywood in years, "A Night at the Opera" opens today at the Capitol theatre with the world-renowned Marx Bros., Groucho, Chico and Harpo, cast in three of the most uproarious characterizations ever devised for any trio of comics, either on stage or screen.

The new picture represents a departure for the celebrated Kings of Laughter inasmuch as it does not depend alone on madcap antics and insane gags but tells a straight, credible story enlivened by musical interludes and an engaging romance between Kitty Carlisle, heroine of several Bing Crosby musicals, and Allan Jones, who made his film debut with Jean Harlow in "Reckless."

The principal locales of "A Night at the Opera" are Italy, an ocean liner and a New York opera house. Groucho, Chico and Harpo, constituting themselves self-appointed managers, take over the destinies of a pair of lovebirds, Kitty Carlisle and Allan Jones. Picking on Walter King, whose frantic jealousy almost wrecks the romance between Miss Carlisle and Jones, they make hash of the performance in the opera, appearing one minute on the stage, next in the orchestra pit and then among the audience.

To describe a Marx opus in detail is impossible: things happen too quickly. Suffice it to say that the brothers start out in Italy and quickly make their way to the New York opera house. Groucho is the business manager for Miss Dumont and an aspirant to her hand and her millions. Chico is a musician who is determined that Jones shall have a chance in opera. Harpo goes along for the fun of it.

The scenes aboard ship leave nothing to be desired. One in particular, where at least a dozen people are in Groucho's cabin, the latter about the size of a steamer trunk, is a masterpiece of buffoonery.

The climax, of course, is staged at the opera. Chico and Harpo get into the orchestra pit and reduce the musicians to raving lunatics. Groucho does everything but commit mayhem on the director of the company. When police pursue the three they take to the ropes backstage. When they are through with the opera the director is through, the leading man is through, but not the three. Jones has won his chance and his lady's hand. All have won the thanks of the screen audience for the heartiest laugh of the season.

KITTY CARLISLE

WILL ROGERS AT HIS BEST FOR EMPRESS

The picture that marks the glorious climax of Will Rogers' career, "In Old Kentucky," opens Monday at the Empress for a three-day run, to bring America's beloved star to the screen in a thrilling picturization of America's favorite play.

Skillfully modernized by the scenarists, "In Old Kentucky" is a mellow with the humor that brought Will Rogers fame, filled with the romance and the excitement of racing thoroughbreds that made this story the favorite of millions of Americans.

Dorothy Wilson

Rogers has the role of Steve Topley, a trainer of champions and the skillful guide of young love in a land where all the horses are fast and the women beautiful.

Around the romance of Dorothy Wilson and Russell Hardie much of the picture's action centres. Top dancing by the famed Bill Robinson gives added enjoyment.

George Marshall, the director, again displays unusual ability in his spirited handling of the picture, working from a script by Sam Hellman, noted humorist, and Gladys Lehman.

History Drama For Princess

History's greatest struggle, in which all the nations of Europe banded together for an inspired and unselfish cause, is the subject of Cecil B. DeMille's latest spectacle drama for Paramount, "The Crusades," which opens today at the Princess theatre.

Harold Lamb, who wrote such books as "The Crusader," "Flame of Islam," "Iron Men" and "Saints," "Ghengis Khan" and "Tamerlane," wrote the script for the DeMille picture.

"The Crusades," in which great and low, young and old gladly gave their lives for an ideal, brought chivalry to its height and shaped, by supreme effort and sacrifice, the beginnings of the modern world. The spectacle proportions and amount of research and preparation required for this production imposed months of study on DeMille and his large staff of assistants before a single camera turned. All properties had to be carefully checked for accuracy.

More than 10,000 persons are in the cast, headed by Henry Wilcoxon as Richard the Lion-Heart and Loretta Young as Berengaria. A large list of important names are featured. Katherine DeMille, daughter of the producer, is seen as Princess Alice of France.

Johnny Green, young composer-conductor who waves the baton and tosses off wises on the Jack Benny burlesques over the NBC-WJZ net, will take time out from smart-cracking on the 9:30 p.m. Sunday spot this week, to premiere his newest tune. Kenny Baker will do the vocal.

"The Night is Just Beginning" is the title of the number and words to the Green music were written by Gus Kahn, one of the foremost present day lyricists. Advance notices are of the "rave" type and have it that the new song will take its place with "Body and Soul," "Out of Nowhere," "Coquette" and "I Cover the Waterfront," hits that put young maestro Green well up on the list of America's better tunesmiths. KOA and the NBC Pacific coast stations of the Blue web carry the Benny fun and frolic at 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

Eddie Cantor, the answer of CBS to Jack Benny, the NBC top-notcher, seems to have scored a scoop on the competition in the radio laugh world. Ed. Farley and Mike Reilly, now famous members of the Onyx "swing" band and the originators of that song mania, "The Music Goes Round and Around," who appeared on the Cantor program last Sunday, have been signed as a 13-week fixture on the CBS-WABC 9 p.m. Sunday spot. Cantor and the two swingers will swing the "Round and Around" music tomorrow p.m. in six swingy versions.

Glen Gray, leader of the Casa Lomans which tooted hot and fast before Farley and Reilly made all the dansapators swing-conscious, will dish out nothing but the fevered tempo on his 9:30 p.m. Tuesday program over the CBS-WABC net. The Casa Lomans plan to inject new life and torrid rhythm into the fast tempo-ed "Darktown Strutters Ball," "Way Down Yonder in New Orleans," "Love and a Dime," "Margie," "Louisiana Hayrack" and "What a Girl, What a Night."

Gray's tooters will even commit the musical mayhem of "swing" on the "sweet" numbers, "Solitude," "Star Dust," "Roses of Picardy" and "Night and Day."

Terrible as it may seem, the "Music Goes Round and Around" is to head the list of the most popular songs, for the fourth week in succession, when Al Goodman's orchestra, the Frin Sisters and the Rhythms Kings air the "Hit Parade" over the NBC-WEAF web tonight at six. The dizzy tune, according to NBC's scribes, so increased its leadership over the rest of the field this week, that it will take several weeks to bump it off the top berth of the Hit Parade.

In order of popularity for the week, will follow: "Moon Over Miami", "A Little Bit Independent", "With All My Heart," "Dinner for One, Please James", "Rhythm In My Nursery Rhymes", "Boots and Saddle", "Truckin'," "Bury Me Out On the Lone Prairie" and "Moanin' In the Moonlight".

GINGER ROGERS, GEORGE BRENT, STRAND STARS

Climaxing eighteen months of uninterrupted work which saw her graduate from modest featured roles to co-stardom, Ginger Rogers achieves the ultimate ambition of screen players: starring alone for the first time in "In Person," a new, romantic comedy, with George Brent at the Strand.

Behind the vivacious red-haired actress' present acme of success is a foundation of arduous work, distinctive talents and wide experience.

A year and a half ago, after appearing in such films as "42nd Street," "Gold Diggers of 1933," "Professional Sweetheart," "Rafter Romance" and "Finishing School," she had been around for her present popularity.

Since, she has shared billing honors with other stars in five pictures, which accelerated her rise to solo stardom. She appeared with William Powell in "Star of Midnight" and with Francis Lederer in "Romance in Manhattan." Movie-goers throughout the world know Ginger as Fred Astaire's singing-dancing partner in "The Gay Divorcee," "Roberta" and "Top Hat."

Young People's Youth's Club Activities News, Pastimes

City Youth Congress Is Well Attended By Interested Delegates

Young People See the Necessity to Co-Operate

"In Canada youth of all denominations, political persuasions and sports are beginning to feel the necessity of getting together to work out a future whose horizons are not bounded by living on the dole or being cannon fodder on the field." So spoke Ilon Cameron at Edmonton rural "Youth Congress," held last week-end at St. Stephen's College, when 31 youth organizations were represented.

ELECT OFFICERS

Officers elected were: Bill Thornton (president) of the Canadian Commonwealth Youth Movement and the Edmonton Young People's Board; president, Gilbert Wright (member Young Conservatives Association), vice-president, Cyril Griffiths (member Alberta Rangers Sports Club), recording secretary; Norma Cuthbertson (member Young People's board and president First Presbyterian Young People), corresponding secretary; Joseph Eisenstein (member Young Communists), treasurer.

Mr. Cameron, who spoke on "Youth Movements of the World", also stated: "It is youth that fights and the youth we gather here is giving the older generation cause for concern." He pointed out that the movement that is being launched here and at other points in Canada "is to direct the enthusiasm and idealism of youth along the right lines."

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

He described the education of youth in the needs of youth as a necessity, and adjusted the dropping of party lines in favor of the spirit of co-operation.

"Let us have peace on earth and work for all in a better social order," pleaded the speaker. "Drop the narrow youth organizations and work together for Canada," was Mr. Cameron's challenge to his listeners. He had first outlined youth movements in various parts of the world.

Describing what he considered "Youth Ought to Know," Rabbi Klein was the speaker at the congress. "Fundamentally we all want the same things . . . work, wages, homes and home life, and youth ought to know that in order to achieve these ends youth must recognize it is a living organism," stated the speaker, who also made reference to that fact that "youth ought to know that no race can isolate itself and all races contribute to the culture of civilization."

TO ESTABLISH HOSTELS

Establishment of youth hostels in the larger cities in Alberta will be one of the first aims of the executive of the Edmonton council of the Canadian Youth Federation, elected by those assembled for the congress.

Entertainment was provided by Dena Heckleman, violinist, and four dancers from the Ukrainian Labor Temple who danced the Ukrainian sword dance in native costume.

SCONA BAPTIST TAKES LEAD IN HOCKEY SCORES

Thursday night found the Scona Baptist Seniors on top of the heap after defeating McDonald Baptist 3-2 at the Stadium in a league fixture. This made the fourth game in a row for the south-siders. Their winning streak started at the hands of the team from First Baptist, the score being 3-2. The Macdonald group were the next to fall under a count of 3-2, then Sconan fought hard to come from behind to defeat First Baptist 6-2, scoring all goals in the last ten minutes of the game.

The next game of this section will be played at 109 street rink on Feb. 1st, starting at six o'clock. McDonald vs. First.

The following results are of the games played to date: First, 3; McDonald, 2; McDonald, 3; Scona, 6; Scona, 1; McDonald, 3; Scona 2; First, 5; First, 4; Scona, 5; McDonald, 1; Scona, 3; First, 3; McDonald, 3; McDonald, 2; Scona, 3; Scona, 6; First, 2; Scona, 3; McDonald, 2.

BOY SCOUTS MOURN LOSS OF LATE KING

Beloved Majesty Was a Strong Supporter of Scout Work

Their hearts stricken with a deep sense of loss, Boy Scouts of Edmonton will join with their brother Scouts throughout the British Empire in mourning the death of their beloved King George V.

"King George was one of the founders and a consistent supporter of the Scout movement," states Dominion Chief Executive Commissioner John A. Stiles in a telegraphic communication to W. S. Beckman, Alberta executive secretary.

Mr. Stiles calls upon Scouts to wear mourning on formal occasions only, and further suggests that it be worn by officials and Scouters only, not by Scouts and Cubs.

TO ATTEND SERVICES

Local Scout officials have asked that all Scouts attend church services in memory of the late sovereign, and in many cases it is believed church parades will be held. There will be a parade of Scouts and Guides and Wolf Cubs and Brownies at All Saints' Pro-Cathedral tomorrow evening at 7:30, when Canon E. Pierce-Goulding will hold a special "national" service, when he will tell the young groups about their new King, Edward VIII. Third Scouts under Tom Larson, Third Cubs under Art Jones, Fourth Guides under Gwen Mullen, and Brownies will attend.

WILL TAKE PART

Representatives of the Boy Scouts will take part in the memorial service to be held next Tuesday in the Province of Wales Armouries at 11 a.m.

In many cases it is believed the Scouts will re-affirm their oath of allegiance to the new King.

FINANCE DRIVE WILL BE HELD IN FEBRUARY

Asking the people of Edmonton to "Keep Faith With Youth," Canadian Girls in Training and Pathfinder Trail Ranger boys are launching their finance campaign with the slogan "Pass on the Torch." Dates are, February 1 to 16.

The significance of the slogan is recognized when it is remembered that this year both of these great youth movements celebrate their 25th anniversaries. During the 25 years thousands of boys and girls and hundreds of leaders have been trained in the movements.

The Canadian Girls in Training is a national church youth movement which listed 4637 teen-age girl members in Alberta last year. Seventeen camps were held and 131 girls' clubs instituted. Of the 4637 in Bible study, nature lore, camp-craft, first-aid and home nursing, swimming and many other activities.

The Tuxis-Trail Ranger movement embraces 126 Trail Ranger groups with 1394 boys and 73 Tuxis groups with 875 members, making a total of 2269 boys. It is this organization which sponsors the Boys' Parliament, Camp Tuxis at Sylvan Lake, the national aim is to meet, the other well-known boy programs.

Edmonton leaders of C.G.I.T. and Tuxis are co-operating with the youth themselves in this finance campaign to raise funds to carry on the work of the Religious Education Council of Alberta, an interdenominational body which directs the Boys' Boy Week, the Girls' Work Board and the Children's Work Board.

BACKMAN VISITS SCOUTS TROOPS IN RURAL AREAS

W. S. Backman, executive commissioner of Scouts for Alberta has had a busy winter visiting Scouting points in northern Alberta.

On Monday the commissioner visited Camrose where he addressed the Rotary club, spoke to a meeting of Scouts and Cubs in the afternoon, and spoke to a public meeting in the evening, also showing his movies of Scouting in Alberta.

Barrhead Boy Scouts are very keen hockey players, Mr. Backman discloses, following his visit there this week, and he brings back the condition with him a challenge by the Barrhead group to take on any Edmonton Scout troop that cares to make the trip out. B. S. Folks is Scoutmaster.

At Willingdon the commissioner visited Alberta's first 1936 Scout troop, holding a meeting with the Scouts under G. Bigland and with the Cubs under F. Furness. S. Eaton is assistant Scoutmaster. Mr. Backman also met with the Parents' Association, which is in process of organization.

BAPTISTS HOLD SKATE PARTY

Although the weather was a little nippy several young people turned out to the First Baptist Young People's skating party held at the Central rink last Monday evening. After about two hours of enjoyable skating the young people went back to the First Baptist Church where baked beans, bread and butter and hot coffee were waiting. Here a lunch was partaken of by some of the young women of the club. After a lunch a sing-song ended an enjoyable evening.

Baron Von Kruedener Domesticates Seven Moose Which He Is Shipping To Zoological Gardens In Berlin

This stately monarch of the forest is Albert, one of the seven moose tamed by Baron Von Kruedener, who is game warden for the Wolf Creek district. The Baron, who has been commissioned by the German government to secure the animals for the National Zoological Gardens, Berlin, is making preparation to ship the animals in the near future. The intelligence of these animals is clearly shown by some of the incidents described in the interview with the Baron.

To Tame Moose Takes Time and Patience the Baron States

By EVELYN BUXTON

Would you like to have a tame moose for a comrade? Perhaps you are one of the many people who believe that a moose is one animal that cannot be tamed. However, Baron Von Kruedener, who is game warden for the Wolf River District, says that this is not so. And the Baron, who has been commissioned by the German government to secure specimens of Canadian game for shipment to the National Zoological Gardens at Berlin is one person who should know.

The Baron says that a moose is a highly intelligent animal that will, with kind treatment, become very devoted to a human being.

MOOSE CORRALLED

As proof he can show you the seven moose which he has now corralled in the exhibition grounds at Edmonton awaiting shipment on the long journey that will take them across the ocean to their new home. Most of them have been trained for years after they, while still tiny animals, had been abandoned by the cows or had been left orphans by the cruel act of some careless hunter. Jiggs, the youngest, was one of these. He was raised by the Baron from a tiny animal not much bigger than a dog, and the Baron has had ample opportunity to study the character and behavior of the animal.

While still tiny Jiggs was allowed the freedom of the house. He would enter and will make for the table and eat anything—bread, butter, sugar, cake or pie, that was offered.

After he had eaten his fill he would lie down like a contented puppy and sleep off his meal.

Later, when he became larger he would venture away from the home. Sometimes he would even take him on visits to a neighboring farm, and in this way he became acquainted with two little boys. It was through this that Jiggs displayed almost human intelligence and emotions. The eldest boy, a lad of about five or six was frightened of the animal's huge size. He hit it with a stick whenever it came near. The moose, still a tiny animal was unable to protect himself, and used to run away whenever he saw the little boy. A little later, however, when the moose became larger and stronger, his dislike of the little boy became very noticeable.

No longer afraid, he would charge the boy whenever he saw him and soon made the boy so frightened that he would run to the house whenever the moose was near. The other little boy, however, was a mere baby, and was not afraid of or to hurt the animal. The result was when the baby started to play the moose would come to life. Face and when the child was sitting down and on the floor would run or get past him he would walk over him, but his big hoofs very carefully so as not to hurt so much as a hair on the baby's head.

ACTIONS ALMOST HUMAN

Jiggs was always very positive in his likes and dislikes. He was on the farm he appointed himself special guardian of a litter of pups and he would allow no strangers to come near. One day a group of children came over to see the pups. They were playing with them with what was perhaps unintentional roughness and the pups objected with loud squeals. Suddenly Jiggs overheard and dashed to the rescue of the pups. Charging the little group he knocked one lad over and would have pawed him but the boy's father standing seized a stick and struck him. The father was not really mean to do permanent injury to the animal for he first struck him across the right eye, and unfortunately destroyed it. So that today Jiggs still bears the scar of his right eye, a mark of that occasion.

When Jiggs sets out on his long trip to Germany he will not be alone, but will be accompanied by others of his kind. Another of the Jasper, Otto and Albert, the last being in honor of his native province Alberta.

BARON REGRETS PARTING

The baron professes great regret at parting from the animal which he has had with him for 18 months. As for Jiggs, his devotion to his master has never wavered. While in the wild state he would follow the baron about for hours at a time, and still today he comes running at the sound of the master's voice.

However, the baron says he really does not think it a wise idea for anyone to attempt to raise in captivity animals as the moose which really belongs in a wild state. Besides becoming a menace to neighboring farmers, he says they may even be dangerous to people other than their masters for the moose, though it may be devoted to the person who has raised it never becomes entirely free of its instinctive fear of human beings, and may attack strangers. So that after it has become full grown or has reached the age of two years it is not a real danger to have about the farm.

NOTICE

First Edmonton Troop Boy Scouts and Cub Pack church parade Sunday morning, 10:30 sharp, at the First Presbyterian Church, 100 St. Dougan spoke to two of the groups on "Reincarnation and How to Serve Them."

IN MEMORIAM

He is not dead, our great
King George,
Who reigned so faithful,
kind and true;
He has only gone before,
A little while.
His suffering has ceased,
And with the setting of his sun,
The work he had to do is done.
We mourn.
God rest his soul in peace.
—June Birsett.

GIRL GUIDES TO WEAR MOURNING FOR KING GEORGE

Official telegraphic communication from Girl Guide Dominion headquarters in Toronto has come to the tribute to be paid by Girl Guides to their beloved sovereign George V has been received by provincial commissioner Mrs. E. C. Pardee, who asks all Guides and Guiders to observe the text of the message which is:

"All Guides and Guiders requested to wear official mourning bands for late King until July 20 or further notice. Cancel social functions until after funeral but continue regular Guide meetings, at which tribute should be paid to late sovereign."

Official mourning for Guiders is a three inch black band worn on the left arm above the elbow. For Girl Guides it is a two inch black band worn in the same position. For Brownies it is a one inch braid, worn on the right arm above the elbow.

C.G.I.T. Affairs

To celebrate the twenty-first anniversary of the C.G.I.T. movement in Canada, a campaign-of-age recreation for leaders, seniors and graduate girls is to be held at 7:30 on the evening of February 4 in the Dougal United church. Former provincial secretaries, past presidents and members of the girls' work board and former presidents of the leaders' and girls' council of the city have been invited to attend. An interesting program has been arranged, a feature of which will be a play with lantern slides depicting the founding of camp council at Kanota Beach and its progress since that time.

An intermediate reception has been arranged for the afternoon of Feb. 8 instead of Feb. 1, as reported. A similar program has been arranged for this occasion and a cake with twenty-one candles is to be lighted by Miss Joyce Lowe, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. McCrimmon (Mrs. Russell Lowe), one of the first organizers of the movement in Alberta.

The "Nothern Lights" intermediate group of Central United church held a successful skating party and skating party on Jan. 14th.

Another intermediate group at this church are busily making silhouettes and dressing boudoir dolls as Christmas presents for their mothers. They are more inclined to handiwork "or a group dance to be held March 11th. They are also carrying out a splendid project under the guidance of their leader, Miss Isobel Dickie.

At the weekly meeting of the senior "Treasure Seekers" group of Miss McGee, their leader, led the girls in a devotional on "Character." They are planning to make a quilt to be donated to the Lamont hospital as their next project. A short period was spent in the study of Indian missions among Canada and then the meeting closed with taps.

On Dec. 16th the Stony Plain Kee-Am group presented a Christmas program. Following a song of welcome, a little girl dressed as Santa Claus added her greetings. Three plays, "Our Hat," "Katharine Lee" and "Michael" were acted by the girls. During the intermission the president expressed the thanks of the group members to their friends for their support. During a campfire scene, C.G. I. T.s in uniform sang favorite C.G.I.T. songs. Four girls in costume sang a couple of German songs. Carol singing came next and "Michael" was again the outstanding number, a dramatization of the play, "The Shepherd Who Did Not Go."

At their weekly meeting on Jan. 13, Miss Gertrude Clarke, the guest speaker, gave an interesting talk on proper diets and gave a practical demonstration of how to set a tray for a sick person. Miss L. Gainer led in games, and Hilda Fisk in a jolly sing-song.

At a more recent meeting on Jan. 20, after a joint devotional and business period the group dispersed for their separate meetings. Miss G.

Limerick Contest

The Bulletin Limerick Contest is fast becoming one of the most popular contests of its kind ever held. Entries are pouring into the Bulletin office every day. This week twice as many entries were received as last week and considering the large number received last week that means plenty of entries.

Answers to the limerick have been received from points all over Alberta and from British Columbia and Saskatchewan. There were many good answers sent in to the editor. The best answer was sent in by F. Major Newson, age 16 years of 11032 88 avenue, Edmonton, who receives the one dollar prize. His answer is printed below.

This week another unfinished Limerick appears for Bulletin readers to complete. It is easy and every boy and girl can compete for the one dollar prize ($1.00) offered.

All you have to do is to complete the last line.

THE PRIZE WINNER

There was a young man of Bengal
Who went to a fancy dress ball
He went just for fun
Dressed up as a bun
And brought fun in a-bun-dance for all.

THE UNFINISHED ONE

Said a scholarly fellow of Siam
I frequently read Omar Khayyam
His morals deprave
But, nevertheless

Besides the winning answer there were several exceptionally good answers sent in by other contestants. Among those who deserve honorable mention are the answers of, Loraine Murphy, Dorothy Briggs, Harold Treadhill, Marjorie Gahan, George Bull, all of Edmonton; Stanley Cockroft, Lamont; Lorie Payne of Red Deer; Dorothy Irving, Gibbons; Victoria Isset, Colinton; Rosemary Carroll, Leduc; Jean Thompson, Lloydminster, Saskatchewan; Clayton Purdy, Hanna.

The rules are simple:

1.—Anyone who is under 22 years of age and not employed by the Bulletin or directly related to a Bulletin employee may enter.

2.—Write your answer on a sheet of paper and mail it or bring it in to the Bulletin office before Thursday noon of each week. If mailing it, address it to, The Editor, Edmonton Bulletin, Young People's Page.

3.—State your age and enter only one answer each week.

4.—The winner will receive a money order for $1.00.

5.—The editor's decision is final.

6.—In case of a tie the first answer in will win the prize.

VICTORIA HIGH WILL PRESENT ANNUAL PLAY

Rehearsals for the Victoria High School annual play are in full swing. "The Late Christopher Bean" by Sidney Howard, is being presented under the able direction of Miss Eva Howard. The cast is as follows: Abby, Gwendolyn Sellar; Mrs. Haggett, Barbara Casey; Susan Haggett, Marguerite Clifton; Ida Haggett, Elsie Clouston; Dr. Haggett, Gordon Burton; Warren, Joe Eastwood, Davenport, John Taylor; Ireland, David Kline; Rosen, Arthur Samuels.

Tournament is being held by the chess and checker club. Winners' names are to be engraved on the new cup donated by Jackson Bros.

This year the I.O.D.E., instead of giving a cash prize to the students who gained one-hundred per cent. in one or more subjects in the June examinations, gave instead a group of pictures to the school as a whole. Victoria and Eastwood were the recipients of the pictures.

The Public Speaking and Debating Club is holding semi-finals to choose names are to be engraved on the Henry Shield for debating.

Victoria's annual poetry contest is getting underway, so all the budding young poets are scribbling away for the prize money.

The school library at Victoria has several new magazines this year: "Screen Romances," "Magazine Digest," and "Science of America."

The teachers at Victoria enjoyed a visit from the school inspectors last week. The students had ample scope for revenge.

The archiopteryx, a bird of prehistoric times, had fingers on its wings, a flexible tail with feathers down each side, and teeth set in sockets.

Y.M.C.A. HOLD TOURNAMENTS IN MAIN GYM

Seven Teams Enjoy Competition Night Wednesday

Wednesday night was tournament night for the boys' department at the Y.M.C.A. Seven teams of enthusiastic youngsters gathered together, after separate supper meetings, in the main gym of the Y.M.C.A. to engage in the tournament events.

The first event of the evening was the basketball throw which was closely contested and finally resulted in victory for the Apaches. Benny Clarke and Bill Watson took the honors with a record of 8 points out of a possible 120, ten points being allotted for each throw.

The chess tournament held in one of the second floor club rooms resulted in Colin Ross of the Apaches, eliminating George Nakamura of the Eagles, in the final draw. The game was close and several spectators watched with interest to see who would make the decisive play that would determine which way the game would turn.

In the checker contest Bob Mountford of the Apaches defeated Bob Robertson of the Apaches. It was closely contested and was conducted under the rules of the caution displayed by both players who are seasoned veterans of the game.

The ping pong tournament attracted considerable attention and great skill was shown by the players. The games were fast and furious. Gene Rollinger of the Apaches was successful in conquering Bill Furman of the Aces. Until the last few shots the score was close and many times it was difficult to know who would win.

The billiard tournament completed the list of games entered into by the various groups. Joe Driscoll and Bob Albright of the Apaches were "King of the Cues" making a two man team that no other team could beat. The winners easily eliminated all competitors eliminating members of the six other teams. At no time was there any danger of them meeting with defeat.

The undisputed champions of the night who won ice cream dixie cups were the Apaches, successful contenders in four of the five tournaments.

Y.W.C.A. Doings

Business girls of the Y.W.C.A. are preparing for the annual "Birthday Tea" to be held on February 15. The Beta Pi Gamma club have charge of this affair. A gift sale which will be sent to groups all over the city in preparation for this big event. Miss Jean Sullivan and Miss Pearl Topolnisky are joint conveners of this committee. The Gay Lee club will again undertake the serving of tea in the balcony under the supervision of Miss Margaret Dunn.

The residence girls' club held a "movie night" in the Y.W.C.A. club room on Thursday evening, Jan. 23. Guests are invited and refreshments will be served by the committee in charge.

Contract bridge lessons and the making of rompers for gym classes is a full program for the Cheery Hour group of the Y.W.C.A. this week. Classes on Tuesday, January 28. Beta Pi Gamma and Merry Makers club will note this fact.

A movie party has been planned around the theme "Be Sure Your Lucky Star" to take place in the Y.W.C.A. on Monday night, Feb. 10. The Beta Pi Gamma club will be hostesses on this occasion.

Young People's Debate Won By Metropolitan

In the interdenominational Young People's Board debating tangle of this week, the orators of Metropolitan United Young People's debated the upper hand of the First Presbyterian on the subject, "Resolved that the sales tax is a fair method of raising provincial revenue."

The winners supported the Federal government, taking the affirmative. The debaters were Ivor Gregory Thorsen and Arnold Bartlett. Blake Mackenzie and Drucilla Adams spoke for First Presbyterian. Judges were Ed. Brice, Rev. T. B. McDonnand and A. D. Rickard. Cuthbertson acted as chairman. Bernard Fraser is convener of the debating league. Further debates will follow.

SCOUT TEAMS ARE STRIVING HARD TO MAKE PLAY-OFFS

Scout hockey league is getting down to final stages, according to Manager Jim Allard, who announces that the play-offs of the semi-finals and the junior section will commence January 20 at the stadium, with First, Sixth, Tenth and Thirteenth troops all fighting for a berth in the finals.

The senior league carries on to the fifth of February. The 52nd troop now leads the Sixth by two points in this division. The seniors fight for the K. Clarke cup, and the juniors for the cup presented by the Sixth parents' association.

Girl Guides Are Making Progress With Badge Work

One of the favorite pastimes of Edmonton Girl Guides is working on the various projects for which badges are granted as a mark of achievement of excellence in the chosen field.

Two companies which announce awards of badges recently are the Fourth of All Saints, under Captain Gwen Mullen, and the St. Stephen's company under Captain Kathleen Whittaker.

Fourth company awards are: Book-lovers, Phyllis Owen, Bessie Smith, Janet Martin, and Doris Lawrence; domestic service, Bessie Smith, Janet Martin, Margaret Don, Vera Bradshaw, and Elizabeth Jackson.

St. Stephen's Guides adding to their badges were: Joyce Mathers, second class; Marylla Fleming, scribe, writer and book lover; Yvonne Bess, book lover; Edna Kelly and Joan Gordon, cook; Doreen Mackereth, book-lover, and second class.

Plans To Form Mentors' Club Now Under Way

Edmonton Tuxis mentors will meet at St. Stephen's College next Wednesday evening at 6:15 for a supper meeting with a view to organization of a mentors' club to meet regularly for discussion and leadership purposes.

Assistance to this project has been offered by students attending the university who are graduate Tuxis. They will assist with leadership and will be under the direction of Gordon Finlay. Herb Allison, chairman of the Edmonton Boys' Work Board, is deeply inside and finance campaign plans will be discussed.

YOUTHS CONDUCT SERVICE

BAWLF, Jan. 25.—The Sunday evening service of the United church was taken by the young men. Douglas Carr and James Stewart gave briefly a discussion on the church's relation to the unemployed question.

Colin Graham gave a talk on "Fanny Crosby," the hymn writer, and Robt. McIlveen on "Current Events."

STRONG CAST FOR MIKADO AT VARSITY

Students Progress With Rehearsals For Operetta

With a cast headed by those talented singers who contributed to the success of "H.M.S Pinafore" last year, the University of Alberta Philharmonic Society will present Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera, "The Mikado", on February 7 and 8, at Convocation hall.

Leading male tenor of the operetta, taking the part of the love-sick Nanki Poo, is Jacques Sylvestre who last year took the leading role in Pinafore.

Playing the leading feminine role is Miss Margaret Hutton, accomplished soprano, who is a University of Alberta student. A strong cast supports these principals, backed by a chorus of 40 voices, all students at the university. An orchestra of 20 pieces, conducted by Harry Prevey, will supply accompaniment and instrumental numbers.

W. G. Stillman plays the part of Ko-Ko, the Lord High Executioner, and is expected to render a performance as pleasing as his part in Pinafore, in which he played The Admiral.

Miss Hutton, who plays Yum Yum, of the "Three Little Maids", is flanked by Robert Collins as "Peep Bo" and Marguerite Bailey as "Pitti Sing".

Other parts are played by Ronald Graham as Pooh Bah, James Saks as Pish Tush, John Bradley as the Mikado and Lillian Bowley as Katisha. Miss Bowley played Buttercup in Pinafore.

Director of singing is Mrs. Tom Gardiner, and Tom Dalkin is director of dramatics.

Victoria Enjoys Golfing Weather

VICTORIA, Jan. 25.—While Eastern Canada and the prairies were shivering Thursday and Friday, Victorians were enjoying some of the best golfing weather of the winter, with bright sunshine and the temperature running from 48 to 50 above. All five golf courses were crowded and tennis enthusiasts took full advantage of the summer-like weather.

Woman Arrested

TORONTO, Jan. 25.—Mrs. Annie Popiak was arrested here Friday after she allegedly walked into the store of her husband, Nick Popiak, and threw a milk bottle containing acid into his face, inflicting severe burns.

The Debunker

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph.D.

Many persons believe that arteries carry red blood and veins carry blue blood. However, if they should cut a blood vessel they would not be able to tell whether it was a vein or an artery, if they tried to judge by the color, for there is no difference that is noticeable. The veins lie closer to the surface of the skin and thus appear as dark lines under the skin, but they really are not blue at all. All blood is red. The brightest red is the blood immediately after leaving the lungs, when it has been aerated, and it leaves the lungs by way of veins.

AUTOISTS MAY PURCHASE GAS LATE AT NIGHT

Police Permit Plan Finally Adopted by Council Friday

Police permit plan making possible purchase of gasoline in cases of emergency after the closing hour for service stations was adopted by city council Friday night, when third reading was given an amendment to the gasoline bylaw.

The original bylaw prevented purchase of gas after stations had closed at 8 p.m. in the winter months and 10 p.m. in the summer. The amendment provides that a motorist without gasoline may get a police permit to buy the fuel by telephoning the police department, which then contacts the service station and authorizes the sale of the amount required. A record of gasoline sold after hours must be kept by vendors.

Ald. R. E. Foote objected to the "red tape" regulations, urging aldermen to "have a little sense."

Three Convicted

ST. PAUL, Jan. 25. — A federal court jury late Friday convicted three defendants charged with conspiracy in the $200,000 Edward G. Bremer kidnapping.

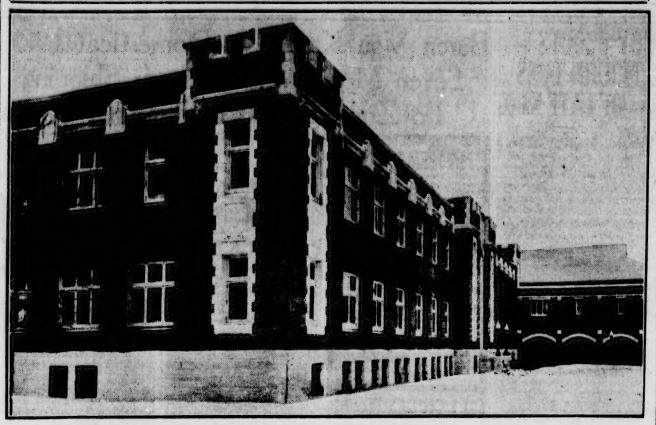
New Barracks-A City Under One Roof

THE NEW R.C.M.P. BARRACKS



WILLIAM G. BLAKEY, M.R.A.I.C., Architect H. G. MACDONALD & CO. General Contractors.

New Quarters For Mounties Modern, Compact, Complete

Up-to-date R.C.M.P. Building is Air Conditioned and Equipped With Newest Devices for Improvement

Housing 5,000 square feet of gymnasium floor, a thirty-car garage, decorated with polished tile and marble and spreading out over a city block, the new Royal Canadian Mounted Police barracks, facing Grierson avenue in Edmonton's east end, hung out the welcome mat this week for the men and officers under command of Assistant Commissioner H. M. Newson, chief of "K" division.

Erected at a cost of $250,000, the new barracks is a home away from home, complete in every detail, for the red-coated men of the federal law force.

Built onto the west end of the old barracks, the new structure provides the Mounties with a city block of offices, store rooms, stables, officers' residences, garages, parade square, cell blocks, gym, badminton courts and living quarters.

Back of the new building, a skating rink has been set up.

WILL HOUSE AUTO FLEET

The cell blocks, which were first to go under construction when contractors went to work early in 1935, offices and the criminal identification bureau swallow up the greatest space on the ground floor.

Above the 30 car garage which is completely equipped to service the R. C. M. P. auto fleet, is the gymnasium with two badminton courts already having been marked out on part of its 5,000 square feet of floor space.

The basement houses the near block-long quarter master's store room and shooting gallery where the men keep their eyes and arms in shape so Hollywood can continue to turn out its "get your man" epics.

AIR-CONDITIONED BARRACKS

The barracks are air conditioned, equipped with automatic drinking fountains, heated by a central plant midway between the old and new barracks and supplied with a "singing" alarm system. The "singing" signal bells chime sweetly, arousing the men in peace and comfort instead of being "jumped out of their shoes" by the harsh and strident clang of the usual call bell system.

Modern, roomy, attractive, the new barracks boast the newest of equipment from the drain pipes far underground to the flag pole which tops its roof.

Electrical engineers of the S. E. Noble Electric installed the wires, cables, panel boards, signalling equipment and lighting fixtures, using Canadian General Electric and Northern Electric Company equipment.

LOCAL FIRMS DID WORK

Plumbing, heating, stoker and air conditioning equipment was put in by the Lockerbie and Hole organization, while the marble tile and terrazzo which face the corridors, halls and stairways of the new barracks were supplied by the Empire Marble and Tile.

Pilkington Brothers (Canada) Limited, installed all glazz in the building.

If it's new in the building line, tested and proved to be good, it'll be found in the new barracks.

The most up-to-date building in the city, it combines beauty with utility, comfort, convenience and safety.

Fire-proof, air conditioned, heated by either gas or coal, equipped with direct and indirect illumination, it is as new as tomorrow and as modern as next year's automobile models.

No Friends At Court! But Farm Women Stand Staunchly Behind Policies

Listening in on the deliberations of the United Farm Women of Alberta for almost a full week, one is convinced that in spite of the fact that today they have no representative in the provincial government, they are certainly not a mere cipher in the present political puzzle. There was no dissenting voice to the resolution that they maintain their political activity, from as well over the 100 women from the farms and country districts all over Alberta at the conference. Largely, they attended the conference independently. With the fire of past achievements adding to their zeal, they will keep the flame high for the policies which they have studied to be of benefit to the women of the province, considering first of all the women in rural constituencies.

Leading health and educational measures, and establishment of the Mons Service Bureau have risen among their banner achievements, for these have united the women of the province in common interest for the public good.

STAND FAST IN POLICIES

In the passing of their resolutions, although, as it has been stated, they have "no friend at court," they have continued to remind the new Social Credit government of what has been gained for women in the past, with the admonishment that the government adhere to its promise for progression in these instances. They stand on guard for the protection of debtors, until the payment of basic dividends can be made use of by indigents.

On Friday afternoon they passed a resolution asking that the government reinstate the Women's Home Bureau — recently discontinued — which is of infinite service to the women in remote districts. This resolution will be forwarded to other women's organizations. Regarding education, they ask that the fees for Normal School training and University tuition be reduced to enable clever young people from the farms to receive higher education, or suggest that a system of scholarship awards be made for rural students. A further resolution regarding the probation term for Normal students, to test their gift to impart knowledge, fondness for children, attributes of personality and academic standing, was disqualified as not applicable.

Regarding the suggestion that the study of social science be placed on the school curriculum, the conference expressed themselves to be in accord with the new curriculum as it stands, expressing their approbation of the new experiments and hoping sincerely for their success.

It was unanimously passed that the government be asked to delete clauses eight, 29, 139 and 140 from the Conscription Act, compelling young men to go to war.

CHAMPIONS OF MOTHERS' BENEFIT FUND

A further resolution asking that the provincial government should provide a maternity benefit fund for the care of expectant mothers was also unanimously agreed upon. So also was the request that the government should continue to provide for the farm women's rest week.

The meeting unanimously supported the former resolution of the U.F.W.A. regarding the establishment of family limitation (birth control) clinics.

They will continue in the publication of the Farm Women's Bulletin and the circulation of book reviews on the volumes contained in the Frances Bateman Memorial Library in Calgary. That with the U.F.A. they should continue in all branches of activities, was also unanimously passed.

The afternoon and concluding session was introduced by Mrs. George Banner of Dowling, who as convener of health, spoke to her report. Mrs. Banner mentioned particularly that maternity benefit is needed in the country, and advocated that health service should be complete, for the sake of poverty.

Dr. Harold Orr gave a most instructive address on tuberculosis disease. In Alberta the percentage is comparatively low in relation to the statistics on social diseases compiled in larger centres. The government wages an exhaustive campaign educationally for protection and control of diseases. Dr. Orr discussed symptoms and cures in detail at the meeting, which was considered to be of educational benefit.

Mrs. Robert Price, as president, who has so capably led the activities of the U.F.W.A. through years of fortune and power, and as staunchly in time of political defeat, occupied the chair at the meetings, and with her keen minded guidance directed the course of all business procedure.

Greetings from the sister association in Saskatchewan were conveyed to the conference by Mrs. A. McNeal who has been a leader in the prairie provinces among women in politics.

On Friday evening the farm women joined the U.F.A. in a social evening and dance held in the Masonic Temple ball room.

"Y" Notebook

Foreign work of the Y.W.C.A. in China has always been a special concern of the girls and women who attend the Sunday vesper service held in the "Y" club room, for each week a collection has been taken for this purpose. This Sunday a special feature of the vesper service will be the gift of silver, which will later be presented in a velvet purse, along with similar gifts, at the "Y" birthday tea arranged for Saturday, February 1.

The program this week includes a review of the "Life of Mary Webb" by Mrs. S. W. Dyde. Mrs. James Adam will preside and the soloist, Mrs. H. Hamilton Lee, will be accompanied Mrs. Jean Saigeon

Lends Patronage To Provincial Guild

wife of the Hon. William Aberhart, who as honorary president of the provincial executive of the Canadian Handicraft Guild has gracefully consented to lend her patronage to the many interests of Guild members in the home arts and crafts of Alberta.

Grand Challenge Winner In 'Spiel Is Mrs. Husel

Mrs. H. L. Husel, veteran curler of many women's bonspiels, on Friday evening won the Grand Challenge in the Northern Alberta Women's 'spiel, played this week, in the finals at the Royal rink. By the distinction of adding the Grand Challenge to her record, for a 26 points winner in 1934 she exceeded all previous records in men's or women's bonspiels with a score of 45 points. On Mrs. Husel's rink were Mrs. Day, Mrs. Flavin and Mrs. Cairns, all playing splendid games to defeat Mrs. Michaels of the Royal with a 16-6 score. On Mrs. Michaels' rink were Mrs. Wolfe, Mrs. MacMillan and Mrs. Janes.

Additional news regarding the finals in the women's 'spiel is published on the Sports Page of The Bulletin.

Mrs. Husel

Kirkpatrick, Mrs. F. G. Forster and Mrs. M. McCannel are in charge of the social hour when all girls are welcome to remain to tea. Tea service commences at 4:30 o'clock.

VISITOR TELLS OF NEW LIFE IN YOUTH ALIYAH

Vivid description of the dull and futureless life that would be the lot of Jewish people in Germany, were there not a Palestine, a "promised land" in which they are enabled to establish new life and new hope, was presented by Mrs. Levy Stein in a brief address to the Edmonton Hadassah, in the Talmud Torah Hall on Friday evening. Mrs. Stein, who is the wife of the distinguished Rabbi Stein of Berlin, is a guest at the Macdonald hotel in Edmonton in the course of a tour in the interests of the Zionist movement.

Provincial Craft Work Is Reviewed

Frim Milk River in the south to Fort McMurray in the north, Alberta handicraft workers, through the medium of the provincial council, have enjoyed the most pleasant relationship and co-operation with one another in the last year, stated Miss Jessie F. Montgomery, president of the provincial branch, Canadian Handicraft Guild, who was unanimously returned to office at the annual meeting in the Hudsonia on Friday afternoon. In response to questions information regarding the spinning and weaving of home grown wool, home tanning of skins, care of angora rabbits, quilt making, and many other branches of craftwork, has been gladly exchanged.

In her report Miss Montgomery included a most comprehensive survey of activities in 1935. Exhibits, competitions, lectures and radio broadcasts have kept interest alive and cemented contacts with rural organizations.

People all over the province want to be taught and there is a demand for instruction and assistance necessitates a program of even greater expansion and progression in coming year. To this end Miss Montgomery met with the executives of the Women's Institutes and of the U.F.W.A. to discuss possibilities of closer co-operation in mutual help in the study of handicraft work. A series of talks under the general title, "Craftwork All" which had great were given over the foothills network of the C.R.C. by Edmonton members, will be broadcast in the first three months of 1936 by members of the Calgary branch. Subjects will be "The Need for Handicrafts in our Modern Existence," "Primitive Metal Work as an Inspiration for Modern Work," "Old World Art," "Modern Metal Craft," "Pottery and Tiles," "Hand Blocked Textiles," "Gesso Work" and "Plastics as a Modern Medium for Craft Work."

With members of the provincial executive speakers in these programs will be Mrs. Edward Underwood and Mr. W. T. Henry of Edmonton and Mrs. Dan Der Linder, Miss Geneva Lent, Mrs. W. Shaw and Miss Nora Scott of Calgary.

MANY SEE EXHIBIT

Last year a travelling exhibition assembled by the provincial committee and directed by Mr. H. L. Carpenter of the Institute of Technology and Art, Calgary, working under the Carnegie Corp. of the Department of Extension at the University, visited 26 centres in southern Alberta and was attended by 12,232 people. Major Norbury was the lecturer. A similar exhibit for 1936 has already been assembled and will also tour the Peace River district this year.

Details of a competition for a monogram to be used by the provincial committee will be announced later.

The newly organized Lethbridge branch, welcomed to the guild this year, has already done considerable work with Mrs. G. C. Cops as president, it was reported. Membership included 37 members. While the McLeod branch, which has reaffiliated with 29 members, has carried its activities to the embroidery and stencilling of Miss Annora Brown's Alberta designs. In addition, an exhibition of school children's handiwork is arranged to be held during the May 24 week in Calgary as in Edmonton, exhibitions, lectures, demonstration classes and radio broadcasts have been sponsored in the last year.

PATRONS AND DIRECTORS

Mrs. W. L. Walsh has given her patronage to the provincial branch for 1936, and Mrs. William Aberhart has been named patroness of the Women's Section of the provincial executive, with Mrs. R. Kerr, as past president; Mrs. A. E. Ottewell, as secretary treasurer, and Mrs. Wm. Wills of Calgary, as first vice president, were all returned to office by acclamation. Executive and standing committees elected were, Mrs. Edward Underwood; second Mrs. G. C. Monton and Mrs. Dan Der Linder, third; Mrs. D. R. McIver of Stettler, fourth, and Mrs. G. R. Davis of McLeod, fifth.

The next annual meeting of the provincial branch will take place in January, 1937, at Calgary.

In deference and respect to his late Majesty, King George, on Tuesday at the time of his funeral all drill at the city curling rinks including the Royal, Edmonton, Thistle, Granite, Strathcona and the 'Scona, have been postponed.

Little Theatre Lecture Plans Are Revised

The enrollment for the Little theatre's lecture course, being given in co-operation with the University Extension department, continues to increase, having now one hundred and fifty, in order to accommodate this number, it has been decided to alter the arrangements once more. There will be one big class, instead of two, and it will meet in the main hall of the Talmud Torah, commencing Monday, January 27. The first lecture will start at 7.30 sharp, and students are urged to be in their seats before that time. The second lecture will commence at 9 o'clock.

IT WAS one of the most sensible votes of thanks ever proposed, we thought, listening to the finale of the meeting of the Frivolity club held in the house of Miss Marjorie Sproule this week. Celebration of the tenth anniversary of Les Bonnes Amies will be an event of interest shortly when the club will mark its birthday by presenting in Edmonton a French play, "Les Rantzau." Known as one of the most powerful of French dramas, the play won awarded first prize in the French section of the Dominion Dramatic Festival of 1933, and since then has met with repeated success on the professional and amateur stages of Ontario and Quebec. The cast, which has been carefully selected, comprises the best talent among the French actors in Edmonton, and rehearsals will commence shortly, under the direction of Mr. J. L. Picard.

Resuming their social activities under the direction of a new executive, members of the Chiquita B. L. club entertained at a "guest" bridge party in the home of Mrs. M. Newman recently. Honors went to Miss Hilda Waters, Miss Norine Pepper and Miss Amy Flow-

Parents Have No Right To Dictate Vocations

DEAR MISS DIX—When it came time for me to choose a career my father informed me that I would be trained for a school teacher. My natural talents follow the line of journalism and dramatics, but these my father scoffs at. Reluctantly I became a teacher, a poor one whose heart was not in her work.

Dorothy Dix

Now after three years at this occupation I am a complete nervous wreck. My father blames me unjustly for my failure. I am so miserable and hounded by an encouraged inferiority complex that at 23 my life is in ruins. My 17-year-old sister is now grappling with the same hard problem. She desires to enter a business career, but because of our father's domineering will she must train for a nurse, though the odor of a hospital repels her and she faints at the sight of blood.

Our father is breaking our hearts and our spirits, and we are breaking his. He believes us to be ill-born, ungrateful, children and we think him lacking in understanding. Which of us is right, and what can we do about it?

MARY.

Answer: Probably no other one thing has done more harm in the world than the colonial conceit of parents which makes them think they have a right to play the part of God to their children and decide their fates. Somehow they seem to overlook that with the advent of the first baby they are endowed with Almighty wisdom and become perfectly capable of directing and shaping the whole career of the life that has come into their hands. For the slogan by which most families are reared, and by which every child's efforts at expressing its own individuality is beaten down is: "Father and Mother know best."

Innumerable fathers have forced dreamers into business, made lawyers and preachers of dummies and turned boys who would have been great writers, artists or musicians into poor green grocers' clerks, all because Father thought he had a right to decide his children's lives for them.

That is what your father is doing. There is no greater crime that any man can commit because the round peg never fits into the square hole. People who are forced to do what nature never intended them to do are nearly always failures. The greatest happiness that any of us get is in following some congenial occupation and doing the thing we enjoy doing.

In your particular case the way out is plain if you have strength enough to follow it. Go on with your teaching and try to find out whether you have the ability to write or not. Just wanting to do it isn't enough. You have to have a talent for it. And you can give yourself a tryout while you are still teaching. The schoolroom and its experiences will give you an invaluable background, as was proved in the case of a girl called Myra Kelly, who was a teacher and who wrote such tender and humorous stories about the children she taught that she was fast growing famous when she, unfortunately for the world, died. It is a big field and one virtually untouched.

As for your sister, the first time she faints in an operating room will end her career as a nurse and leave the way open for her to go into business as she desires.

DOROTHY DIX.

What To Do

Somewhere, somebody is always having a birthday; and with St. Valentine's Day in the offing, either of these parties will be all the brighter if burning heart candles shine on the cakes. So that the hearts cannot melt all too quickly, they now come made with a slow-burning, heart-shaped shell which maintains its shape while the inside slowly lowers away. They are smokeless, odorless, dripless and long-burning and come in a variety of lovely colors. To make them sit straight on the cake they are supplied with spiked ends, so there is no need of holders.

Why not make a real sensation at your Valentine party and serve each guest with an individual cake decorated with a burning heart? And at the next birthday celebration—why not hear the oh's and ah's when all the lights are turned down and the cake comes to the table with hearts blazing stop?

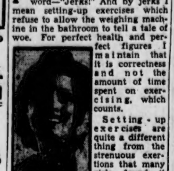
How I Keep My Figure

By CONCHITA MONTENEGRO



Conchita Montenegro

I CAN answer this question in one word—"Jerks!" And by jerks I mean setting-up exercises which refuse to allow the weighing machine in the bathroom to tell a tale of woe. For perfect health and perfect figures I maintain that it is correctness and not the amount of time spent on exercising, which counts.

Setting-up exercises are quite a different thing from the strenuous exercises that many girls found it necessary to do when they tried to turn normal figures into something only a trifle more than skin and bone.

The new type of "Jerks" aims at creating the suppleness which makes one graceful, at normalizing one's circulation and general health, and at putting the feminine curves in their correct places.

I begin my daily dozen in front of an open window. First, deep-breathing exercises. You've heard that hint before? Well, do you obey the rule properly? It's no good sniffing a little extra air. Stand firmly on both feet. Put your hands on your hips. Throw back your head. Breathe slowly and deeply, through the nose, with your lips tightly closed. Those waist muscles will take on new firmness. There will be no ugly increase below them. Repeat this exercise seven or eight times.

Now, what about bending down and touching the toes a dozen times, keeping your knees stiff? Do it thoroughly and correctly. Keep your heels together, hands raised above the head. Don't poke your head forward. And put all the swing you possess into the movement. If you find it difficult to touch your toes at first, begin by standing with the feet astride.

The next exercise is a more restful one. Sit on the floor with feet stretched out straight in front of you, heels together and knees pressed down. Raise the arms above your head. Swing forward, not too quickly, until you can touch your toes, without letting your knees lift off the floor. Rolls of fat can be vanquished with this exercise.

Now this is where I turn on my radio or phonograph and practice dance steps for ten minutes. It may be some intricate I am trying to master for a new picture. It may be a dance in which I want to keep up to date by sheer practice of the steps. If you can't dance—don't worry. Tuck your elbows lightly in to your waist, keep your hands loosely closed and run on tiptoes, while standing on the same spot. Lift your knees high, keep your toes pointed. Or you can skip with a rope to the music. You can even dance, run or skip without the music. But somehow this helps to invigorate the mind as well as the body.

Now how about a warm shower and a good breakfast? And how about that lovely feeling that never will you suffer from a "middle-age" spread!

Monday—June Lang.

Fashion Sponsors Matching Crotcheted Accessories

What little effort it takes for the woman who crochets to be in style today! Fashion declares accessories should match—that they should be crocheted to be smart. So, with a little time—a little wool and this Alice Brooks Pattern 5236, the crocheter is on her way to follow Fashion's dictates. The kerchief—it's one of those that button in back instead of tying, thus doing away with bulkiness—and the belt will transform that last season's dress; the beret will make them harmonize with coat or jacket. This set, as good for spring as for winter, is very gay in the threes colors that form the plaid. The darker color forms a band that is enhanced by narrow rows of spoon stitch. This set, an original Alice Brooks model, is available only in this pattern. In it you are given detailed directions and charts for making the set, an illustration of it and of all stitches needed and wool requirements. Send 20 cents for Pattern 5236 to the Household Arts Department of The Edmonton Bulletin.

No Use Blaming Fat On Family Heritage

By GLADYS GLAD

DEANE JANIS

In this highly modernized country of ours, people usually wait until they become ill, and then they pay physicians to cure their maladies and restore them to good health. Over in China, however, folk do things differently. They do not wait for illnesses to overtake them, but pay physicians to KEEP them well. They wisely prefer prevention to cure. In a somewhat similar fashion a good many women wait until they have become fat and shapeless before they think of doing anything about their figure lines.

Then there are a good many tubby damsels who blame their overweight on their family tree, and consequently do nothing about it. But such girls are just making poor excuses for their own laxness, "rationalizing" as it were. The amount of excess fat that a normally healthy female totes around with her hasn't much to do at all with heredity. Circumstances were. There's no doubt that tall parents often have tall children and short parents have short progeny. But the amount of fat draped on the torsos of those children is another matter altogether.

The girl who is overweight and wishes to reduce, but feels that she would be wasting her time by trying because Cousin Susie or Aunt Tess was fat, is just being dizzy. For if she wants to, she really can slenderize her silhouette. All she needs is a good dieting and exercising routine such as the one outlined in my "New Figure" booklet. If she adopts sane food habits and exercises properly she is bound to acquire a more attractive and youthful figure.

The exercising part is most important. For exercise not only breaks up fatty tissues and reduces weight, but also helps to mold the figure along harmonious lines. If your figure is beautifully proportioned, daily exercises will keep it that way, and that old standby, the bicycling exercise, is one of the best.

To execute this exercise, simply lie down on your back on the floor, and bring both of your legs up to your chest. Then make a complete forward circle with each leg, alternating first with one and then the other leg, in bicycle fashion. If you can get your back off the floor, as illustrated, and support your shoulders while doing this exercise, it will be all the more effective.

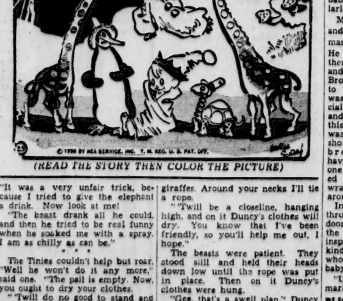
A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL. COCHRANE Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO



(READ THE STORY THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Poor Duncy sat upon the ground. The other Tinies raced around, all playing with the two giraffes, and having lots of fun.

All of a sudden Dotty said, "Why, look! Has Duncy lost his head? The lad is soaking wet. I wonder just how that was done."

"I'll tell you," Duncy snapped, from the hunter's house real quick. "The lad can wrap in it, while I am seeing that his clothes get dry. The two giraffes will help me with a plan that will work slick."

Soon Duncy was wrapped up all right. Then Scouty yelled, each all his might, "Come here, you two giraffes. Around your necks I'll tie a rope.

"'Twill be a closeline, hanging high, and on it Duncy's clothes will dry. You know I'm not unfriendly, so you'll help me out, I hope."

The beasts were patient. They stood still and held their heads down low until the rope was put in place. Then up in Duncy's clothes were hung.

"Gee, that's a swell plan," Duncy said. "My clothes are hanging overhead, and very shortly they'll be dry, as through the air they're swing."

(The hunter decides to leave the Tinies in the next story.)

"It was a very unfair trick, because I tried to give the elephant a drink. Now look at me!

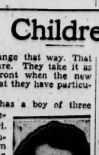
"The beast drank all he could, and then he tried to be real funny, when he soaked me with a spray. I am as chilly as can be."

The Tinies couldn't help but roar. "Well he won't do it any more," said one. "The pail is empty. Now, you ought to dry your clothes.

"'Twill do no good to stand and scold, 'cause if you do, you will catch cold. Just how you're going to dry out all your garments goodness knows."

"I have a plan," cried Scouty, "Gee, you always can leave things to me. Somebody get a blanket

Your Children — By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON



O. R. Barton

Men are strange that way. That is, some men are. They take it as a personal affront when the new baby is not what they have particularly ordered.

Mr. Brown has a boy of three and now he demanded a girl. He had six brothers of his own and the whole Brown line runs to males. This was to be a special order, a pink and white doll. this last one. He was going to have brothers and have at least one little darling to wrap his heart around.

Instead, as he looks grimly through the glass of the nursery door in the hospital, he sees in the tiny bed, wheeled close for inspection, another specimen of his kind; an unbeautiful one at that, who makes him think more of a baby sparrow than a human being.

"Ugly little devil, isn't he?" remarks Mr. Brown turning away.

BLIGHTING YOUNG LIVES

Of course, as the child grows older and becomes a fine manly little fellow, his father learns to love him almost as well as his brother. But underneath, he associates his disappointment with Bobby. Then in three years Betty is born. A round little dumpling who more than compensates for her sad day's former frustration.

From the very first he makes no bones about his preference. The boys instinctively step back to make place for the new queen. It is her ruination and theirs. Particularly Bobby's, because he has never been quite forgiven for being what he was.

And there is Mr. Smith, too, whose first-born just has to be a boy. In his case it goes deeper than the usual desire of first fathers, because Mr. Smith was a bachelor for years, of the misogynist type, afraid of women and most of their kind. He scarcely looks at his new daughter when her sex is announced, and plainly shows his wife his hurt.

MOTHERS SUFFER TORTURES

Like Mr. Brown, he softens up a little as the girl grows older, and all appears to be forgiven. Mr. Smith has convinced even himself that he feels entirely different. And when Teddy is born later, all the pent-up emotion he had been ready to shower on his first-born, gushes forth with double force toward this savior of his hopes. From the first his father is Teddy's slave.

All of which is unfortunate. Not a word may be spoken, yet the mother endures torture, and it is bad for the children. There follows, usually, a certain unbalance of justice, which children are quick to feel. It affects their attitude to family, and is the cause of much (otherwise unaccounted for) protective behavior. If not openly be-

Use Tomatoes Often For Their Vitamins

By MARY E. DAGUE

Sister Mary

Here are some suggestions for getting the benefit of tomatoes' vitamin C content. They'll help get them onto the menu at least four times a week.

Don't overlook the tomato juice cocktail for dinner, luncheon or breakfast. A little lemon juice, a few drops of tabasco sauce, onion juice or Worcestershire sauce add point to the drink.

Or stiffen the juice with gelatin and rice it over crisp toast or toasted crackers as an appetizer for luncheon or dinner. Minced parsley can be sprinkled over the tomato jelly or arranged to form a wreath of green around the rim.

JELLIED SALADS ARE POPULAR

Try serving jellied tomato salad between slices of pineapple, with mayonnaise masking the whole. Bananas are excellent with tomato jelly, too, cut in thick slices and molded in it, or alternating slices of banana to about ¾ inch thick and jelly the same thickness and shape. When a vegetable salad is wanted, such vegetables as celery, cabbage, raw turnips and cauliflower are piquant molded in the jelly.

Vegetables combine well with tomatoes. Put alternating layers of canned lima beans and tomatoes into a buttered baking dish. Cover the last layer with coarse buttered crumbs and bake it twenty-five minutes in a hot oven. Serve from the baking dish.

Salt codfish baked in tomato sauce is inviting for luncheon. The fish must be freshened over night in water to cover. Drain and simmer in fresh water until tender. Place in a buttered baking dish and sprinkle lightly with two tablespoons flour. Dot with bits of butter. Cover with two cups strained tomatoes and bake in a moderately hot oven. The tomato juice thickens during the baking and makes a sauce just thick enough to coat the fish.

CONCORDIA TOMATO ON TOAST

Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 onion sliced, 2 cups canned corn, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ pound sharp cheese.

Melt butter and add onion. Cook over a low fire until a pale straw color. Sift over flour and stir until perfectly blended and bubbly. Add tomatoes and corn and cook ten minutes, stirring until thick and smooth. Stir in cheese which has been grated or cut in very thin shavings. Cook and stir until cheese is melted. Serve on crisp toast.

A good way to use the coarse outer stalks of celery is in a combination dish.

COMBINATION DISH

One quart canned tomatoes 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 cups diced celery, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour.

Melt butter and stir in flour. Cook and stir until bubbly and flour is slightly browned. Add tomatoes, sugar, salt, pepper and celery and cook until celery is tender, about twenty minutes. Stir occasionally to prevent sticking. Serve with toast cubes sprinkled over the top of the dish.

Monday's Menu

BREAKFAST: Chilled tomato juice, cereal, cream, baked French toast, honey, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Anchovy potato cakes, lettuce sandwiches, ginger pudding, milk, tea.

For Bad Winter Coughs, Mix This Remedy Yourself

Saves Good Money! No Cooking!

If you want a splendid cough remedy, mix it at home, and you'll quickly get the way it takes hold of distressing coughs, giving quick relief, astonishing.

This simplified cure supplies you with a 2½ ounce bottle of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and add granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and the cup of water and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. Shake well and you'll find you four times as much cough medicine for your money—a real family supply. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

You'll be surprising how quickly this loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps to clear the air passages. This three-fold action explains why it relieves an annoying cough so fast.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine in concentrated form, a very reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

PAYMENT FOR ALDERMEN OF $500 FAVORED

Council Also Advocates Election of Mayor For Two-Year Term

City council Friday night adopted proposed charter amendments providing for payment of $500 a year to each alderman and the election of the mayor for a two-year period instead of for one year, as at present. These, along with other suggested amendments to Edmonton's charter, will be submitted to the provincial legislature for its approval at the forthcoming session.

Charter changes can only be made on the authorization of the legislature.

RINKING FUND

Another important amendment recommending the equalization of sinking fund payments over a 30-year period was tabled Friday night for further discussion at council's regular meeting next Monday.

Speaking to the charter amendment providing for an annual stipend of $500 for each alderman, Ald. Guy Patterson said he looked upon the plan as a means of repaying councillors for time lost in their business as a result of attendance at council meetings.

NOT NECESSARY

Ald. W. W. Clevely gave it as his opinion that an aldermanic salary would not be necessary if council left executive business in the hands of paid civic officials. "This would mean less work and fewer meetings for us," he said.

The question should be submitted to burgesses before such a plan was made effective, declared Ald. Chas. Gould.

Admitting that "a laborer is worthy of his hire," Ald. E. East nevertheless felt that the present was not a time for the creation of additional civic debt. Aldermen had agreed to give their services voluntarily, he said.

"NO PAY"

Ald. Jar. East claimed that under the present system it was a case of "work and no pay." For years he had taken the stand that councillors deserved remuneration for services rendered.

It was reported by City Solicitor Thomas Garside that Edmonton was the only large city west of the maritimes which did not give its aldermen a stipend.

The amendment was then adopted for submission to the legislature.

Support was also given the charter amendment providing for the election of the mayor for a two-year term instead of one year, as at present.

No action will be taken in this direction until electors have been given an opportunity of expressing their views on the proposal through the medium of a plebiscite.

Delegates Also Endorse by Resolution Handling of Coarse Grains by the Wheat Board.

Formation of compulsory wheat board by the Dominion government with organized agriculture represented thereon was vigorously advocated in a resolution endorsed at the 24th annual United Farmers of Alberta convention which concluded at the Masonic Temple on Friday.

The convention also endorsed resolutions seeking a minimum price for wheat, based on the cost of production, plus a reasonable profit and that the compulsory wheat board be permanent in character.

FIXED PRICE

Delegates also endorsed by way of resolution, the handling of coarse grains by the wheat board, with a minimum fixed price.

A resolution which would have asked the Dominion government to peg the price of wheat at $1 a bushel, on the basis of No. 1 Northern at Fort William, was tabled. This resolution was sponsored by the Lethbridge Dominion constituency association.

In another resolution the Dominion and provincial governments were asked to assume the total liability for relief seed grain and feed grain in croplens districts.

SCHEME TURNED DOWN

Endorsation was not forthcoming for a resolution advocating that the Alberta government probe the feasibility of a compulsory hail insurance scheme.

Another resolution asked the provincial government to advance all the seed grain required for the 1936 crop by needy farmers in northern frost belt districts. In the event of a crop failure again this year, the government would assume the loss on the seed supply.

The delegates went on record as being opposed to Fascism and war and in favor of the principles of the abolition of titles which had been re-instituted by the Bennett administration.

ROAD REPORT

The Alberta Motor Association road and weather report for Saturday indicates poor road conditions throughout the northern half of Alberta.

A detailed report is as follows:

4-DAY PARLEY CONCLUDED BY U.F.A. GROUP

Delegates Return to Various Homes Well Satisfied With Meet

Concluding a four-day convention here on Friday—the 28th in the history of the organization—delegates representing many U.F.A. locals returned to their homes in various parts of the province, well satisfied with the main issues of the convention. This decision was to continue a direct policy of political action as an autonomous unit within the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation.

One of the last resolutions adopted by the convention before adjournment was that to bring the rural U.F.A. units of farmer co-operation with urban C.C.F. activities.

WELCOMES CLUBS

The resolution declared that the U.F.A. welcomes the forming of C.C.F. clubs among the people of the towns and villages of Alberta as a means of bringing about effective co-operation within the federation between urban and rural communities.

A feature of the convention was the fact that prior to adjournment the agenda had been cleared of resolutions, a fact which J. K. Sutherland said he could not remember being equalled in 20 years. Another member of the central board called out to him that twice before this had been done, but Mr. Sutherland was not convinced. Twenty-five resolutions were passed on Friday afternoon.

In support of the C.C.F. clubs resolution, E. J. Garland, former U.F.A. member for Bow River, said it was erroneous to believe the C.C.F. was not in the provincial field.

FEATURE OF FUTURE

"You are in the C.C.F. provincially," declared Mr. Garland, "and while no provincial platform had yet been adopted for the C.C.F. this would be a feature of the near future. It was vital, he said, for the U.F.A. to advance its support of policies of all phases, Dominion, provincial and municipal.

In its concluding session on Friday, the convention wiped away resolutions off the agenda, endorsing most and rejecting, or tabling the rest.

The convention reaffirmed the U.F.A. platform of public ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange where monopoly exists and of co-operative effort where competition prevails.

IT'S GETTING COLDER FAST

For cold weather, Edmonton was hitting right along in the big chill-league with points in the far north Saturday.

From the high point of five above at 1:00 p.m. Friday the mercury slipped and kept right on falling, hour after hour, until it reached 21 below at 2:00 a.m. Saturday and then made a small jump to 20 below at 3:00 a.m. to 10 below where it stuck as far as 9:00 a.m.

Forecast for the week-end is "decidedly cold with probable snow flurries."

The average temperature Friday was six below compared with two below on January 24, 1935.

In the Yukon Athabasca won the mukluks and parka with a 38 below zero recording, the lowest in either the Peace River country or the upper Mackenzie valley, although Calling River, McMurray, Pelican and Moose River were all doing well with temperatures in the 25 below zero range.

Curtainless Beer Parlors Are Urged

Beer parlors in Alberta would be curtainless and there would be only one door—a front door—if members of one of the United Farm Women of Alberta had their way. A one-door beer parlor, with its window uncurtained would, it was declared, discourage young people from entering.

A resolution that hotel keepers be obliged to take such action came before the women's section at the annual farm convention here yesterday, but no action was taken on it.

School Boards Will Retain All Autonomous Rights

If his proposed revision of the Alberta school system is put into effect, local school boards will not be deprived of their autonomous rights, Premier William Aberhart declared on Saturday.

"There is no plan to take autonomous rights away from the local boards," he said.

He admitted that the formation of enlarged areas would result in five sub-committees being formed, but that the local boards still would exercise autonomy.

Scotsmen Cancel Burns Banquet

In homage to the memory of the late King George V the annual banquet of the Edmonton Burns Club, which had been scheduled to take place on Saturday evening, has been cancelled. Second in importance to Scotsmen only to New Year's Day, the Burns celebrations constitute a vital part of their lives.

But in token of tribute to the late King George, the Burns Club has cancelled its banquet for this year.

WORKS AGENT PROPOSED BY MAYOR CLARKE

Would Have Charge of Seniority List and Allotment of Labor

Appointment of a city employment agent for civic utility departments who would be responsible for seniority lists and the allotment of a fair division of work to all employes, is being proposed by Mayor Joseph A. Clarke, K.C. This recommendation will be dealt with at the regular meeting of city council, Monday.

DISSATISFACTION

The proposal follows reported protests from employes of the city engineering department, who claim that seniority has not been maintained in various works directed by this department. The foremen on the various divisions or branches of the engineer's department have practically been free to employ whom they like, with the result that considerable dissatisfaction has been caused. Numerous complaints have been made to me as chairman of the commission board," declared Mayor Clarke.

UNION PACTS

In his report, the mayor points out that union agreements covering working conditions for civic employes are due for revision, if so desired by the union, the period in which required changes must be made being from February 1 to 15.

With reference to the street railway motormen's dispute over split and night shifts, Mayor Clarke is recommending that motormen sign up for a whole run, and not half a run or less; also, that operators alternate between day and night runs. This would necessitate the addition of the motormen getting all the day work, and the other working the night runs.

RELIEF COSTS ARE $68,408 TO DATE, 1936

Edmonton's direct relief costs up till January 18 this year totalled $68,408 as compared to $69,807 for the corresponding period last year, Relief Manager H. F. McKee has reported to the city commission board.

Classification of relief issued follows: Married men and women, $67,085, $67,528 (last year); single women and girls, $1,353, $1,279 (last year).

For the first three weeks of this year the average weekly number of families on relief was 2,316 as against 2,160 in 1935, while the average for single women and girls was 127 as compared to 120 last year.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

The League Against War and Fascism is undertaking plans to distribute 100,000 anti-war ballots in a Canadian-wide Peace Poll.

Do you think that any useful purpose in such a move could be served at the present time? was the B.I.R.'s question to several citizens.

Here's the results:

JOSEPH T. BARRATT, Y.M.C.A. general secretary: "If you had asked me this year in January of 1914, I would have done so without hesitation; yet in August of the same year the war broke out.

"In peace time we see the necessity of peace but in the stress of war atmosphere our decision might be very different. However, the peace ballot is a good thing to show the nation's feeling on the subject and would indicate to the nation's Canada's desire for peace."

J. E. S. McClung, optometrist: "I am in favor of anything that works for world peace but I do not believe a peace ballot would give an accurate view of the situation now. The Italian-Ethiopian crisis has so colored the whole question of peace and war that your ballot would be more likely to indicate Communism and Fascist feeling in the country rather than pro-war and anti-war sentiment."

MAXWELL P. MARTIN, Honors History student: "The peace ballot is useful to crystalize public opinion and to make the individual take a definite interest in Canada's foreign policy. However, to state definitely the course of action one will take months ahead of time is dangerous as circumstances may arise later which will of necessity alter that decision. We in Canada want to stay out of war. If we can do so without sacrificing our ideals in regard to human justice."

TOMMY HUNTER, shipping office manager: "We all want peace but we have got to always fight for what is right and just. There are times when we must recognize our duty to see that the other fellow gets a square deal. The ballot will be a fine expression of the fact that Canada is a peace loving nation and to that extent it is worthwhile."

* * *

RALPH SAMUELS, law student: "Any manifestation of the desire for peace is to be valued as indicative of humanitarian principles. In such restless times such a move is to be heartily endorsed."

* * *

REV. E. T. SCRAGG, pastor, Wesley United Church: "I do not know whether it is a practicable way to find out the public sentiment or not. However, it is useful as an expression of which way public opinion is tending at the time of the taking of the ballot and might aid in strengthening the desire for peace if the ballot showed an overwhelming vote for maintenance of peace."

HARRY WILLIS, optometrist: "I think that by taking this ballot we would know the opinion of the people at large and the trend of powers that be could act accordingly when it was necessary to decide as to the action the country would take in regard to war."

* * *

REV. T. B. McDORMAND, pastor, Scona Baptist Church: "The specific nature of the question on the ballot would condition my reply but in general I feel that there is a real value in the plan. There would be a strengthening of anti-war sentiment as a result. Propaganda for war still flourishes; surely some vigorous counter-propaganda is needed."

HIGHWAY EXPERTS PREDICT ROAD BUILDING ERA

Construction of hard, durable road surfaces, using a mixture of clay, gravel and salt, has loomed up as one of the important highway-building developments.

In Edmonton Thursday was one of the leading Canadian authorities on the subject, R. M. Rowat, development engineer of the Lat. Division of Canadian Industries Limited, accompanied by J. W. Evans, technical engineer of Montreal. Mr. Rowat is one of the two Canadian members serving on the international committee set up by the National Research Council to study road construction.

"The low cost of construction is the important factor," explained Mr. Rowat, "combined with the fact that materials required are easily available in Canada. Crushed stone can be substituted for gravel when gravel is not available. The principle is simple. The clay acts as a binder and in laying the road surface, it is mixed with water, much like concrete. In fact, because of its resemblance in appearance and its resistance to abrasion, bituminous concrete is often referred to as soil concrete."

Salt treated highways have been tried and found successful in many parts of the Maritimes, in New York State, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio. In Ontario, the salt-treated highway has been resurfaced with the all weather treatment.

Edmonton Hit By Break-In Epidemic

An epidemic of break-ins hit the city Friday night, according to police reports. Several business premises were entered and ransacked but nothing of value stolen.

Vandals who broke into the Sayer Sheet Metal Shop, 10178 98 street, knocked the handle off the safe with a hammer and used an electric drill to bore holes in a desk. A large quantity of stamps was left untouched.

Other premises entered were Bradburn Printers, 10213 102 street; Peggy's Beauty Shop, 10148 102 avenue; Armstrong and Cooke, Ltd., printers, 10140 102 avenue; George Robinson, furrier, 10144 102 avenue; National Cash Register, 10062 100 street. Water in the pipes in the beauty shop was frozen by cold air entering through the broken glass door panel.

HALF HUNDRED WORKERS RETIRED

Since taking office on Sept. 3 the provincial government has dismissed about 25 employees, while 30 have been retired on superannuation, according to an unofficial accounting made on Saturday. Official figures have not been given out by the government. The list of 32 employees superannuated was given out. The other figure is obtained from reviewing newspaper files containing stories of dismissals.

The question arose as a result of the subject of patronage being introduced at the U. F. A. convention.

The government, when asked to give the figures on dismissals, declined. However, it is learned that government members feel that dismissals here have been only one-third of those taking place in other provinces on governments being changed.

All Theatres To Open Late Funeral Day

Co-operating with the city administration in solemn observance of the funeral rites for the late King George V, Tuesday, theatres in Edmonton will remain closed during the daylight hours.

Usually opening at 1 p.m. daily, the motion picture houses will keep their doors locked until 6 p.m. Tuesday.

EDMONTON DOES NOT APPRECIATE REAL PAINTINGS

Not even expenses were cleared by Reginald B. Webberley, bland, red-headed young English art dealer who talks of living in neighborly nearness to English royalty, tried to auction off his $60,000 art collection in the Macdonald hotel Confederation room Thursday and Friday night.

Webberley confessed that he was forced to buy back or withdraw the majority of his old and modern masters.

"Sales were few and prices very low," he explained. "Edmonton does not know real art. The people here would rather buy 'phonies.'"

The art dealer will leave Edmonton off his itinerary for the next six years.

"Maybe next time a collection of nudes and cubist art might sell," was a helpful suggestion thrown out to the downcast collector.

"They probably would. But wives refuse to hang nudes in their homes," he explained dolefully. "Edmonton does not appreciate art."

Out Our Way — —By Williams

OUR OLD COUNTRY LETTER—By J. Edward Norcross

LONDON, Eng. — (By Mail) — Miss Isbel MacDonald showed good Scottish business sense when she bought the Plow Inn at Speen and went into business there as a publican.

The hamlet of Speen is on the edge of Monkton Wood in one of the most beautiful parts of a very beautiful county, Buckinghamshire.

It stands on the narrow winding road that runs from High Wycombe to Great Missenden. Close at hand, along other winding roads and lanes, with hedges of blackthorn, hawthorn and honeysuckle under which one may find masses of bluebells, primroses and buttercups in the spring, are villages and little towns with names that are sheer poetry. Prince Risborough, Lexy Green, Chesham Bois, Stokenchurch and the two Chalfonts Chalfont St. Peter's and Chalfont St. Giles—to mention but a few of many.

Others are crystallized history— Great Hampden, Jordans, Penn and, for this is the Disraeli country, Beaconsfield, Hughenden and Bradenham.

No more typical bit of rural England can be found between Land's End and Berwick-on-Tweed.

But, more important, perhaps, for Miss MacDonald's purpose, Speen is within thirty miles of the centre of London. Even before she took it over the Plow Inn became known to a select coterie of Londoners for its old-world charm and during the summer their motor cars frequently found their way there from the metropolis.

Among these patrons it was understood to be the thing to eat eggs and bacon served on a scrubbed deal table and drink beer from the pewter in the quaint old parlor with its twisted rafters and its fireplace big enough to roast a sheep, its oak-beams, old prints, shining silver and rush mats on worn tiles.

IT is safe to say that the clientele will become much more numerous now that one's beer may be drawn by the daughter of a former prime minister and the mistress for years of No. 10 Downing Street and the great house at Chequers.

Not that Miss MacDonald will be behind the bar. There is no bar. The beer is kept down in the cellar and it is the custom of the house that the mistress shall draw it and serve her customers herself.

Miss MacDonald did so on the very first day of her occupancy. She had been to Aylesford and had appeared before the bench of magistrates and as "Isbel MacDonald, spinster, of no occupation," had applied for the transfer of the license.

J. E. Norcross

"The police have no objection" the chairman asked Superintendent Cleary.

Superintendent Cleary replied that they had not. "The applicant is known to me," he added.

So Miss Isbel drove back to the Plow Inn a legally qualified licensed victualler and proceeded to draw the beer for the group of villagers who had been waiting to see whether a certain old custom would be observed. It was, in honor of the occasion the beer was on the house.

It is stated that Miss MacDonald has taken the inn to provide occupation not only for herself but also for the personal servants who left Downing Street with her when her father retired from the premiership.

She and they had a busy time next day, Sunday. So had the village constable, who had been rousted early from his slumbers to direct the stream of motor-traffic converging on the Plow Inn.

Miss MacDonald worked with her helpers. Gowned in a woollen frock she served plates of "roast beef and two veg.", cleared away empty glasses and used dishes, ran up and down the cellar steps with pewters and made change and beds as professionally as if she had begun life as a "nippy" in a Lyon's restaurant.

For, as might have been expected, the Plow Inn had received no end of free advertising in advance of the event. Probably the address has been noted down already by many of the thousands of American tourists who are said to have booked passages for next summer and who promise to make this year's "invasion" one of the biggest on record.

THE building boom in this country is probably past its peak. Mr. Neville Chamberlain intimated as much the other day, saying at the same time that the railway reconstruction and development program, to be undertaken on the basis of governmental financial guarantees, would provide employment as building slackened down.

At the same time there is still a great deal of building to be done before the whole population is satisfactorily housed and British Columbia is therefore interested in the efforts of the Timber Development Association to promote the construction of what in Canada we should call frame houses.

The other day the Association presented prizes to the successful young architects who have designed two classes of timber houses, one type costing $4,000 and the other $1,750, the latter a six-room dwelling with garage.

The houses are designed for brick or concrete foundations but otherwise will be of wood in all its forms, including the latest kinds of plywood, throughout.

The association are endeavoring to popularize timber houses among local authorities all over the country, urging that building schemes should include colonies of these houses in the suburbs. They have already had some success, the fact that such construction costs less than that in other materials, such as brick and stone, being a strong argument for a product which British Columbia can supply in many beautiful and serviceable varieties.

No Ordinary 'Pub' Is This

No ordinary "pub" is Ye Old Plow Inn, and no ordinary proprietress is Isbel MacDonald. The serious young lady has served as hostess to her father, the ex-premier, at No. 10 Downing Street, and feels no indignity while serving in the same capacity at the seventeenth century hostelry, once visited by King Charles II. The oldest inhabitant is shown visiting the inn for a mug o' grog with which to drink to the health of the owner, at the hamlet of Speen, near Wycombe. The inn did a rushing business in the past few weeks, and Isbel was obliged to don an apron to help wait on many distinguished guests.

Crime Increase

EDINBURGH, Jan. 25.—After a reduction each year since 1926 criminal charges in Scotland increased by 7,675 in 1934.

Improvement

GREAT YARMOUTH, Jan. 25.— A parade improvement scheme including the erection of a bandstand and floral electric clock at a cost of $190,000 has been approved by the Great Yarmouth Council.

Two Appointments Under Credit Act

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—Following appointments under the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act were announced last night:

Hon. David A. McDonald of Vancouver, puisne judge of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, to be chief commissioner of the Board of Review for British Columbia.

W. G. Wilkins, Pentiction, B.C., to be official receiver for the judicial districts of Yale and Kootenay.

Taxpayers of the United States expend approximately two billion dollars annually to provide public school facilities for their 30,000,000 boys and girls.

UNEQUAL RATE WORKING HARM TO INDUSTRY

Milk Producers Will Ask Government to Save Home Market

That the home market for concentrated milk products in Alberta is seriously affected by discriminatory freight rates is the contention of the Alberta Provincial Milk and Inspected Cream Producers' Association following a convention at which the canned milk situation in Alberta was aired.

In discussing it the convention pointed out that a freight rate of $1.98 per hundred pounds was available to eastern exporters of these products to the province of Alberta, whereas the exporter of butter from the province of Alberta to Montreal was charged a freight rate of approximately $3.70 per 100 lbs.

QUESTION OF MARKET

The discussion centred around the fact that, there being no manufacturers of concentrated milk products in the Province of Alberta, it was simply a question of an imported product being in competition with a home product, accordingly the convention decided to take up with the government the matter of protection against concentrated milk products being imported into the province with a view to preventing the dumping of these products at a lower price than that which they are bought at the points where manufactured.

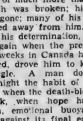
The producers also decided that it was necessary for them, in view of the advertising campaign by these manufacturers of canned milk, to take some definite action to bring before the consumer the greater value of the home product which was being sold at practically the same price.

Election of officers of the association resulted in four retiring directors being re-elected. Officers are: C. E. Parry, Lethbridge, president; Roy C. Marler, Bremner, vice-president; F. R. McCalla, Bremner, secretary-treasurer; R. H. M. Bailey, of Edmonton is managing director of the association, and A. Anderson, Medicine at. J. Benyon of Cochrane, O. Short of Calgary, complete the board.

Worker Killed

NEW TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 25— Caught in the trucks of a coal car, George Hatfield was killed at the Canadian National railway yards here Friday. He was shovelling snow from a switch, his first job in two months.

The Tragedy Of Sir Henry Thornton



By D'Arcy Marsh

CHAPTER XIV
THE KILL

After the Canadian debacle, it was inevitable that Sir Henry Thornton's life should close upon a minor key. At the end, as at the beginning, he was a man looking for a job—but he was in search now of much more than this. His health was broken; his livelihood had gone; many of his friends had turned away from him. Nevertheless, his determination, which flared again when the pressure of his last weeks in Canada had been removed, drove him to keep up the struggle. A man does not lose overnight the habit of enthusiasm; even when the death-blow has been struck, when hope has left the brain, emotional buoyancy struggles against its final eclipse.

Sir Henry, a man of sixty-two with a hard life behind him and before him no promise of relief from his personal anxieties, retained in those final weeks a keen interest in Canadian affairs for he was clinging to life with characteristic tenacity. In the final letter he wrote to Canada, the reply to which reached New York after his death, he said, "If the country is to be saved the saviours will not be found in the haunts of capital, nor will they come from the seats of the mighty, but such salvation as may be will find its birth in the hearts and minds of the great mass of the common people of the Dominion." Neither the thought nor the expression was new, but it was a not unfitting valedictory.

BEGIN DARK HOURS

Yet even when he wrote it the dark hours were beginning. As the days passed, his hope flickered and was gone. Pain burned within him. He was dying at the moment when his fortunes were at their lowest ebb. After forty years of brilliant endeavor, it seemed he had nothing to leave—neither his good name nor security to his family.

The journey which had begun at the draughtsman's table, which had taken him on spectacular errands, had brought him to the final dispossession in this quiet New York house.

He moved about the room, or sat watching the little collection of Napoleonic pictures in the corner—Napoleon as First Consul, Pauline Bonaparte, the little King of Rome, the Last Phase—and a consciousness of achievement struggled against the conviction of defeat which circumstances had thrust upon him.

The clothes hung in folds upon the huge, wasting frame; the face had grown haggard, the shoulders sagged, and the great and kindly head around whom had clung a flavor of Regency days looked sadly out of eyes that were sunken in the pallid flesh. The little men with their petulant voices and their brittle assumption of virtue, had gained their end at last.

SOMETHING SAVED

And yet, in the moment of dissolution, something was saved. An invitation arrived at the house for Sir Henry Thornton to attend a dinner, to be given in his honor by the general chairman of unions on the Canadian National Railways.

It was to be attended by heads of the American Federation of Labor and it was intended as the most eloquent testimonial ever tendered an industrial executive by the laboring millions of North America. In that invitation spoke the voices of the simple men who were working in the shops and terminals and stations of Canada and along the empty reaches of the West—and an echo of the voices of those whose grimy English faces had grinned at the Jolly Welsh Chief passed along the lines of a British railway. The reverberations of his work had reached him in time.

On the night of March 14, when the dinner was to have been held, he lay dead in the Doctors' hospital of New York.

Grand Old Man

COMMISSIONER VISITS MILLET SCOUT TROOPS

MILLET, Jan. 25—The Millet Boy Scouts had a real treat here on Thursday night when W. S. Backman, provincial secretary of the Boy Scouts visited here and showed some moving pictures of Boy Scouts and their work, also pictures of the world jamboree of Boy Scouts.

Before showing the pictures Mr. Backman presented badges to the following: Yee Quong, L. Kerr and W. Pettigrew, with the King's Scout badge; second class Scout badge went to R. Wright, H. Rosebury, Arthur Peterson. Kleive Keefer received a star man's badge.

After the presentations were made the Scouts' record for 1935 was read amid a roar of applause. Following is the record: Troop contains 40 Scouts, all ranks, has won 249 badges and 9 all-around cords. A grade. The troop has collected and distributed over two tons of clothing to the needy in Breton, Sunnybrook and Rocky Rapids districts. They also collected, repaired and distributed 4720 toys. They also have a hockey team and a good baseball team. Credit is due Scoutmaster E. Moore for his untiring efforts in Boy Scout work.

HOSPITAL TO SEEK GRANT OF $116,500

It was decided at a special meeting of the Edmonton Hospital Board to ask the city for a grant of $116,500 to carry on the hospital's work for 1936, V. A. Porter was in the chair. The report asking for the grant was read by J. G. Sussmann, chairman of the finance committee and adopted unanimously.

Dr. A. F. Anderson pointed out for the information of the board members that, based on last year's figures, between $75,000 and $80,000 of the grant goes to meet the deficit of the Isolation hospital, the only hospital of its kind in Edmonton, and to pay for the cost of relief patients who contribute nothing to the hospitalization expenses.

In estimating this year's revenue, $5,000 less than last year is being allowed owing to poor crop conditions, which will affect considerably the amount country patients and municipalities will be able to pay for services rendered.

Salt, iodine, bromine, magnesium chloride, and magnesium hydroxide are now being taken from the ocean in commercial quantities.

STUDEBAKER CARS NOW ON DISPLAY

MOTOR PUBLIC SWINGS BACK TO BEST CARS

Every Year Shows Increase in General Excellence

Studebakers

By M. S. BROOKS

Vice-President and General Manager The Studebaker Corporation of Canada, Limited

Every year since the first automobile show was arranged in Toronto the name of Studebaker has played a prominent part in this greatest of industrial expositions. The annual show now current is no exception. Although the three last decades have seen hundreds of companies come and go, the 1936 extravaganza finds Studebaker robust among the surviving stalwarts and eagerly looking forward to one of the most energetic years the industry has ever known.

Several years ago the publisher of a mid-western newspaper gave his business getters an enthusiastic slogan—"1921 will reward fighters." This battle cry, slightly revised, would make an excellent theme song for the entire industry during 1936. All indications point to the "fightin'est year" in a long time. I am sure everybody in the business is pleased with the prospects.

It is our earnest belief the great battle of 1936 will be staged between the big three of the low priced field and that group of cars which cost only a little more, but pay generous reward in performance, comfort and luxury. Although there has been strong buying in the low price field during the past three or four years, it is our sincere belief that a definite swing away from "regimentation" to better automobiles is now taking place. People's purses are more plentifully filled—and their motoring appetites are demanding more bountiful automobiles.

There can be no denying that the three cars in the low price field are remarkable vehicles. Their makers have done an excellent job of satisfying the moderate desires made necessary by the depression. But the depression is over and hundreds of buyers will go forth this year asking something more than they have had since 1930.

Studebaker knows this to be a fact. And Studebaker has prepared accordingly.

The Studebakers of 1936 are built to the "Specifications" uncovered in the survey. They are new automobiles. They will bear exactly 97 improvements over 1935 Studebakers. They are new in styling, in performance, in economy, in comfort and in luxury. Also they are benefitted by many time-tried-and-proved Studebaker fundamentals.

A Bulletin Short Story Complete On This Page Every Saturday

--- By Velma Carson

The Pleasant Marriage Of Cornelia and Don Is Threatened by a Saturday Afternoon Tea Party.

CORNELIA reached for a diamond-shaped bit of bread, dabbed on a smear of anchovy paste and a film of butter. Then she spread a smooth layer of cream cheese, dipped the edges in chopped parsley, crested it with a criss-cross of pimento, and laid it beside its fellows on a tray.

"It takes as many operations to achieve a fancy sandwich as it does to assemble an automobile," she groaned to Gwen, blowing a black lock from her eyes so as not to have to stop her hands.

"Surely we have enough," Gwen sighed, it was friendship pure and simple, which found her in the kitchen. She had a good job in an advertising agency, and had escaped domesticity except for an occasional week-end promise among her married friends. In the perky green smock borrowed from Cornelia she looked like one of the carefree blondes in her own ads who washed woolens or made jiffy cakes with such an enticing flair.

"You can't have enough," Cornelia answered. "We will quit when we run out of everything, but let's not fool ourselves about having enough. People always seem to take long walks before they come to my teas. I never reap a crowd who enjoyed the lunch-eons," she complained amiably.

That's because you entertain on Saturday afternoons. You get golfers who've been exercising for their figures."

"Well, couldn't throw a big party without Don here to help me," Cornelia explained contentedly. Three more cream cheese diamonds had been added to the display. Her wrist was beginning to cramp. And there were only two hundred for fifty guests. That was only four apiece. Four bites. And one had to allow for the bachelor who would pop a consecutive dozen into his mouth like a turtle snapping flies. Bachelors had none of the respect for canapes and open faced sandwiches that most housebinders acquire.

"O dear, it's two o'clock, and they're due at four," Cornelia wailed. "Of course, hardly any one will show up before five, but we've got to be ready at four, Gwen. Tell you, Gwen, why one lonesome couple is always sure to be prompt? Not old sinners, but always some one from your husband's office with a wife you've never met or can't stand it."

Gwen covered another plateful of plain tuna fish ones with a damp napkin. About the size of poker chips and dominoes, they were humorlessly referred to as the "fillers."

"Where is Don?" Gwen asked. Cornelia with a faint tinge of unremembered superiority in her voice.

"O, I guess he's in the living room following his atavistic instincts," she replied gayly. Husbands were such fun! So charmingly complaisant. "He always builds such a big fire when there is going to be company, you'd think the guests were going to have to toast their own venison and mussels." Cornelia finished the diamonds and began on tiny circles of caviar and chopped egg.

Gwen sank into a door-die pose and was facing the last two cupfuls of tuna like a channel swimmer plowing through jelly fish.

Where was Don? Cornelia asked herself a bit more soberly. The front walk needed sweeping among other things. She went to the door that led to the living room and called, "Honey!"

No answer. Well, there wasn't time to go and hunt him. When she sat down at the table again she fancied Gwen had risen out of her dogged stupor of spreading fish enough to curl her lips a little. O well, Cornelia was really very happy today. She loved parties. Candlelight and firelight, silverware and preserved ginger, early dark and cool outside, frivolous dogs and lots of people were the ingredients of romance for Cornelia. She had met Don at one of these pleasant teas, cocktail, supper, dancing or whatever you want to call them parties. Her father had brought him home from the office. At once he had been cozy with them all. He had been wonderful about helping with cakes and ice and things. He had a way of handing a girl a cup that made her feel that he had offered her a grant of land or his life and heart.

"What next?" Gwen's question was more of a dare than a question, but there was too much to do yet for Cornelia to take notice of the inflection.

"Gwen, dear, would you mind very much just running the vacuum over the rug in front of the fireplace? Hilda tidied yesterday but Don decided to clean the fireplace this morning. He was so afraid it might smoke."

Gwen's "I know how they are" smile as she lugged the heavy vacuum cleaner out of its hiding was maddening to Cornelia. She should have sent the children to her mother's. Then she could have had Hilda. Though goodness knows Hilda's rise to an emergency was like a tractor trying to fly. So this morning Cornelia had shooed them all out to the park and plunged in unhampered.

It was not the way she meant to have parties. When she was making out the guest lists, Cornelia envisioned leisurely, gracious preparation in her pretty brown and red and copper kitchen, as well as the gala climax around a luscious buffet. She saw herself as an unflustered hostess whose homey gray, blue-shuttered house was continuously in apple pie order. She had planned to make out a market list and drive downtown on Tuesday afternoon, make a few calls, have tea at some charming place, and come home with all of the materials, but the usual household disasters intervened. And last night, after Hilda was in bed, she had decided that the guest room curtains simply had to be washed after all. This morning the flowers were delivered late. Several men phoned with excuses which indicated more interesting prospects elsewhere. Cornelia was young enough to have had to be balanced off somehow. Having a party meant calling and coercing every single man within a radius of nonprohibitive toll charges.

The extra help she had hired waited away—as they usually did—into aggravating concerns of their own.

Don sauntered through the back door. Before they were married she had adored his calm, imperturbable ways.

"Going to work yourself to death over these food things," he warned her, leisurely ambling in and demolishing a chicken cup sandwich before she could scream. "Why don't you just fill some big buns with butter and ham and save yourself?" he urged, reaching for a little egg and caviar affair.

"Don't you dare touch a one!" Cornelia snapped, stopping his depredations deftly. "I'll all she never feel a turn in her motor-like efficiency; reach, spread, dip, garnish, lay away. Her eyes smarted and the back of her neck was tired.

. . . . leisurely ambling in and demolishing a precious chicken cup sandwich before she could scream.

"They're to eat, aren't they?" he asked with trying tonic.

"Yes. But not now."

"What difference does it make? I won't eat later."

"I can't trust you to remember that!"

"Then I'll scramble some eggs."

"O, Don, darling, for pity's sakes! You can't stop to scramble eggs now with every one coming in less than two hours. There is some cold ham in the pantry. Make yourself some sandwiches with the bread crusts."

"No, I'll get along," he said in an impatient tone. "He had to be ordered up ham and leave the chicken for others, did he?" Cornelia thought, take time to worry now. How good looking he was! Such nice gray eyes. She did love him so.

"What can I do to help?" he asked, raising his better instincts by their bootstraps.

"Well, dear, first try to wipe Johnny's finger marks off the front door. Bring in his trieycle. And we ought to have more cigarettes. I thought we had a carton, but maybe I think Hilda must take a handful when she goes up to bed. Be sure the fire isn't too low. I decided the chill of these two cracked victoria records. Some one always puts them on. Gwen is finished with it, bring the vacuum cleaner down with you when you come. Set up a card table in the living pantry and put a brighter light bulb in the hall and a dimmer one in the living room for the dining lounge. I decided this morning that it should have had a dimmer all over—and be sure to carry two or three of those folding chairs down from the attic. . . ."

"Right-o!" Don greeted this barrage. "As soon as I've finished another little job I'm on," and he disappeared into the back door again before she could stop him. O, well, she couldn't waste time now. Cornelia flew to the kitchen to call him back. He probably would return in a moment, or no doubt he was going to the front to see.

Golden minutes zipped by with Cornelia scrambling in their wake. An hour had simply disappeared into her. Where was Don? How terribly the children were behaving and how rude Gwen was about changing her uniform. She hoped Don had made a good job of everything. Gwen was dressing. So her attached woman ever sacrificed her ritual of dressing. Cornelia thought a little unfavorably, no matter what disillusioning experience she has had. Cornelia was an armload of things into the serving pantry.

The card table was not there! She set them on the floor, and a premonition sent her running to the back door. She flung it open. Yes. There he was.

The whole illusion of their pleasant marriage cracked up in her aching head. She could not believe her eyes. She was seized with a blind longing to rush out and clasp him close in her arms, as she was transfixed. After weeks of complacent disregard he had taken this afternoon off to work in the yard. The one spot in the whole place nobody possibly could see. It would be quite impossible for Mildred's playthings were where people could fall over them, and Johnny's fingerprints were where people would ring the bell. With things to be carried upstairs and down and down the she was going like a hurricane, trying to make everything as pleasant and unobtrusive as possible! She dashed her hand at the starting lever. And there he was afternoon after afternoon, taking leaves in the sunshine!

She slammed the door without telling him. This was the end. She had cruelly slaved at the office until late last night and had found an undivulged errand in the Hudson's Bay department on the way home this afternoon. His only contribution to the festivities had been to slip up coal in the fireplace on the way. He danced badly, and at first he talked a great deal, but then he yawned less, and his face became unpleasantly red. Kay said at last:

"It's warm, isn't it? I need a breath of air. They ought to serve it here."

Bill grinned with relief. "Step this way, madame," he suggested, and led her out on the wide verandah. "It's quite a lot cooler, you know. What you want, we've got." He breathed deep. "Ah, that's good! That air is good at that," he confessed, "I got a little ahead of myself in the game. That cool-looking siren was too rich for my blood." He chuckled, but his arm around Kay's waist gave a hint of a verandah raid. "Girl, wasn't that game something!

"I don't know much about football." Kay confessed. She would have freed herself, but could not without making his embrace seem more important that it was.

Kay has placed herself in an unpleasant position with Bill. His easy familiarity offends her but she cannot extricate herself without a scene. Perhaps someone will come to her rescue. Be sure to see Monday's thrilling instalment.

"Then I'll get along," he said in an impatient tone. "He had to be ordered up ham and leave the chicken for others, did he?" Cornelia thought, take time to worry now. How good looking he was! Such nice gray eyes. She did love him so.

"I don't know much about football." Kay confessed. She would have freed herself, but could not without making his embrace seem more important that it was.

Kay has placed herself in an unpleasant position with Bill. His easy familiarity offends her but she cannot extricate herself without a scene. Perhaps someone will come to her rescue. Be sure to see Monday's thrilling instalment.

"The phone rang. Bob David couldn't come. He was terribly sorry, but a business trip— "It doesn't matter," she answered rudely and clicked in his ear.

She was through coddling extra men. This was her first time as a harassed hostess. It was a pleasure to start hurling bridges. If she knew what to do with all the sandwiches she would walk out before the party instead of after. She was putting on makeup as deftly as if she had made the sandwiches. Thank goodness she lived in an age when women could hide their near misses behind powder and rouge. The trouble with women was that they never scheduled their rebellions. They never left men in the lurch. They might be at fault, extravagant, sending silly flirtatious or unable to keep up with their husbands, but they were consistently dutiful. They were refined to leave supper on the table along with the farewell note.

She would go now, she thought, as she rolled on thin chiffon hose and poked her slim feet into slim bronze slippers. It was going to be quite fair to Gwen. After all, Gwen had a proprietary interest in the party up from the sides. Cornelia didn't quite enjoy the vision of golden svelte Gwen stepping into the house left with the explanations about Cornelia's sudden departure to see a dying aunt, or Cornelia's unexpectedly bitter about husbands all day. But you could be sure she would not be the first to wed in single line. Cornelia felt mean. Gwen was an old friend. But this morning, why, Cornelia was still hopelessly married, Gwen's "grass widow" smile had been pretty devastating.

It would be more pointed to go into town when Gwen did, and shop. Cornelia was definitely giving up. Let him try inspiring Hilda and generating things back into the house. Cornelia could stay with her mother until she got a job.

It wasn't just that he had cleaned up the back yard instead of the front. She didn't like the idea of his being there for either. It was his deliberate, balmy disregard for other aesthetic needs. It was quite possible a rupture of their marriage. It was the inescapable fact that she would be executed in the artistic values of a home. It wasn't a picture to him to change a room entirely now and up in different lights. It was merely shelter. All he did was to go to the office and the business world was exciting. Cornelia had loved her year of it.

She recklessly got into her newest frock of purple velvet. It was a bit perishable for a hostess who had to make numerous trips to the kitchen. But why should she save out clothes, to buy that she never got? Why spend her life trying to find new ways to cook hamburger? Why make special trips to Gwen for cooking tonics? When she was a girl at home she had always worn the best clothes she had to felt like it. You can be sure Gwen wasn't pelting her clothes into tubbing beyond her ken.

Cornelia gave a last smoothing to her straight purple-black hair as the doorbell rang. What timing she thought triumphantly. Running a house was like conducting a symphony. She knew she went down stairs that she looked rather young and interesting. She always looked quite young when she was fatigued to that bright electric intensity. Tomorrow the guests would all remember that it was a appealing wife and a lovely home that Don had lost.

The divorce should not be the usual cut and dried to do over cruelty and adultery. It would be unlike against all those husbands she had watched from childhood up. Her father always sneaked home from his billiard club just in time to laugh at her mother's longer had been dubs evenings in fancy shapes. Uncle George's contribution to dinner parties was the dancing chandelier. Aunt Rosina had lighted the candles. Brother's last minute gift had been two lumpy vases and a ring around the tub. And the women who couldn't stand it any longer had been those who didn't encourage these imperceptions by a public avowal that a wife has to be hit on betrayed before she is disheleased. Cruelty and adultery indeed.

Well, Cornelia would make her charge dramatic. Gwen knew a lady columnist who might take it up.

Sure enough, it was the Barrows who came early. Cornelia hoped Don would show up exactly as he was. Except that Mr. Barrows probably would think that it was because he had kept slaving overtime, would think it was homework that slowed him up at the office. Let them into the living room wondering if she dared to sit down, too, without leaving any inconsiderateness. Gwen would not waste her entrance on an early arrived married couple. For that Cornelia was grateful. It would enable her to keep the conversation simple enough to doze through until other guests arrived.

"Mrs. Barrows, how ever do you get the children to stay in bed, pearls?" she asked the minute the amenities had been disposed of. "Don must be dressing now, Mr Barrows."

"I have just tried to give mine an early supper," she fibbed, because she knew it of old as a self-perpetuating topic. Sure enough! The plump Mrs. Barrows had firm ideas on the subject which she was glad to pass along to the younger and evidently more flibbertygibbet mother. Mr. Barrows picked up a paper. Cornelia settled back in the cushions, fixed her face with an interested smile, lowered her eyelids and began to count sandwiches jumping over a fence.

"Let's dance, Cornelia." Bill Wentworth was murmuring. "I want to say things without arousing your husband's suspicions. I want to whisper that if I knew where I could find a wife like you there'd be one less bachelor at your beck and call tomorrow."

Cornelia smiled as she went into Bill's arms for a waltz. He would not talk so recklessly tomorrow when he heard the news. Yes, she still intended to go. As a matter of principle. Even though it was going to be an awfully nice party and she wasn't tired any more, Don had ruined it. He was going room along with the five o'clock surge of other guests looking evidently handsome and proud. He was enjoying himself thoroughly. And a stranger could spot his air of virtue. He had gotten the leaves raked up before snowfall this year. He was apparently unaware Don Cornelia had avoided him. It was easy enough among sixty people. O, yes, there were at least three strangers who had been brought along. People always brought other people to Cornelia's parties.

"How do you manage to keep so young on your feet, Cornelia?" Bill like that remark, somehow, against the color of that sleeve."

The compliment so excited her she bit into a sandwich. Why it was only fish and bread after all. Nothing especially fine and good. Her foolish pulse quickened. Don had actually noticed pale blue against purple. He had truthful as a blind man on the edge of a crowded subway platform. It was touching to watch him find his way through danger. She fell tender, mature, a confirmed wife. She recovered her poise. Probably he was still bending over her inquiringly.

"Why, I don't need another thing," she answered softly. She put her hand on his. "You're such a help, dear," she said.

CHAPTER X.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

After waiting four long years for her sister Emily to graduate, Kay Brannan, petite and beautiful, finally enters Wellesley. At first she is engrossed in her studies. Then she enters into the social whirl. One day, horrified, she discovers her inherited taste for liquor. Then financial reverses at home end her career at college. She becomes Chuck Rantoul's advertising assistant and gains a new friend, Genevieve Fay, who asks her if she is in love with Chick. But Kay vehemently denies it. Genevieve tells her a great deal about reckless Bob Dalzin, a medical doctor. He is her cousin. Kay has heard of him before but has never chanced to meet him.

HE WAS supposed to come to see Kay remembered. "But he didn't come!"

"He never does," Genevieve explained her. And she said wistfully, "He makes me so mad! I think he could be a wonder if he would! And his father and mother are so proud of him, have so many plans for him, so many hopes . . ."

Kay in her next letter to Emily spoke of Bob Dalzin. Emily and George had been married in June; and Will Brannon nowadays was working as a clerk in George's store, Kay wrote:

". . . Bob Dalzin. He's one of those legendary figures you hear about but never see. You must have heard of him when you were at Wellesley. Genevieve says everyone has heard of him, and I guess that's so, because whoever you meet is almost sure to talk while he's here. Helen is one of my best friends, of course. She was furious with me for the way I wrote you Emily." And she tossed her head faintly. "I'd like to meet him," she declared. "I'd like to make him fall desperately in love with me, and then just say pooh-pooh, or tush-tush, or something, and leave him grovelling!" Laughed at her own words. "Only, I don't suppose he'll be grovelling kind," she confessed.

"Heave at him," Genevieve agreed encouragingly. "Let the chips fall where they may!"

"He's taking Sally Hays to the game," Kay said and turned back to her letter. But Helen Ripley

She had not the least expectation that her thought might become a reality; but on the Friday night before the game, Helen Ripley telephoned her.

"Kay?"

"Yes. Hello, Helen."

"Kay," Helen told her, "you know Dane's here."

Kay laughed softly. "Be still, my beating heart!" she exclaimed. "Yes, you told me he was coming."

"He expected to take Sally to the game," Helen explained. "But she's come down with the mumps, Kay."

"The mumps!" Kay cried, amused. "He thought Sally was sophisticated for anything so childish!"

"Yes, honestly," Helen insisted. "Isn't that the world's worst? But of course she can't go to the game. And the minute I got here, I asked, in one of these pauses:

"You say you've never met Dane Ripley?"

"That's funny." Kay protested. "That you should ask that! I was just thinking about him; wondering whether I would see him while he's here. Helen is one of my best friends, of course. She was furious with me for the way I wrote you Emily." And she tossed her head faintly. "I'd like to meet him," she declared. "I'd like to make him fall desperately in love with me, and then just say pooh-pooh, or tush-tush, or something, and leave him grovelling!" Laughed at her own words. noon tomorrow." She clenched small fists, shook them in the others face. "I'm going to lay him end to end, Genevieve. You wait and see."

Genevieve chuckled. Remember the old recipe for rabbit stew," she said warningly. "First catch your rabbit!"

But Kay was confident. "Just you wait and see!" she challenged. "You've no idea how entrancing I can be when I try!"

They came to Crerline Inn testingly, working their way through a throng of Saturday Kay rode in Dane Ripley's car, by Dane's side. Bill Hurd and Mary Bingham, Chick at the wheel. Bill Hurd but Bud is dollars, before they left the Stadium, then Dane would beat Chick to the Inn; and throughout the drive the rivalry between Dane continually to greater speed. But Dane insisted on driving with a sober hand.

"I never hurry when I've got a girl like Kay here beside me," he told Bill over his shoulder. "You'd better consult me before you make your bets hereafter."

"Have it your way," Bill assented cheerfully. "I won, three hundred on the game, so I can afford to lose. Boys and girls! Was that a famous victory! Is Yale embarrassed tonight? I'm asking you!"

"If he'd had one more drink," Dane told Kay at his side, "he wouldn't know who did win." Kay nodded, sitting very still. "You're quiet!" he said.

But Kay meant to distract you," she told him smiling. "This driving needs all your attention."

"If you want me to keep my mind on the road, don't smile like that," he warned her. "I'll be as drunk as Bill, on a couple more of those."

She made a wry grimace at him, and Dane snatched one hand off the wheel, kissed it, "Stop that!" she predicted; and he threw up his hand defensively.

Then they reached the Inn. Chick and the others were already there, at the table reserved and keep his mind on his job. Just to get even, I'll have the first dance with you," he told Kay in an undertone as they followed the waiter. "Then I'll have the first dance with you," he told Kay in an undertone as they followed the waiter. "Then I'll have the first dance with you," he told Kay in an undertone as they followed the waiter.

Bill grinned with relief. "Step this way, madame," he suggested, and led her out on the wide verandah. "It's quite a lot cooler, you know. What you want, we've got." He breathed deep. "Ah, that's good! That air is good at that," he confessed, "I got a little ahead of myself in the game. That cool-looking siren was too rich for my blood." He chuckled, but his arm around Kay's waist gave a hint of a verandah raid. "Girl, wasn't that game something!

"I don't know much about football." Kay confessed. She would have freed herself, but could not without making his embrace seem more important that it was.

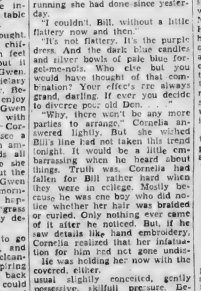
Kay has placed herself in an unpleasant position with Bill. His easy familiarity offends her but she cannot extricate herself without a scene. Perhaps someone will come to her rescue. Be sure to see Monday's thrilling instalment.

Contract Bridge

By E. V. Shepard

CRUCIAL PLAYS

Every interesting hand offers several crucial plays—perhaps that may be for declarer, perhaps for a defender. Strategic holdings that can be hid or played only one way. Such plays are interesting except the chap whose sole interest is the number of points obtainable. Every bridge player can find a year of special interest, yet there were several critical situations.



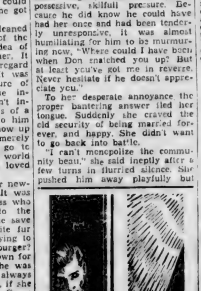
Bidding went: South, 1-Diamond; West, 2-Clubs; the passes of North and East. In the play of the hand the problems should be double (demand) for some help. Partner's South doubled. West, 3-Clubs; again South doubled. When North, at last, South raised to 4-Hearts.

The K of clubs took the first defensive trick. The 10 of clubs second trick. Dummy was forced to ruff the Ace of clubs. He discarded a low diamond.

Declarer's Q of hearts and dummy's K won the next two tricks, pulling all opposing trumps except the 10. Evidently declarer was sure who held. The Ace and K of diamonds dropped the J and 10 from the eastern hand. Now it was not certain whether or not West was playing his diamonds honestly. Another lead of diamonds might afford the opportunity to ruff a trick, definitely killing all hope of game. The last opposing trump must be pulled. Dummy's last trump and the one held by East were picked up by the Ace of hearts, and declarer's last was played trump. The critical situation facing declarer at this point was whether dummy's spades should be played. Should 10 be discarded on the Q of spades? The answer to that question was: No. The remaining spade in dummy's hand space thick from dummy was required to yield game. Declarer could discard one of his spades on dummy's good diamonds.

Declarer's 8 of spades was covered with dummy's J, fortunately for North, driving out the King of spades. North's defensive trick. West led and North ruffed with his last heart, the 9 of clubs.

At the eleventh trick North led the A of spades and he was left with only the K of spades. Dummy's two good diamonds provided a spade to be ruffed from the North hand; without that card of exit opponents must have been forced to make a spade trick. Instead of a spade trick. That would have forced the contract. If West had a spade, conclusive it is surprising to find the number of crucial plays perhaps taken almost automatically.



She cleared her eyes for a tiny minute.

Today's Markets

At Montreal

MONTREAL, Jan. 25.—Profit taking depressed values on the Montreal Stock Exchange today.

Hydro Electric pfd. dropped six points following deferment of dividends. Canadian Northern Power and Brazilian slipped fractions.

Nickel was down about ¾ and Noranda was off a point. Foods were irregular and banks little changed.

Toronto—Industrials

TORONTO, Jan. 25. — Industrial shares firmed at the close today with final prices around the best for the day.

Nickel closed around 48½ for a gain of ⅝. Pantepec advanced ⅜ to 5½. Smelters lost 3.

Industrial Alcohol A advanced ¼ to 11⅝. Walkers common eased ⅛ to 30¼, and Distillers-Seagrams ½ at 32¼.

Brazilian pushed up to 12⅛. Utilities noted more gains than losses. Banks were higher. Oils closed narrowly lower.

At Toronto—Mines

TORONTO, Jan. 25.—Buffeted by profit-taking the mining market on the Toronto Stock Exchange saw prices shaded at the close today.

Dome lost 1½ to 49¾; Lake Shore a point to 57, while Teck Hughes, Bralorne and Little Long Lac took losses of 5 to 20 each.

Among base metals prices held steady. Silvers were steady.

At New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The stock market righted itself quickly today after an early stumble following the boosting of margin requirements by the Federal Reserve Board.

Initial declines ranged from fractions to 2 or more points. Aviation and utility issues led the recovery and most losses were shaded, cancelled or replaced by gains up to a point or so. The close was steady. Transfers approximated 1,550,000 shares.

Plows Up Auto

SIOUX FALLS, S.D., Jan. 25—The street department's snowplow, bucking heavy drifts on a street in the residential district, plowed up an automobile.

BROOMHALL

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Native wheat on the continent continues firm, but licenses are difficult to obtain. Genoa quotes native wheat equal to $2.42 a bushel, Paris $1.80 and Hamburg $2.50. The Liverpool-Kansas City spread is now 4½ cents in favor of Kansas City, but the Liverpool-Winnipeg spread is 6¾ cents in favor of Liverpool.

The new standards are now fixed for this year. New South Wales 64 pounds to the bushel and South Australia 63½ pounds.

The demand for wheat is slow, with the fluctuations in foreign exchange unsettling the market generally. The statistical situation is fundamentally sound and larger purchases will be necessary if world shipments are to attain their normal volume for this time of the year.

EDMONTON STOCKYARDS, Jan. 25—Weekly report from stockyards for week ending Jan. 25:—

Receipts—	Cattle	Calves	Hogs	Sheep
Saturday	26	16	105	29

From the action of the market, it would appear that receipts during this past week were burdensome, particularly as there were too many plain kinds on offer. The market on the whole was decidedly dull and draggy, and trading slow, as buyers were indifferent in their attitude and bearish in their ideas. Prices towards the close of the week showed a further decline of a full 25c per cwt. and salesmen finding difficulty in placing their offerings. Farmers would be well advised to keep anything off the market except stock that absolutely has to go, and thereby help in improving the situation. The following are the prices quoted:—

Good fed calves $4.50 to $5, others from $4 down; good to choice steers $4.50 to $5, mediums $3.75 to $4.25; common to fair $2.50 to $3.50; good to choice heifers $3.50 to $4, common to medium $2 to $3; good butcher cows $2 to $2.50, odd, especially choice up to $2.75, common to medium $1.25 to $1.75; canners and cutters, $1 to $1.25; bulls, $1.50 to $2.50.

Fair action on the stocker and feeder market. Bulk of good stockers going from $3.25 to $3.75; others from $3 down.

Good to choice light calves moving readily at $5 to $6, other kinds from $4.50 down. Heavy calves have been decidedly hard movers.

Hog market firmed up somewhat. Today trucked-in bacons selling at $7.50. Selects brought a premium of 50c per cwt., and butchers discounted 50c per cwt.

Sheep and lamb market remains about steady and unchanged, with the general run of good to choice lambs $6.25 to $7; other kinds from $6 down; yearlings from $4 down and ewes $3 down.

AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Jan. 25—Cattle 500; calves 1,000; steers 11.25; yearlings 14.25; heifers 11.60.

Sheep 5,000; top lambs 10.85; ewes 5.50.

Hogs 10,000; tops 10.25; sows 9.40.

Premier, Cabinet Take New Oath To King Edward VIII

By THOMAS WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—The prime minister and his cabinet ministers with one exception took the oath of allegiance Friday to King Edward VIII as members of the House of Commons. Their former oath as members was to King George V, so the new oath had to be taken for, unlike the British oath, the oath of allegiance in Canada does not include the words "his heirs and successors."

The exception was Hon. J. G. Gardiner, who lies ill at his home.

The first private member of parliament to take the new oath of allegiance was Dr. T. F. Donnelly, M.A., M.D., C.M., M.P. for Willow Bunch, Sask.

Marylebone Wins

WANGANUI, New Zealand, Jan. 25.—The Marylebone Cricket Club touring team today defeated Wanganui by 195 runs. Scoring 202 for two wickets, the visitors declared their first innings and acted similarly in the second with their total at 198 for eight. Wanganui obtained 130 and 75.

WHEAT STEADY ON 'PEG MARKET

WINNIPEG, Jan. 25.—Supported by moderate export sales, wheat prices were steady on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today despite weakness at Liverpool. Values closed unchanged to ⅛ cent lower, May at 87⅞, July 88⅜ and October 87⅛ cents.

The usual week-end dullness prevailed in pit operations. Scattered selling from the Canadian wheat board was taken care of without difficulty by export sales of 300,000 bushels.

Liverpool closed 1¼d to ⅜d lower. Chicago firmed while Buenos Aires was unchanged.

SALE OF SHARES IN ALBERTAN TO BE PUBLIC OFFER

Sale of shares in Albertan Publishers Limited, recently organized to publish the Albertan in sponsorship of Social Credit principles, will be proceeded with immediately. It was announced late Thursday by the fiscal agents of the company O. C. Arnott and Company, Limited, of Calgary. The new company will also operate radio station CJCJ.

Announcement was made in a circular issued for publication in Alberta newspapers by the agents.

The offering comprises 28,000 shares of 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock, par $25.00, dividends to be payable half-yearly on January 1 and July 1, to holders of record December 15 and July 15, the first dividend to accrue as at January 1, 1937.

The stock is to be callable in whole or part at $27.50. Fixed assets of the Albertan Publishing Company, Limited, and Social Credit Chronicle will be acquired with the net proceeds of the stock sale. Out of proceeds also will be derived working capital for the new company.

Authorized capitalization is 56,000 preference shares of $25.00 each and 100,000 common shares of no par value. Purchase of preference stock will carry a bonus of one common share with every two preferred shares.

The Albertan's acquisition by the new company, places it in the position of being the official organ of the Social Credit party, a development which has had wide public approval as a sequel.

For the first time in the history of the publishing business in Canada the public are being offered a proprietory interest in a daily newspaper.

THE COMPANY

The Company has recently been incorporated to take over the operation of The Albertan, the only morning newspaper published in the Province of Alberta. As recently announced this paper is now supporting the principles of Social Credit which permits it to enjoy the confidence of the Provincial Government. With the new Company is merged the Social Credit Chronicle thus The Albertan will become the official organ of the Social Credit Party.

EARNINGS

We are informed that this is the first time in the history of Canadian Journalism that the Public have been privileged to participate in the ownership of a daily newspaper and any one can visualize the enormous good that can be done and the great financial success that is possible for the New Company with the active support of thousands of reader shareholders. In addition to the Company operating Radio Station CJCJ it also operates a well equipped modern job printing department which should in itself add greatly to the earnings of the Company.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE

The net proceeds from the sale of these shares will go to the purchase of the fixed assets of the Albertan Publishing Company Limited and Social Credit Chronicle; the payment of incorporation and organization expenses of the new Company and to provide the new Company with working capital.

Subscriptions will be received subject to allotment and the right is reserved to close subscription lists at any time without notice. It is expected that share certificates will be available shortly after subscriptions are accepted and the shares allotted.

These shares are offered subject to the approval of all legal details by A. L. Smith, Egbert & Smith on behalf of the vendors and John S. Mavor, K.C. on behalf of the purchasers.

DIESEL

Before you decide to take a course in Diesel Engineering — the profession which offers such a great opportunity for your future economic security—you owe it to yourself to make sure that the school you are dealing with is able to fulfill its contract.

WARNING

The Hemphill Diesel Engineering Schools Limited wish to issue this warning to those contemplating taking a course in Diesel Engineering. Our School — the original and largest in Canada — is in no way connected with any other school in Canada using a somewhat similar name!

Hemphill Diesel Engineering Schools Ltd. uses the original and proven Hemphill Home Study and Practical Training courses. Other so-called schools cannot use these courses, but some may be attempting to trade upon the good name and reputation of our organization for their own selfish profit and to their students' ultimate regret.

Therefore: Investigate thoroughly the merits and standing of all schools (including our own).

The large number of our graduates now holding good jobs is conclusive evidence of our reliability. We would refer you to any of these men (names supplied on request) or the Board of Trade, Vancouver, B.C., for information.

Our training is endorsed by the Diesel industry.

Our representatives carry proper credentials. Ask to see them. Full particulars of our Courses and our interesting publication "Diesel News" will be sent you free, upon request, and without any obligation on your part.

Poultrymen!
It takes more than an advertisement to make a chick! Price to some may be a factor—but the successful poultryman never considers price. His first thought is: What kind of breeding stock is back of the chicks I am going to buy? What kind of a hatchery are they going to be hatched in? and then if the price is consistent with the quality he buys the best—and what a difference just a few cents make. It only takes an extra egg or two in the fall to pay for the cent or two difference between a cheap chick and a high quality chick. Our chicks are from flocks Government approved and blood tested, bred up to a standard, not down to a price. Provincial Quality baby chicks—sexed day old pullets, 97% accuracy guaranteed. Our illustrated catalogue and prices explains everything, and is mailed free for the asking. Order before March 1 and save 10% on your order, good for any time during the season. We guarantee delivery date with 100% live arrival. Write us, phone us, but don't forget us and our location—2½ blocks North of C.N.R. subway. The Home of quality chicks, sexed pullets and cockerels.

Red Deer Curler Wins Last Event

RED DEER, Jan. 25.—The Consolation event, the last competition of the Red Deer bonspiel, has been finished with R. B. Williver defeating Dr. C. R. Bunn in the finals. Both players are members of the Red Deer Curling Club. Personnel of the rinks: R. M. Whyte, R. M. Beatty, G. H. Lindsay, R. B. Welliver, skip. J. Loughlin, George Orme, A. Frame, Dr. C. R. Bunn, skip.

Visitors won two of the five events at the bonspiel. W. J. Edgar of Innisfail carried off the Hotelkeepers' trophy and J. Shanks, Nordegg, won the Real Estate. The Grand Challenge was taken by H. J. Cruickshanks, Red Deer, and Hugh Clarke, Red Deer, won the Birks event, while R. B. Welliver of the local club captured the Consolation.

DEMONSTRATION TREK ON REGINA SAID POSSIBLE

REGINA, Jan. 25.—An attempt to stage a demonstration march on Regina from Dundurn relief camp during the sessions of the Royal Commission investigating the Dominion day riot is possible, Col. S. T. Wood, assistant commissioner in charge of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Saskatchewan, said Friday as he concluded five days of testifying at the inquiry.

His statement came in defence of the stand he has maintained through his testimony, particularly in cross-examination by Frank J. G. Cunningham, counsel for on-to-Ottawa trekkers, that it is not in the public interest that methods of police observation of doings in relief camps and secret sources of information within last summer's on-to-Ottawa trek be divulged to the public.

He had been informed, Col. Wood told the inquiry, there would be an attempt to stage a march on Regina from Dundurn "during the first mild spell."

Chief Justice Brown, chairman of the committee, made plain yesterday afternoon that the commission investigating the Dominion day riot would not press for details about the secret investigations of the R.C.M.P. "It is absolutely against public policy," he said.

Toronto Police Probe Adjourns Until Wednesday

TORONTO, Jan. 25.—Judges J. J. Coughlin and Duncan C. Ross, royal commissioners appointed to inquire into Toronto police affairs, will hear argument on charges against Constable Michael O'Shea next Wednesday when the inquiry adjourned Friday, is resumed.

Evidence concerning O'Shea was completed before adjournment. The towering, 253-pound policeman amused the commission and spectators alike as he gave evidence in his warm Irish brogue in denial of accusations he took part in looting downtown shops and warehouses.

Acquitted in 1933 of shop-breaking and receiving, O'Shea denied the same accusations yesterday, declaring evidence of ex-Constables Alex. Hood and W. J. Watt incriminating him were false. Hood and Watt were convicted and imprisoned.

Three More Are Convicted For Bremer Kidnap

ST. PAUL, Jan. 25. — A federal court jury Friday convicted three more of the 23 persons charged with participation in the kidnapping of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, two years ago.

Convicted were Harry Sawyer, St. Paul underworld character whom the government charged pointed out the victim for the abductors; Cassius McDonald, Detroit engineer charged with trading ransom notes for other currency in Cuba; and William Weaver, Arkansas convict accused of participation in the actual seizure.

Two of them—Sawyer and Weaver—were ordered to follow seven other alleged conspirators to prison, for life terms. Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye deferred the sentencing of McDonald until February 1.

Vancouver Star Badly Injured

CALGARY, Jan. 25. — Charlie O'Neill, crack right-winger for Vancouver Lions of the Northwestern Hockey League, may be on the sidelines for two weeks as a result of a foot injury.

It was believed O'Neill's foot was fractured when struck as he scored his second goal against Edmonton in a game there last night. X-ray will be taken today.

MINTOS TRIUMPH

SASKATOON, Jan. 25—Prince Albert Mintos defeated Saskatoon Standards 5-4 here last night to boost their lead to three points in the Northern league. Standards follow with two points, while North Battleford Beavers trail with one.

Duchess To Wed?

PRINCE FERDINAND GRAND DUCHESS KYRA

According to whisperings in royal circles, the Grand Duchess Kyra, second daughter of the Russian pretender, may soon become the bride of Louis Ferdinand, the second son of the former German Crown prince. Such a marriage, it is said, would do much to enhance royalty in Europe. Kyra is one of the most beautiful women on the continent, and much sought after.

Orange Crush Six Wins Over Beverly

Bill Nikipilo's Orange Crush Falcons defeated Beverly 3-1 in a sandlot league game played at 96 street rink Wednesday night.

Play was fast all the way. Campbell scored first goal for the "Pop" boys on a long shot. Beverly evened things up in the second. In the third the Crushers turned on the heat and got two more goals by Mitchell and Hill.

"Scotty" Munro officiated and did a good job of it.

Forts Defeat Lamont Sextet

LAMONT, Jan. 25.—Fort Saskatchewan defeated Lamont by a 7-3 score in a senior hockey game early in the week.

The teams were evenly matched and the fans were treated to a good clean game of hockey all the way, with but three penalties being handed out.

In the first period the Fort scored twice to Lamont's once.

In the second period the Fort scored two and Lamont two.

The third period netted the Fort three more goals and Lamont two.

Poker Face Helen Continues Wins

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. — Vinnie Richards, professional tennis player and one-time doubles partner of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, concurred with the general opinion that she is in top form after defeating the Wimbledon champion, 7-5, 6-1 in a practice tilt.

Irma Team Beats Holden, 8-1 Score

IRMA, Jan. 25.—Irma defeated Holden by an 8-1 score in a Gas Line Hockey League fixture.

At the end of the first period Irma took a 4-1 lead with F. Maguire getting two unassisted goals and one on a pass from R. Maguire. Martin assisted by R. Maguire got the other Irma goal. Holden got their goal as a shot swung off a defence player's stick into the Irma cage.

F. Maguire got two more for Irma in the second, while in the final stanza F. Maguire and R. Maguire got one each.

Soccer Meeting

The Norwood Royals' Senior Football club will hold a meeting in the Motor Car Supply on 105th street, on Monday evening at 8 p.m. All members are requested to attend.

DISMISSAL OF CIVIL SERVANTS DRAWS PROTEST

Strong protest against the dismissal and engagement of civil servants being placed on a patronage basis, was voiced by the 28th annual convention of the United Farmers of Alberta at its concluding session on Friday and a resolution of protest, moved by Henry Young, Millet, was adopted.

The resolution condemning patronage declared "the theory that to the victor belongs the spoils is degrading as it encourages graft and corruption."

"We are all aware of what is going on in Alberta," declared H. G. Young, of Millet, who sponsored the resolution. "The civil service should be conducted on an efficiency and not on a patronage basis."

It was charged by Mr. Young that the dismissal of Alex. Ross from his post as chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board, was an outstanding example of political patronage. Mr. Ross, charged Mr. Young, had a 10-year contract with several years to run, and it could not be broken until the legislature met.

So to provide that Dr. Victor W. Wright, one of his close personal friends, could be put on the payroll right away, Premier Aberhart settled with Mr. Ross for $1,700.

A civil service subject to the elected representatives of the people was favored by I. V. Macklin, of Grande Prairie.

"We should elect members who will conduct a civil service with efficiency," he said.

Big Jack Rabbit Chases Bulldog, Witnesses Say

OGDEN, Utah, Jan. 25.—It's not news when a dog chases a rabbit, but when a bunny chases a dog . . .

R. J. Taylor, blacksmith and garageman, his wife and several other residents witnessed the pursuit.

"We were gossiping about the weather when we heard a barking on the road leading toward us from Salt Creek," Taylor said. "A brindle bulldog was hightailing it along the road and just two leaps behind was a jackrabbit, as big a fellow as I'd ever seen. The dog dodged around a parked car and the rabbit leaped from the road and headed for the Weber river timber."

Morro Castle Owners Accused Of Negligence

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. — The United States government Friday accused the New York and Cuba Mail Steamship Company, owners of the Morro Castle, with criminal negligence from the day the ship began operations in 1930 until she burned, September 8, 1934, off Sea Girt, N.J., with the loss of 124 lives.

Francis W. H. Adams, prosecutor, summed up the charges of criminal negligence against Captain William F. Warms, Chief Engineer Eben S. Abbott, Henry E. Cabaud, executive vice president of the company, and the company itself. He accused the company of failing to provide adequate crews or to see that safety rules were observed.

Hunters In Plane Kill 26 Coyotes

HARLEM, Mont., Jan. 25.—Hunting from an airplane, Earle Hansen and Alfred Granger killed 26 coyotes in this vicinity in five days. The pilots have special licenses allowing them to fly at low altitudes and kill the animals. They said their "average time" was about a half hour's flying per coyote.

BLACK WATCH TO MARCH IN PROCESSION

GLASGOW, Jan. 25—Scottish troops will participate in the royal funeral procession in London next Tuesday when King George V makes his last journey to Windsor.

A detachment of the Second Battalion of the Black Watch consisting of two officers, 16 pipers and 20 other ranks will march in the procession through the streets of London from Westminster Hall to Paddington station. The pipers will accompany the cortege to Windsor.

A pipe and drum band of the Fourth Cameron Highlanders, of which King George was Colonel-In-Chief, also will participate in the procession. The pipers, who are all territorials, will be drawn from Kingussie and the Island of Skye, Iverness.

Chinese Prefers Death To Having Feet Amputated

DETROIT, Jan. 25.—Chan Hong Jim, elderly Chinese merchant who refused to allow surgeons to amputate his feet for fear he might not be allowed an honorable burial among his ancestors, stoically went to his death Friday.

Chan Hong Jim, suffering from gangrene infected feet, was admitted to hospital Jan. 6. Although surgeons sought to induce him to undergo the operation, he firmly refused, contending he preferred death with body intact to life prolonged by an operation which might prevent his honorable burial.

Score 323 Runs

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Jan. 25—New South Wales had scored 323 runs for nine wickets at the close of play today in a Sheffield Shield cricket match against Victoria. As a mark of respect for the late King George players and umpires wore black armlets. There will be no play Tuesday, the day set for His Majesty's funeral.

LEAGUE FAILS REACH ACCORD ON WAR SNAG

Council Adjourns Without Advancing Settlement Of Dispute

By JOSEPH E. SHARKEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

GENEVA, Jan. 25.—The 19th session of the League of Nations council adjourned last night without advancing settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian war.

On the credit side, however, it claimed liquidation with extraordinary rapidity of the dangerous Danzig problem and the dispute between Soviet Russia and Uruguay.

MEET WEDNESDAY

Experts who will examine the effectiveness of existing sanctions against Italy will meet next Wednesday. Governmental oil experts, appointed to decide whether an oil sanction is practicable, will meet February 3.

British reaction to Premier Mussolini's protest against the Mediterranean mutual assistance agreement was that League members have a "perfect right" to prepare themselves to carry out their League obligations.

SETTLE DISPUTE

Before adjournment, the council adopted unanimously a resolution designed to settle the dispute between Russia and Uruguay over the latter's breaking off of diplomatic relations.

Another problem of concern was removed when Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, announced the Free City of Danzig would observe the decision of the League council, which has supervision of it.

Then Danzig Nazi senate, it was said, will revoke decrees endangering the freedom of the press and fredom of association and will conform to the spirit of the constitution.

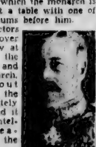
PHILATELY'S LOSS

Phil has on his desk an unusual portrait of the late King's Majesty, George V, in which the monarch is seen seated at a table with one of his stamp albums before him.

Stamp collectors the world over join in sorrow at the loss of the kindly man and Royal Monarch, who, without doubt, raised the status of philately and established it among the intellectual recreations of the world.



"The World's Premier Philatelist"

It was when a midshipman, on H.M.S. Bacchante, that King George started his famous collection of postage stamps of the British Empire, which is now the most complete in existence, and it was quite recently that he said he had since pursued his hobby "with unabated interest." More than half a century as a stamp collector gave him a thorough knowledge of philately and more than once he displayed some of his treasures before members of the Royal Philatelic Society in London.

His late Majesty made arrangements that the famous collection would remain intact and it is possible some of our readers may one day be able to examine some of the royal treasures he so painstakingly assembled.

An active student of his hobby, King George discovered many rare varieties through his own research work and followers of the hobby are indebted in this regard.

SHIP AHOY!

If one merely aims at "numbers" in the hobby of stamp collecting, there is the possibility that one will find it a bore after a time.

We have suggested in the past some "special" groups that may be of interest and suggest now that "Ship Stamps" are among the most appealing of these.

A blank loose-leaf album will, of course, have to be used and, in order to keep the pages beautifully clean, just put a tiny faint number under or below each stamp, keeping a parallel series of duplicate numbers on index sheets, against which you can write up all details, historical and philatelic, of each stamp.

All types of watercraft may be found pictured on stamps of various countries, from the coracle and Egyptian many-oared craft to the full-rigged sailing vessel and ocean liner. Forget the grouping "by countries" when you come to such "side-line" collections and arrange the stamps to the best artistic advantage.

PATS PANS
—BILL LEWIS—

DOMINIONS, who hope to be Alberta's representatives in the Allan Cup playdowns this spring, get another test tonight when they tackle Olds Elks here in a scheduled inter-city league game. . . . It will mark the first appearance of the volatile Mayer Flett in senior company when he lines up on defence with two of his last year's mates—Harry Robertson and Eric Ward. . . . Flett has been outstanding in junior ranks with Canadians and Coach Lefty Grove, who guides the destinies of both Dominions and Canucks, is confident the youngster has the necessary stuff to make good in higher company.

South Siders and Edmonton Athletic Club, who have topped the junior circuit the most of the current season, come to grips again tomorrow in a scheduled tilt. . . . They are a couple of evenly-balanced aggregations and things should be plenty interesting when they step out onto the ice.

FEW players in professional hockey ever possessed the same individual color and downright wit that belonged to Buster Huffman, the little centre who performed with Eskimos for a couple of seasons. . . . Buster, originally out of Calgary, has followed pro hockey and horse-racing back and forth across the continent for quite a number of years, and I've yet to meet a puckster who was his rival in the matter of ready humor. . . . An incident concerning Buster which always draws a laugh from me was recalled yesterday by Doug Hardy, newly-appointed trainer of the Eskimos, who formerly was well-known here in baseball ranks.

One night as the Eskimos were getting ready to dress for a game, Buster bustled in and announced to everyone in general: "I've just had two wires from Lester Patrick of New York Rangers!" . . . One of the club's rookies, figuring that Bus was about to get a job with Rangers and not knowing anything about his jokes, enquired: "What did they say?" . . . "Well," emitted Bus, "one said 'Don't come,' and the second said, 'Be sure you don't'."

NINETEENTH annual bonspiel of the Alberta Curling Association is scheduled to start a week from Monday and, judging from present indications, the event will be one of the biggest and best in the history of local curling. . . . That "bigger and better" slogan is always eyed warily by everyone but this bonspiel actually has prospects of being just that. . . . The executive in charge has spared no effort to give curlers of Alberta a great week of competition and it now appears as if their efforts are going to result in a large list and plenty of fine curling.

Incidentally, the Alberta Curling Association's booklet and prize list is just off the presses and should prove of interest to everyone. . . . There is exceptional interest being shown in the 'spiel in outside points and it is likely that there will be a record number of country rinks competing.

PHARM-DENTS AT HEAD OF LEAGUE

League standings:

	W	L	D	Pts
Pharm Dents	7	1	0	14
Engineers	7	2	0	12
Ag-Com-Arts	3	5	0	6
Meds	3	6	1	5

The Pharm-Dents won both the game and the leadership of the Varsity Interfaculty hockey league from the Engineers when they defeated them 2-1 at the Varsity rink last night. As both these teams have been reinforced by players who were forced out of the Varsity senior team by failing to meet required academic standings in the Christmas exams, the game was a good one.

Lane opened the scoring for the Pharm-Dents when he shot one from outside the blue line which dented the net before Baker in the Engineers' goal knew what was happening. Keith Millar evened things up when he registered for the Engineers two minutes later. Wilf Carrington got the winning goal for the Pharm-Dents in the third period just seven minutes before the end of the game. Lorne Oatway refereed.

BUSH MINES, WELDERS WIN FRIDAY TILTS

Bob Cramer's Burly Band Retake Lead in the Commercial

Bob Cramer's Saskatoon Welders are back at the top of the Commercial hockey league today.

They registered a 4-1 win over Hillas Electric while Bush Mines were taking Civic Youths into camp by a 4-3 margin in the other end of the doubleheader.

Welders took a decisive margin in the play. Two goals were registered by the burly Saskatonnites as John Colville tallied on Jack Colville's pass, while Brown registered a solo for the second Welder marker.

Thompson was given a smart pass by Denny Hague in the second frame as Welders took a 3-0 margin.

GOT LONE TALLY

Norman Stanners gave Hillas their only marker late in the middle session with Bobby Graham getting an assist on the tally.

Brown, from Horne, was the last to register for Welders. Brown belted it home while Horne was in for an assist.

After a four-goal first period Civic Youths and Bush Mines ended that frame deadlocked. They each got a brace with the Youths scoring first on Jones' goal assisted by Gerlitz. Bush Mine came to the front fast. They punched home a brace in quick order as Ferguson got the first and Eddie on Faulkner's assist got the second.

Again the combination of Gerlitz and Jones helped out the Youths. Gerlitz rapped it back of the nets while Jones was there for an assist.

A scoreless second session was enlivened by a three-goal splurge in the third. Jenks, assisted by Smith got the first Bush mine goal, while the Youths came back for one as Love tallied. The Miners took their victory as Faulkner scored on Esdale's pass.

LINEUPS

Civic Youths — Matthews; Cooney, Letain, McGreevey, Cherney, Gerlitz, Jones, Merrylye, Smilnes, Love, Sherman, Sinclair.

Bush Mines—Munro; Geddes, Hanson, Mann, Innes, Campbell, Esdale, Faulkner, Smith, Jenks, Bailey, Ferguson, White.

Hillas Electric—McClintock; Romanin, Hartwing, Langdon, McMillan, Graham, Walker, Hoole, Eldrge, Kitutson, Stanners.

Saskatoon Welders — Cameron; Hague, Gren, Brant, Brown, Caidwell, Horne, Thompson, Colville, Jack Colville.

Referee—Bill Runge.

HI-School -Lights ON SPORT

Garneau Seniors stepped into undisputed leadership of their league on Thursday afternoon. They defeated their nearest rivals

Separate by a 4 to 1 margin. The teams evenly matched, Separate and Garneau without the aid of some of her best men was very fortunate in coming through with a victory. The Separate squad although lighter were superior in team play and many times their combination left them with only the defense to beat. Hourd rapped home three goals before the Tech. defense got in to working order. From there on the battle was an even one with Technical scoring 3 goals to the Redmen's 4. Red Caldwell and Joe LaChance were high scorers for the winners with two goals each to their credit.

Technical bantams reversed the procedure of Thursday night when they romped home with a 7 to 1 win over Victoria on Friday. This was quite an upset to the dope bucket but it was a worse one for Victoria Bantams.

In a meeting at the police station on Thursday evening the mentors of the Interscholastic Boxing and Wrestling tournament put the finishing touches to their plans. The date was changed and definitely set for Wednesday, the fifth of February.

The rumor is a rumor no longer —Louise Lavoie and Earl Buxton will definitely be the head-liners for the tournament. And what a tournament it is going to be. There have been 82 entries to date and 25 matches are already completed. The weights will range from 60 pounds to 180 pounds. The curtain raiser being between two boys of the 60-pound class —their names are Chapman and C. Wills. Mr Kirkwood assures me that these two boys will provide a high spot in the evening's entertainment.

Speedy Canadiens Beat Amerks

Where is that puck Montreal Canadiens and New York Americans gang up in a hunt for the elusive rubber after Goalie Wilf. Cude of the Redskirts steered it past the corner of his cage in repelling an American bid for goals. Aurel Joliat, brilliant little Canuck leftwinger, caged the disc in the only score of the game to put his fast-travelling mates ahead. Amerks came right back and here is the result. Cude is on his knees prying for the puck. Nels Stewart and Art Chapman, Amerks forwards, are facing the camera, while Joliat is seen trying to pull his hockey blueberry out of the pile of players. Out front, big Jean Pusie of Canadiens is steering Lorne Carr off to one side, while Johnny Gagnon, also a Canuck, comes sailing from the left to help look for the puck. The win was Canadiens' third straight.

SOUTH SIDERS OPPOSE E.A.C.'S SUNDAY GAME

South Side Athletics will be playing Edmonton Athletic Club on Sunday, according to a revised schedule released by Director Bill Harris of the Junior Hockey League.

It will be an important game for the Carrigan coached Clubmen. They are now staging a stiff battle with Safeway-Canadians for second place as the schedule nears its end, and incidentally the E. A. C.'s are taking a slight margin in this race. Should they take into camp the tri-colored South Siders, they will practically be assured of a play-off berth, as they, like the Canucks, have only two more games to go in the schedule.

For South Side it's only a breeze into the finals. They are well ahead and should stay right up there. However, it will be a stiff struggle whichever way it goes.

Public School Hockey Is Good At Red Deer

RED DEER, Jan. 25.—Pupils of the Red Deer public school are having a great hockey season with ten teams playing in three leagues. Ralph Brown leads the senior boys' division with four wins and no defeats. R. Sharman is at the top in the junior boys' league with two wins and one loss.

Standings issued this week by Principal J. Welsh are:

SENIOR BOYS

	GP	W	L	Pts
R. Brown	4	4	0	8
G. Dillon	4	2	2	4
J. Kensgreaver	3	1	2	2
C. Brown	3	0	3	0

Bicycle Clubs To Pay Tribute

The bicycle clubs of Edmonton are paying tribute to his late Majesty King George the fifth on Sunday next, January 26. All members are requested to report, at the E.C.C. headquarters not later than 10.30 a.m.

OKLAHOMA WINS

OKLAHOMA, Jan. 25—Oklahoma City Warriors defeated Kansas City Greyhounds 2-1 in an American Association hockey game here last night.

Local Senior Teams Play Southerners on Saturday

Dominions Meet Olds Elks Here; Soops Clash With Bronks

Edmonton's senior hockey clubs will swing into action on Saturday following a week's lay-off, with Dominions hosts to Olds Elks and Superiors playing in the Calgary Arena against the Bronks.

It will be Olds' first appearance on the Edmonton ice, and in view of the fact that they hold a third place tie in the southern schedule, one point behind Bronks in second slot, and is the only team which has held down Drumheller Miners, there should be a good hockey battle.

Jack Ainsworth

Dominions in their season campaign have only dropped one game —that was to Drumheller in the Miners' back-yard by a 1-0 score—and it will be a clean record the locals will be out to maintain Saturday.

One other feature on the Olds team will be Jack Ainsworth, former player with last year's E. A. C. juniors, who will step over the boards for Olds against the locals. Ainsworth has been playing hockey in the Elk uniform.

Olds also has strengthened their team considerably since the date when Dominions whipped them 4-1. Only recently the Elks took the Miners by a 5-4 score on the Drumheller arena. That's quite an accomplishment.

And now for the "Soops". Ira Stuart's men, who have been always right in the scoring, will be fighting hard against their bitter Bronk rivals. They should take a winning margin from the southern club.

Alberta Bonspiel Opens At Local Rinks, Feb. 3

The nineteenth annual bonspiel of the Alberta Curling Association will get under way on February 3 at several local rinks with fine competition and prizes assured.

A fine entry, following the ladies' bonspiel, has been recorded in the men's event, and again the 'spiel should meet with greater success than did the 1935 competitions.

The games will be played at Royal, Edmonton, Granite, Alberta Avenue, Thistle and Strathcona club rinks. A fine competition is again assured for the many curlers who are enthusiastically competing in this event.

Entries for the 'spiel will close at 9.00 p.m. Saturday, February 1st, and all who are desiring an entry are asked to record their applications on or before this date.

A fine draw has been provided for all entered in the 'spiel. For further information address enquiries to Russell Johnson, bonspiel secretary, at 10249 104 street, Edmonton.

WINNIPEGS WIN

WINNIPEG, Jan. 25—Winnipegs leaders of the Manitoba-Thunder Bay senior amateur hockey league, went still further ahead here last night when they buried Port Arthur Indians under a 7-1 score. The win places Pegs four points ahead of Fort William Wanderers.

Eckville Defeats Rimbey Sextet

RIMBEY, Jan. 25.—A number of hockey fans accompanied the Rimbey hockey team to Eckville Monday night and witnessed one of the best games of Little Five League. Eckville won with a score of 3-1. One penalty to each team was handed out by E. Morris, the referee.

LINEUPS

Rimbey — Palfreyman, goal; A. Lewis, C. Eckhart, Bowman, Shaw, Stolee, Thomas, O. Eckhart, Peabody, Hembry.

Eckville—R. Sestrap, goal; W. Armstrong, C. Armstrong, C. Johnson, J. Sestra, T. Farhon, H. Farhon, Iracson, Palmer, B. Morris, R. Morris.

CALGARY WINS BY 6-3 SCORE AGAINST LIONS

CALGARY, Jan. 25. — With their captain, Charlie O'Neill, out of the game with an injured foot, Vancouver Lions proved easy prey for Calgary Tigers in a Northwestern Hockey League match last night, and went back home suffering from their fifth straight defeat, a 6-3 trouncing.

Dutch Gainor led the Calgary attack with three goals in a victory that tightened the league race, sending the last-place Tigers to within four points of the league leaders, Portland Buckaroos and Lions. Chris Sorenson, Tony Savage and Bob Gilmour notched the other Calgary goals.

Sobring two goals and assisting in another, Clint Smith stood out for Lions. Lude Palm slipped Smith passes for two goals in the third. Login Meyer, playing his first game with Vancouver, got the other goal and in his debut after taking a pass from Smith.

ROSS SEEKING $100,000 ROLL

CHICAGO, Jan. 25—Black-eyed Barney Ross, king of the welterweighs, wants to roll up a $100,000 bank roll in 1936 by boxing as often as opponents can be dug up for him.

The Chicagoan earned about $90,000 in 1935 in winning back the 147-pound crown from Jimmy McLarnin, of Vancouver, and also engaging in seven other bouts.

REGINA VICS WIN

REGINA, Jan. 25—Regina Vics eked out a 5-4 overtime victory over the Moose Jaw Millers here last night and as a result went into fourth place in the Southern Saskatchewan amateur hockey league standings.

"Whiskers" Adams Hero of Whirlwind Bout In Final Event—Biggest Crowd Stands Silence to Honor Dead King

By JOFFRE M. DECHENE

The blow of fury . . . the sleep of the unconscious . . . the help of the over zealous . . . fists, cuffs, injured limbs, mutilated orbs and punctured lips . . . and so ended the liveliest wrestling show ever staged here.

The biggest crowd of the season, the best card of the year, enhanced by a brilliant dabb of local color with Pat Meehan's bright performance turned into victory; a thrilling finish with Hugh Adams' whirlwind attack on Rob Roy . . . everything to make it a perfect night.

It was fitting that fans would turn out in great numbers to welcome back in a home performance, the hero of the local law force, and Pat Meehan responded with his all, giving them a scintillating exhibition. He won the bout from the stocky Ray Kotoneau by earning the only fall of their 45-minute shuttle and well deserved victory it was.

SOLDIER BUGLER SOUNDS LAST PONT

But before the gladiators entered the ring for their battles, they entered it with bowed heads, standing at attention and so did all the crowd. Two minutes of profound silence were observed, while the bugle sounded the last post through-out the spacious amphitheatre in respectful memory of our late and beloved Monarch, George the Fifth.

As Pat Meehan stepped in to the ring, salvos of cheers greeted him as throughout the bout. From the start it was evident that the big and handsome Pat was the better of the two men. He enjoyed an advantage in weight, but what Koloneau lacked in best he made up in alertness, especially to crawl under the ropes, and in rough tactics. He stopped at nothing, with rouging and biting, his favorite. But before the first fall, big Pat took all Kotoneau could give, and was still giving it out in his ever clean fashion.

Time and again Kotoneau escaped some well-deserved punishment by seeking the protection of neutral grounds and a few times Meehan reached out and brought him back on the mat by air mail, when he could fight him.

Finally after more than half an hour of grappling, of rolling in and out of arm locks, half-Nelsons and death locks, Pat raised Kotoneau at arms length over his head, gave him the airplane spin, after throwing him on the ropes, and pinned him down for a fall.

The next 15 minutes went without either getting a fall and as Chief Shute gave the signal for the end of the bout, Kotoneau in a fury was out to make pulp out of Meehan with his fists and feet.

FINAL BOUT FAST

Notwithstanding the pleasing display given by the heavyweights in the first main event, that final bout between Hugh "Whiskers" Adams and Rob Roy was hard to match for brilliancy and speed. Not a dull moment, not a lull in the cheers, as these two brilliant grapplers battled through 40 minutes without slowing up their furious pace.

"Whikers" Adams gave ample cause for his widespread popularity by getting the first and last fall to win the bout. Strange as it may seem, Roy was the "bad man" of this bout as he coupled his usual smart wrestling with closed-fist body biting and beard-pulling.

DeBLIEK IS GOOD

Each wrestler had his moments in this bout and each of them in turn was the under man, but to Adams first place honors are due. He got the first fall with a House

ARMY AND NAVY WIN IN HOCKEY

The Army and Navy club trimmed the C.N.R. to the score of 2-1 in the game played last night at the Varsity rink. The Army and Navy boys had the edge of the play all the way and the C.N.R. found it hard to beat the Army defence.

Baxter scored early in the first period putting the Army and Navy one up only to lose the lead when S. Morgan beat W. Amerongen in the Army net. The second canto was scoreless, boah goalies putting up a good show. The last goal was scored by F. Amerongen in the middle of the third period when the C.N.R. net was the centre of a barrage of pucks. The result of the game puts the Army and Navy cubs in the top place in the Big Four league. C.N.R. holds second place, Edmonton Motors and Ogilvies following, holding third and fourth.

The next game will be played next Monday at the Varsity rink when a double header will take place getting under way at 7.30 p.m.

Basketball

The McDougall gymnasium, was the scene of an interesting basketball tournament Tuesday evening with games being played by the three junior teams. Two five-minute periods were played by each team against the other two squads and the verdict went the way of the Cons. The scores after each team had played two periods was as follows: Cons 16, Mers 11 and Mets 7.

Cons: L. Strachan 4, Marten 2, Hussyma 4, Sprackelin 2, reilly, Marks 2. Mers: total, 11.

Mets: McIntyre 4, Suttin 2, D'Arcy 1, Taylor, Melnick, Young, Hepner, Roach; total, 7.

Mers: Hall 4, Frederick 1, Marty, Power 2, Box, Lapp, Ruff; total, 11.

Monday: 7.30 Mers vs. Cons; 8.15 p.m. Mers vs. Comets.

Wednesday: Final game of the juvenicial intermediate playdowns between the Imps and the Comets.

O'David special, and the last with his beard, flying freely and a big fall prize. Roy was awarded his fall with an Indian death lock.

In the preliminary, Jack "Baker" Buzovetsky won over Ed. Roux after an interesting session.

Referee Deblieck handled the bouts efficiently, taking in the bargain some tough kicks from Kotoneau and a blow in the chin from Roy. It's all in the trade Maurice . . .

PEGGY AITKEN REGISTERS UPSET IN BADMINTON

Barbara Mitchell Loses Semi-Final

Miss Cecilia Chisholm and Bessie McAvoy Also Feature Upset

By BILL HOAR

Peggy Aitken furnished one of the upsets in the Edmonton and District badminton tourney when she eliminated Barbara Mitchell, last year's single titlist, in straight sets at the Edmonton Badminton Club, Friday night. Peggy, who of late has not been seen at her best, flashed on her brilliant form of yester years to easily down Barbara 11-2, 11-6. Cecilia Chisholm and Bessie McAvoy supplied the other upset by defeating Mrs. Washburn-Mrs. Brough, doubles champions of 1934 year, in what was probably the longest and most keenly contested match of the evening.

GRAND PERFORMANCE

Ladies' open singles saw the city champion, Barbara Mitchell go down to defeat before the former provincial titlist, Peggy Aitken in straight sets. Peggy, in a sparkling performance, reminiscent of her play two years ago when she annexed the provincial crown, disposed of Barbara in quite a decisive manner, 11-2, 11-6. In the other semi-final, Doreen Clapperton eked out a 12-10, 9-11, 11-6 win over Mrs. Vic Johnson to gain the final berth opposite Peggy Aitken. Both girls were decidedly on, and the spirited rallies and smashing plays brought round after round of applause from the enthusiastic witnesses of the match.

George Roberts and Fraser Mitchell meet again in the finals of the men's singles and for the first time the balance may swing in Roberts' favor when they take the field Saturday afternoon. To date, Roberts has not been able to successfully cope with that difficult singles problem — Mitchell's power plays in reverse, the finals Roberts blasted "Red" Cooper off the courts 15-8, 15-1, while Mitchell downed George Crawford in straight sets 18-14, 15-7 when the wirey Crawford matched him for shot in the first, only to lin rapidly and drop the second and deciding set.

MUCH TOO STRONG

George Roberts - Harry Buker proved to be too strong for the Bob Bradburn-George Crawford team in the men's doubles when they took the first set 15-8 before their opponents knew what was going on, and went on to win the second 18-13 after a stirring ding dong struggle. By virtue of a 15-10, 15-8 win over the Howard Douglas - Munro Cockburn team, Lyle Hoar and Harry Cooper sank into the other final berth. Douglas and Cockburn putting up a game fight but proving no match for the present holders of the doubles cup.

Badminton followers received a surprise when the strong team of Mrs. Brough-Mrs. Washburn, who last year won doubles honors, were eliminated from the doubles by Bessie McAvoy and Miss Chisholm 17-14, 9-15, 17-14 in a battle replete with all the thrills and spills of tournament badminton. Barbara Mitchell-Doreen Clapperton, by cut-lasting Peggy Aitken - Mrs. Johnson in another three-set match 12-15, 17-15, 15-8, now occupy the other final bracket.

Lyle Hoar and Mrs. Johnson clinched a final position at the expense of Fraser and Barbara Mitchell. Hoar and Mrs. Johnson were forced to the limit when they won out after two bitterly contested sets. Harry Cooper and Mrs. Washburn needed three sets to oust George Roberts and Peggy Aitken in another three-set match this evening. The two Edmonton Club mixed teams, Cooper and Mrs. Washburn, throughout most of the match forced the play to emerge into the final bracket 17-14, 9-15, 17-14.

All final matches will be played off Saturday afternoon starting at 2 o'clock and a large number of enthusiastic fans are expected to witness the contests.

L.D.S.—Hardisty-May d Ghiselin-Smith, W.O.: Dick-Martin d Burten-Kruger 15-7, 15-6; Buker-Carmichael d Hardisty-May 15-5, 15-10; Nash-Nash d Dick Martin 15-17, 15-7; Buker-Carmichael d Nash-Nash 15-11, 15-8 (final).

L.M.S.—Betts Dick d Harry Aitken 11-5, 11-2 (final).

M.S.—Aitken d Hardy 15-9, 15-7; Buker d Thompson 15-9, 15-5; Adamson-Fisher d 15-17, 15-10.

M.O.S.—Mitchell d Crawford 15-14, 15-5; Roberts d Cooper 15-8, 15-1.

L.O.S.—Aitken d Mitchell 11-2, 11-6; Clapperton d Johnson 13-10, 5-11, 11-6.

M.O.D.—Cooper-L. Hoar d Cockburn-Douglas 15-10, 15-6; Roberts-Buker d Bradburn-Crawford 18-11, 15-7.

L.O.D.—Chisholm-McAvoy d Washburn-Brough 17-14, 9-15, 17-14; Mitchell-Clapperton d Johnson-Aitken 12-15, 17-15, 15-8.

PUBLIC SCHOOL SPORTS NEWS

BOYS' SECTION

Battling through the first week of the hockey schedule, the public school teams are hitting mid-season form with a vengeance. Several upsets have been reported from various parts of the city where the dopsters have been all wet. Some schools which were expected to go places have been rudely thrust aside as new menaces have been appearing in the league race.

Carrying on with this year's assignment of their traditional sporting rivalry, McCauley and Queen's Avenue went through a fast encounter with the Queen's lads finally nosing out their opponents by a score of 3-1. Gilmour for McCauley was always dangerous while Tailes for Queen's Avenue turned in a brilliant performance. Both goalkeepers were called upon to extend themselves and held the scoring to a minimum.

Alex Taylor Juniors lost to McCauley Juniors by a score of 3-1. The score was 4 all at the end of the second period but McCauley had a little added manpower and succeeded on putting on the pressure to tally four goals while their opponents wilted in the last period.

In the West End section, Calder seniors chalked up a win against their sporting rivals from Westmount by a score of 2-0. Following their lead the Calder Juniors trimmed Jasper Place by a score of 4-0.

Worthy of mention is the sporting activity at Glenora. Being a smaller school the Glenora lads are often outweighed in the junior encounters but are never phased because of that. That's the right spirit, Glenora!

GIRLS' SECTION

Jasper Place school—Four girls bowling teams have been formed. League standings to date: Scorers 189; Winners 216; Arrows 249; Darts 260.

Monday night two friendly basketball games were played between the Normal Practice girls and the Garneau girls.

Judging by results the teams in each case were well matched, the Normal Practice senior team winning with a score of 13 to 12 while the Junior Garneau girls won with a score of 9 to 8.

LONDON BEATS PITTSBURGH, 4-3

LONDON, Jan. 25—London Tecs fought an uphill battle to defeat the Pittsburgh Shamrocks 4-3 in an International Hockey league game played before the season's smallest crowd here last night. The victory gave George Hay's Tecs sole possession of second position in the eastern section.

Beaverlodge Wins Over Hythe Squad

BEAVERLODGE, Jan. 25—After three attempts to break the tie scores between Hythe and Beaverlodge, it was finally broken up Thursday when the Lodge men won over their opponents by a 3-2 score.

LINEUP

Hythe—Webb; Clarke, Cunningham, McEwen, Oakford, McKenzie and Gould.

Beaverlodge—Albright; Nazedkin, C. Hume, Dunn, L. Oszust, A. Oszust, R. Hume. Bill Harcourt and McDonald.

Referee: Dunc Hume of Beaverlodge.

Westmount Ties At Jasper Place

Jasper Place juniors tied Westmount by a 1-1 score in a community league hockey fixture on Thursday.

Both teams played good hockey, and the game on the whole was evenly contested with the teams unable to break the tie score.

LINEUPS

Westmount—Dizon; Grant, Gibbons; Batchelor, Cassuli, Reidford. Luis, Marfold.

Jasper Place—Ball; Brown, Mowbray; Brunkworth, Young, R. Young, Kitzel, McClenghann.

Bennah and Missus

GRAND NIGHT FOR 3 LADY SKIPS IN NORTHERN ALBERTA 'SPIEL

Mrs. Nesbit Wins Hudson's Bay Event; Mrs. Berg Wins Visitors'

It was a grand night for three lady skips and their rinks last night, as they won the finals in three major competitions of the Northern Alberta Ladies' bonspiel.

To Mrs. Husel and her strong quartette from the Royal Club went the honor of winning the Grand Challenge event, as they scored a 10-6 victory over Mrs. John Michaels' brilliant team, also from the Royal. It was a brilliant and satisfying win for Mrs. Husel's rink, but a real hard loss to take for Mrs. John Michaels' foursome. Both rinks had been strong throughout the bonspiel, but it was Mrs. Michaels' rink which had shown more brilliantly in the sliding through the whole 'spiel without a defeat, only to lose out on the last and most important game. Mrs. Husel before qualifying for the finals in the Grand Challenge competition met and defeated Mrs. Conn's rink, who had also registered wins in all other competitions during the bonspiel.

CLOSE CONTESTS

But it was the Hudson's Bay and Visitors' competitions which provided most of the thrills in last night's finals. In the Hudson's Bay finals, Mrs. Nesbit, of the Thistle Club, won over Mrs. Bonneau's rink, of the Royal Club, by a 17-10 victory over Mrs. Oppenhauser's rink, from Stony Plain.

In the Hudson's Bay event it looked as if Mrs. Bonneau's strong aggregation would win as it let 10-12 in the tenth end, but Mrs. Nesbit sent the spectators cheering as she skipped her team brilliantly in the 11th end to score four points and tie the score. The Nesbit quartet won out on the home end by scoring the only point to win the trophy.

A similar situation arose in the Visitors' event when Mrs. Berg's rink cinched the game by scoring an unusual five points in the 11th end. Until then play had been very close and this brilliant score enthused spectators no end. Second prize in the Visitors' competition was awarded to Mrs. Oppenhauser, from Drumheller, while Mrs. Graham of Jasper won third prize, and Mrs. Hammond of Tofield won fourth award.

Other draws for Friday afternoon at the Edmonton and Royal Clubs featured semi-finals in the Jackson cup and Sheppard cup competitions and in the Consolation events.

Complete results for Friday afternoon follow:

ROYAL CLUB

Quesnel 12, Mercer 6, qualifying into 4's of Jackson cup. Elliot 8, Kent 7, Shafer 9, Quesnel 6, semi-finals for Jackson cup. Mercer 8, Taylor (Thistle) 10, semi-finals for Sheppard cup. Conn 6, Husel 8, Michaels 9, J. Young 7, Nesbitt 8, Taylor (Scona) 7, Bonneau 14, Muir (Royal) 9, semi-finals in Grand Challenge Edmonton Club.

EDMONTON CLUB

Consolation event: Semi-finals, C. Young 8, Leggo 6, Leggo 10, Cooper 5, Visitors' competition, semi finals. Morrison 9, Berg 10, Berg 9, Graham 6.

Finals in the Jackson and Sheppard cup competitions and in the Consolation event will be played Saturday night at the Royal Club.

Umpires for these finals are Mr. Bard from the Granite rink, Mr. Percy Page from the Royal, and Mr. Atwood from the Edmonton.

BEAVERLODGE, Jan. 25—The annual curling bonspiel set for Monday has been postponed until Wednesday in observance of the King's funeral.

There have been 22 entries and an interesting session is assured with good prizes on list for winners in various events.

R. C. MARSHALL ELECTED HEAD MINING GROUP

Leonard Drummond is Selected for Post of Secretary-Manager

Edmonton's business leaders, having pledged more than $4,000 to it and with eastern mining executives operating properties in the north taking avid interest in it, the Edmonton Chamber of Mines held its first annual meeting in the Jasper room of the Macdonald hotel Friday night, elected a slate of officers and appointed a secretary-manager at a salary of $300 per month.

NEARLY 50 ATTEND

Close to 50 businessmen were present and with Charlie Garnett in the chair, the meeting got down to business in a hurry, taking less than 20 minutes to name its executive.

R. C. Marshall was made President, John Michaels became firs' vice president; F. T. Norris, second vice president; C. G. O'Connor solicitor; H. O. Fatriquin, auditor, and R. R. Brough, treasurer.

Executive and directors of the chamber met following the general caucus and from nearly 60 applications for the post of secretary-manager chose Leonard Drummond, registered mining engineer with papers for Alberta, the Territories, B. C., and Saskatchewan.

VERSED IN MINING

Former general manager of Mountain Park and Luscar Collieries, the new Mines Chamber manager has been north into the new mining fields, has prospected in the Nahanni country and northern B.C. is thoroughly versed in the mining game and met all requirements for the post to the complete satisfaction of the chamber.

Old Homes Made Young

Here are some of the things that make an old house young:

New floors, built-in cabinets for the kitchen, bookcases for the living room, or a new room in the attic or basement.

EAST SLASHED BY KNIFE-LIKE STORM FRIDAY

Worst Storm of Winter Beats Easterly Course To Atlantic

By the Canadian Press

Eastern Canada was slashed by a knife-like gale early Friday as one of the worst storms of the winter beat an easterly course to vent its fury on the Atlantic seaboard.

Giant snowdrifts blocked Quebec highways and paralyzed rail traffic on the Canadian National line between Quebec and the Maritime provinces. Both the eastbound Maritime Express and the Ocean Limited, in two sections, were snowed-in on the south shore of the St. Lawrence river where a broken plough-train had halted traffic.

SNOWPLOWS USELESS

Workmen and snowplows struggled in sub-zero temperatures to push through the great drifts but the lashing wind refilled the passages almost as rapidly as they could be cleared.

At least four deaths were blamed on the storm which roared out of western Canada early in the week and raked the eastern provinces for the last three days.

Across the prairies relief from the bitter cold was promised by the report of a "warm wave" drifting down the Mackenzie river valley.

TEMPERATURES SLUMP

Temperatures, meanwhile, slumped all the way from 12 below at Prince Albert, Sask., to 44 below at Hawk Junction in northern Ontario. White River, once recognized as one of Canada's coldest spots recorded a comparatively warm 20 degrees below.

Ship's Crew Rescued From Sea On Friday

TOKYO, Jan. 24.—All 32 officers and men from the British freighter Perthbridge were rescued at sea today after abandoning the ship which was destroyed by fire in the Sea of Japan.

The crew, drifting in lifeboats off Oki Island, were picked up by the freighter Kahoku Maru and three motorboats from Caigo, on the island, to which they were taken.

A Domei (Japanese) news agency dispatch said the Perthbridge burned to the water's edge before dawn.

Named To Barony

LONDON, Jan 25.—A boy eight years old, Hon. Francis Arthur John French, has become a baron through the death of his father, Lord de Freyne, sixth Baron de Freyne.

YUGOSLAVIAN SETS HUNGER STRIKE MARK

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Jan. 25.—Officials of the jail at Pozarevatz claimed Friday that prisoner Svetozar Lukich set a hunger strike record by refusing food for 62 days. He drinks water, but Dr. Dragutin Yankovich, the prison physician, insisted the prisoner hasn't eaten since Nov. 23. He was reported near death last night. Lukich is protesting a life term imposed for murder.

ASSESSMENTS CONFIRMED ON H. B. PROPERTY

Land and building assessments of $750,000 fixed by the city on downtown retail property owned by the Hudson's Bay Co. were confirmed Friday night by city council sitting as a court of appeal. The company protested the assessments, claiming that valuations determined by the city were not in line with assessments placed on other business properties.

In confirming the H.B.C. assessments council agreed with commissioners, who, sitting as a court of revision last month refused to lower the valuations. The next court of appeal is the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners.

The company appealed on 14 properties, largest of which is the store building on Jasper avenue.

Council granted C. M. Kelly a reduction from $225 to $200 on each of two residential lots.

May Demand Probe Co-Operative Oil Distributing Firm

Investigation by the provincial government into activities of the Co-operative Oil Distributing Company, which, after being started by a U. F. A. committee, sold out to a private concern, may be demanded by the Central U. F. A. organization.

At their annual convention here on Friday, the delegates adopted a motion demanding that a full report on the transfer of the company holdings and its financial statement be furnished the shareholders.

The resolution urged that "such a statement be insisted on, even to the extent, if necessary, of asking our provincial government to hold a full inquiry into the transactions."

Many U. F. A. members, it was declared, had invested in shares of the company.

Flavored Milk

LONDON, Jan. 25—Chocolate and fruit-flavored milk may be used to whet the appetites of British school children, if ideas advanced at the Winter School for Health Visitors and Nurses are adopted.

MAJOR AND MINOR NOTES

This city was pleased to entertain this week, Miss Winnifred Elliston of Calgary, who on the first Saturday of this month appeared on the guest program of the Women's Musical Club, and who at the last Musical Festival, won the Stutchbury Cup.

Miss Elliston was here attending the annual U.F.A. convention. In the course of the week she sang several times, to the obvious delight of all. The more one hears her singing the better one likes it.

January meeting of the Harpsichord Club was held at the home of Miss Margaret Allan, 9832 89 avenue, where she and Miss Winnifred Audley were hostesses. The club members were pleased to receive a new member in the person of Miss Nora Legait. Arrangements were made for the February meeting to be held at the home of Miss Kathleen Prauss.

The program which followed included works from the pens of living composers and was illustrated by a very fine paper given by Miss Bessie Vickers her subject being "Modern Trend In Music."

Can You Make 100 per cent On this Examination?

FREQUENT and regular checking of lighting and light sources is necessary in order to determine if you are securing the full value of illumination for the current consumed. Consideration of the following questions, together with the necessary action will lead to material improvement in the pleasantness of your home.

1. Have you any bare lamps?
2. Have you scattered bright lights?
3. Are you using modern lamps in obsolete equipment?
4. Do you have spotty illumination from too few outlets?
5. Are there black, sharp shadows as you hold your hand above desk, table or book?
6. Is your home gloomy and cheerless? Or is it a pleasant place for your family or your guests?
7. Are all lighting units clean and in good order?
8. Have you gaps in your lighting from burned-out lamps or empty sockets?
9. Do your lamps burn with a yellow lifeless glow caused by inadequate wiring?
10. Are the ceiling and walls finished in light colors to help your lighting system?

The ENGLISH SPARROW

MADE ITS APPEARANCE IN AMERICA IN 1851, WHEN EIGHT PAIRS WERE BROUGHT IN BY THE BROOKLYN INSTITUTE, TO HELP IN THE FIGHT AGAINST MEASURING WORMS, WHICH WERE DESTROYING THE TREES.

MORE SPARROWS WERE IMPORTED FROM TIME TO TIME, AND THEY SOON SPREAD OVER THE ENTIRE UNITED STATES, WHERE THEY HAVE DONE MORE HARM THAN GOOD.

IT IS ESTIMATED THAT ONE PAIR OF THESE BIRDS COULD HAVE A TOTAL OF 275, 716, 983, 698 DESCENDANTS IN A PERIOD OF TEN YEARS.

HOUSES BUILT FOR MARTINS AND BLUE BIRDS ARE TAKEN BY SPARROWS, AND THE RIGHTFUL OWNERS ARE UNABLE TO OUST THEM.

MANY FIRES ARE CAUSED EVERY YEAR BY LIGHTED CIGARETS, CARRIED INTO BUILDINGS BY SPARROWS.

THE SPARROW IS CUNNING AND AGGRESSIVE/ HE HAS LEARNED TO MAKE USE OF MAN'S INVENTIONS/ IN SEVERE WEATHER, HE WARMS HIMSELF BY THE RADIATORS OF AUTOMOBILES, OR BY THE HEAT OF ELECTRIC SIGNS.
